RESOLUTION URGING OBSERVANCE OF MAY 22, 1937 AS NATIONAL MARITIME DAY.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives May 17, 1937.

Whereas, The President of the United States has by proclamation designated May 22, 1937, the 128th anniversary of the sailing of the S. S. "Savannah" across the Atlantic Ocean, as National Maritime Day; and

Whereas, This day will be celebrated in the various ports and cities throughout the United States with representatives of local, state and federal governments participating, as well as the representatives of private industry, shipping, transportation and maritime enterprise; and

Whereas, The 150th Anniversary of the United States Constitutional Convention in the City of Philadelphia is being celebrated throughout the nation, and particulary in the City of Philadelphia; and

Whereas, The City of Philadelphia, the only ocean port of this Commonwealth, has always been associated with the maritime development and history of the United States from the earliest Colonial times; and

Whereas, The Delaware River, on which the first steamboat was built, has always been an important commercial artery of the United States, supporting important and diversified industries; and

Whereas, The Port of Philadelphia is an important naval base and shipbuilding center; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, take cognizance of the fact that the President of the United States has by proclamation designated May 22, 1937 as National Maritime Day; heartily endorse and encourage the purpose and observance of the day, in the various ports and cities of the nation and particularly in Philadelphia and throughout the Commonwealth; note the importance of its great port, Philadelphia, internationally known by reason of its colorful history and its splendid modern harbor and transportation facilities, in the economic life of the nation and the welfare and prosperity of this Commonwealth; and declare its interest in an improved and adequate American Merchant Marine and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent forthwith to the Governor of the Commonwealth with the request that he issue a proclamation calling for the proper observance of National Maritime Day.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any obpection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. HOWELL. Mr. President, I call up at this time Senate Bill No. 1069, on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1069, as follows:

Section 708 A station or stations shall be established at the entrance of each mine or different parts of each mine as the case may require and a workman shall not pass beyond any such station until the mine or parts of the mine beyond the same have been inspected and reported to be safe It shall be the duty of the mine foreman to designate some competent person or persons to stand guard at the station from the time that persons begin to enter the mine until the mine or part of the mine shall have been examined and reported to be safe and the said guard shall not allow any person to pass such station without permission from the mine foreman or the assistant foreman

Section 709 If at any time it is found by the person for the time being in charge of the mine or any part thereof that by reason of noxious gases prevailing in such mine or any part thereof or of any cause whatever the mine or the said part is dangerous every precaution shall b used to ensure the safety of the workmen and every workman except such persons as may be required to remove the danger shall be withdrawn from the mine or such part thereof as is so found dangerous until the said mine or said part thereof is examined by a competent person and reported by him to be safe

Section 710 The Mine Foreman or his assistant shall visit and examine every working place in the mine every working day while the men of such place are or should be at work and shall direct that each and every working place is properly secured by props or timber and that safety in all respects is assured by directing that all loose coal or rock shall be pulled down or secured and that no persons shall be permitted to work in an unsafe place unless it be for the purpose of making it secure Provided however That if the mine is idle forty-eight (48) hours or more the mine foreman or his assistant shall examine every working place the day before operations are resumed

Section 711 The mine foreman or some other competent person or persons to be designated by him shall examine at least once every day all slopes shafts main roads traveling ways signal apparatus pulleys and timbering to see that they are in safe and efficient working condition

Section 712 In every shaft or slope in which provision is made in this act for lowering and hoisting persons a headman and footman shall be designated by the superintendent or foreman to be at their proper places at all times while men are underground Such headman and footman shall personally attend to the signals and see that the provisions of this act in respect to lowering and hoisting persons in shafts and slopes shall be complied with

Section 713 Whenever loss of life to a miner or other employe occurs in or about a colliery notice thereof shall be given promptly to the inspector of mines for the district in which the accident occurred by the mine foreman or outside foreman or other person having immediate charge of the work at the time of the accident and when death results from personal injury such notice shall be given promptly after the knowledge of the death comes to the said foreman or person in charge

Section 714 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman or his assistants in case of injury to any employe by explosion of gas or powder or by any cause while said miners are at work in said mines to at once visit the scene of accident see that the injured is carefully wrapped in woolen blankets and removed to the "medical room" and so treated with oils or other remedies as will add to the comfort and care of the patient After being treated with all the skill known to the foreman or his assistants the injured person shall be carefully wrapped up and sent to the surface to be taken in an ambulance or to the mining hospital as may be desired without expense to the injured person

Section 715 Where an accident to any employe involves injury to limbs or causes loss of blood the foreman or his assistants shall see that the bandages splints and linen shall be applied where necessary to prevent loss of blood and relieve pain The foreman shall in all cases see that the injured person is sent to the surface without delay He shall also keep a record showing the name of the person injured the nature of the injury the treatment and by whom treated at the time of the accident

Section 716 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman or his assistant to test by means of a flame safety lamp or with some other approved device the condition of the atmosphere in each section of his mine each day while the men are at work A report of such examination shall be recorded in a book kept at the colliery for that purpose The test shall show the extent to which gas was detected whether cap or an explosive mixture

ARTICLE VIII

EXAMINATION AND QUALIFICATION OF MINERS

Section 801 Hereafter no person whosoever shall be employed or engaged in the anthracite coal regions of this Commonwealth as a miner in any anthracite coal mine without having obtained a certificate of competency and qualification so to do from the Miners' Examining Board of the proper district and having been duly registered as provided by existing law

ARTICLE IX

DUTIES OF MINERS AND OTHER WORKMEN

Section 901 Before commencing work and also after the firing of every blast the miner working a breast or any other place in a mine shall enter such breast or place to examine and ascertain its condition and his laborer or assistant must not go to the face of such breast or place until the miner has examined the same and found it to be safe

Section 902 A miner or other person who is about to explode a blast by the use of patent or other squibs or matches shall not shorten the match nor saturate it with mineral oil nor turn it down when placed in the hole nor ignite it except at its extreme end nor do anything to shorten the time the match will burn

If a miner or other person uses a fuse to explode a blast such fuse shall be of sufficient length to protrude at least six (6) inches from the mouth of the hole and in no case shall the total length of the fuse be less than eighteen (18) inches

A place shall be stopped for at least thirty (30) minutes after a squib misses fire Where fuses (straight and time fuses) are used and a missed shot occurs the working place shall be stopped for at least twelve (12) hours If a misfire occurs where electric blasting caps are used an interval of at least thirty (30) minutes must elapse before workmen shall return to such working face

Section 903 A miner or other workman shall not withdraw a charge of powder or other explosive in coal slate or rock which has missed fire nor shall the hole be reopened

Section 904 When a miner or other workman is about to fire a blast he shall be careful to notify all persons who may be in danger therefrom and shall give sufficient alarm before firing the blast and after igniting the match so that any person or persons who may be approaching shall be warned of the danger

Section 905 Any miner or other person having charge of a working place in any mine shall keep the roof and sides thereof properly secured by timber or otherwise so as to prevent such roof and sides from falling and he shall not do any work or permit any work to be done under loose or dangerous material except for the purpose of securing the same

Section 906 Any miner or other workman who shall discover anything wrong with the ventilating current or with the condition of the roof side timber or roadway or with any other part of the mine in general such as would lead him to suspect danger to himself or his fellow workmen or to the property of his employer shall immediately report the same to the mine foreman or other person for the time being in charge of that portion of the mine

Section 907 Any miner or other workman shall not be allowed to store gunpowder or any other explosive in a mine He shall not have at any one time in any one place more than one keg or box containing twenty-five (25) pounds unless more is necessary for a person to accomplish one day's work

Section 908 Any miner or other workman who has gunpowder or other explosive in a mine shall keep it in a wooden box securely locked and such box shall be kept at least ten (10) feet from the tracks in all cases

Section 909 Whenever a miner or other workman shall open a box containing explosives or while in any manner handling the same he shall first place his open lamp not less than five (5) feet from such explosives and in such position that the air current cannot convey sparks to it and a workman shall not approach nearer than five (5) feet to an open box containing powder with a lamp lighted pipe or anything containing fire

Section 910 In charging holes for blasting in coal slate or rock no miner or other workman in any mine shall use an iron or steel pointed needle The end of the tamping bar must be tipped with at least six (6) inches of copper or other soft metal The hole must be large enough to admit freely the cartridge containing the explosive and in no case shall a tight cartridge be rammed into a hole

Section 911 When gas is ignited by blast or otherwise the miner or other person igniting the same shall immediately extinguish it if possible and notify the mine foreman or his assistant of the fact and workmen must see that no gas blowers are left burning upon leaving their working places

Section 912 Not more than five blasts shall be fired at the working face of a low coal seam within a period of one hour except by permission from the mine foreman or his assistant and each hole when charged and fired shall constitute a blast This section shall not pertain to cracked gangways

Section 913 No miner or laborer shall run cars out of any breast or chamber or on any gravity road unless he is a suitable person designated by the mine foreman for that particular work and no person under the age of eighteen (18) years shall be designated by any mine foreman to perform such work

Section 914 No workman or other person shall ride upon or against any loaded car cage or gun-boat in any shaft slope or plane in or about a mine or colliery

Section 915 When any person is about to descend or ascend a shaft or slope the headman or footman as the case may be shall inform the engineer by signal or otherwise of the fact and the engineer shall return a signal before moving or starting the engine In the absence of a headman or footman the person about to descend or ascend shall give and receive signals in the same manner

Section 916 No person shall couple or uncouple loaded or empty cars while the same are in motion Provided however That this shall not apply to the top or bottom men of slopes planes or shafts

Section 917 No person except the man giving the signal shall jump on a car cage or gun-boat after the signal has been given and if any person shall enter a car cage or gun-boat in excess of the lawful number the headman or footman shall notify him of the fact and request him to get off which request must be immediately complied with Any violation of this rule must be promptly reported to the mine foreman

ARTICLE X

MAPS AND PLANS

Section 1001 The owner operator or superintendent of every coal mine or colliery shall make or cause to be made an accurate map or plan of the working or excavations of such coal mine or colliery on a scale of one hundred feet to the inch which map or plan shall exhibit the working or excavations in each and every seam of coal and the tunnels and passages connected with such workings or excavations It shall state in degrees the general inclination of the strata with any material deflection therein in said workings or excavations and shall also state the tidal elevations of the bottom of each and every shaft slope tunnel and gangway and any other point in the mine or on the surface where such elevation shall be deemed necessary by the inspector

The map or plan shall show the number of the last survey station and date of each survey on the gangways or the most advanced workings

It shall also accurately show the boundary lines of the lands of the said coal mine or colliery and the proximity of the workings thereto and in case any mine contains any water dammed up in any part thereof it shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent to cause the true location of the said dam to be accurately marked on said map or plan together with the tidal elevation inclination of strata and area of said workings containing water and whenever any workings or excavations are approaching the workings where such dam or water is contained or situated the owner operator or superintendent shall notify the inspector of the same without delay

Whenever a mine fire is sealed an outline of the sealed area must be plainly shown on the mine map together with such data as the mine inspector may request pertaining to the same

Upon request of the mine inspector the location of all bore holes must be placed on the mine inspector's map and the operator or superintendent of the mine shall furnish the inspector with any additional information regarding bore holes upon his request

The said owner operator or superintendent shall deposit a true copy of such map or plan with the inspector of mines for the district in which the said coal mine or colliery is situated showing the workings of each seam if so desired by the inspector on a separate sheet of tracing muslin One copy of said map or plan shall be kept at the colliery

Section 1002 The said owner operator or superintendent shall as often as once in every six months place or cause to be placed on the said inspector's map or plan of said coal mine or colliery the plan of the extensions made in such coal mine or colliery during the preceding six months The said extensions shall be placed on the inspector's map and the map returned to the inspector within two months from the date of the last survey

Section 1003 When any coal mine or colliery is worked out preparatory to being abandoned or when any lift thereof is about to be abandoned the owner operator or superintendent of such coal mine or colliery shall have the maps or plans thereof extended to include all excavations as far as practicable and such portions thereof as have been worked to the boundary lines of adjoining properties Any part or parts of the workings which are intended to be allowed to fill with water must be surveyed in duplicate and such surveys must practically agree They shall be certified to by the owner operator or superintendent and shall be filed with the inspector of the district in which the mines are situated

Section 1004 Whenever the owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine or colliery shall neglect or refuse or from any cause not satisfactory to the inspector shall fail for a period of three months to furnish to the inspector the map or plan of said colliery or of the extensions thereto as provided for in this Article the inspector is hereby authorized to cause an accurate map or plan of such coal mine or colliery to be made at the expense of the owner thereof which cost shall be recoverable from said owner as other debts are by law recoverable

Section 1005 If the inspector finds or has reason to believe that any map or plan of any coal mine or colliery furnished under the provisions of this article is materially inaccurate it shall be his duty to make application to the Court of Common Pleas of the county in which such colliery is situated for an order to have an accurate map or plan of said colliery prepared and if such survey shall prove that the map furnished was materially inaccurate or imperfect such owner operator or superintendent shall be liable for the expense incurred in making the same

Section 1006 If it shall be found that the map or plan furnished by the owner operator or superintendent was not materially inaccurate or imperfect the Commonwealth shall be held liable for the expense incurred in making said test survey

Section 1007 If it shall be shown that the said owner operator or superintendent has knowingly or designedly caused or allowed such map or plan when finished to be incorrect or false such owner operator or superintendent thus offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment not exceeding three (3) months at the discretion of the court

Section 1008 The maps or plans of the several coal mines or collieries in each district and which are placed in the custody of the inspector shall be the property of the Commonwealth and shall remain in the care of inspector of the district in which the said collieries are situated to be transferred by him to his successor in office and in no case shall a copy of the same be made without the consent of the owner operator or superintendent

Section 1009 The inspector's map or plan of any particular colliery shall be open for inspection in the presence of the inspector to any miner or miners of that colliery whenever said miner or miners shall have cause to fear that his or their working place or places are becoming dangerous by reason of their proximity to other workings which may be supposed to contain water or dangerous gases Said map shall also be open to the inspection and examination of any citizen interested during business hours

Section 1010 It shall be obligatory on the owners of adjoining coal properties to leave or cause to be left a pillar of coal in each seam or vein of coal worked by them along the line of adjoining property of such width that taken in connection with the pillar to be left by the adjoining property owner will be a sufficient barrier for the safety of the employes of either mine in case the other should be abandoned and allowed to fill with water such width of pillar to be determined by the engineers of the adjoining property owners together with the inspector of the district in which the mine is situated Such width of pillar as shall have been agreed upon by the adjoining property owners and the mine inspector of the district shall be placed on the inspector's map without delay

The surveys of the fact of the workings along such pillar shall be made in duplicate and must practically agree A copy of such duplicate surveys certified to must be filed with the owners of the adjoining properties and with the inspector of the district in which the mine or property is situated

Section 1011 At the request of the mine inspector the owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine shall furnish him with a geological cross section of such coal seams in such mnie as he may require

ARTICLE XI

SHAFTS SLOPES OPENINGS AND OUTLETS

Section 1101 It shall not be lawful for the owner operator or superintendent of any mine to employ any person or persons in such mine or permit any person or persons to be in such mine for the purpose of working therein unless there are in connection with every seam of coal and from every lift thereof worked in such mine not less than two openings or outlets separated by a stratum of not less than sixty (60) feet in breadth underground and one hundred and fifty (150) feet in breadth at the surface at which openings or outlets safe and distinct means of ingress or egress are at all times available for the person or persons employed in said mine This section shall not apply to opening a new mine or to opening any new lift of a mine while being worked for the purpose of making a connection between said two outlets so long as not more than twenty (20) persons are employed at one time in such mine or new lift of a mine At least half of this number must be employed at making the second outlet Neither shall this section apply to any mine or part of a mine in which the second outlet has been rendered unavailable by reason of the final robbing of pillars previous to abandonment so long as not more than twenty (20) persons are employed therein at any one time The cage or cages and other means of egress shall at all times be available for the persons employed where there is no second outlet.

Section 1102 The owner operator or superintendent of any mine to which there is only one shaft slope or outlet may petition the Court of Common Pleas in and for the county in which said mine is situated which said court is hereby empowered to act in the premises settting forth that in consequence of intervening lands between the working of his mine and the only practicable point at which to make or bring to the surface from the working of his mine he is unable to make an additional shaft slope or outlet in accordance with the requirements of this act whereupon the court may make an order of reference and appoint three disinterested persons residents of a county viewers one or more of whom shall be a practical mining engineer all of whom after being sworn to a faithful discharge of their duties shall view and examine the premises and determine as to whether the owner should have the privilege of making an additional outlet through or upon any intervening lands as the case may require and report in writing to the court which report shall be entered and filed of record.

Section 1103 If the finding of the viewers or any two of them is in favor of the owner of such coal mine or colliery he may make an additional shaft slope or outlet under through or upon intervening lands as may be determined upon and provided for by the award If the finding of the viewers is against the owner or if no award be made by reason of any default or neglect on the part of the owner he shall be bound to comply with the provisions of this act in the same manner as if this section had not been enacted In cast the said owner operator or superintendent desires to and claims that he ought to make an additional opening under through or upon any adjoining or intervening lands to meet the requirements of this act for the ingress and egress of the men employed in his or their mine he or they shall make a statement of the facts in the petition with a survey setting forth the point of commencement and the point of termination of the proposed outlet which he or they their engineers agents or employes may enter upon said intervening lands and survey and mark as he or they shall find it proper to adopt for such additional outlet doing as little damage as possible to the property explored and the viewers shall state in their report what damage will be sustained by the owner or owners of the intervening lands by the opening construction and use of the outlet and if the report is not appealed from it shall be confirmed or rejected by said court as to right and justice shall appertain and any further and all proceedings in relation thereto shall be in conformity with like proceedings as in the case of a lateral railroad across or under intervening lands under the act in relation to lateral railroads approved the fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred thirty-two (Pamphlet Laws five hundred one) and the supplements thereto so far as the provisions of the same are applicable hereto and the notices to the owner of intervening lands of the intention to apply for the privilege of making an outlet and meeting of the viewers shall be given and the costs of the case shall be paid as provided in the said act of May fifth Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred thirty-two (Pamphlet Laws five hundred one) and the supplements thereto.

Section 1104 The main escapement shafts or slopes shall be fitted with safe and available appliances by which persons employed in the mine may readily escape in case an accident occurs deranging the hoisting machinery at the main outlets.

Section 1105 In all slopes where the angle of inclination is fifteen (15) degrees or less there must be provided a separate traveling way which shall be maintained in a safe condition for travel and kept free from steam and dangerous gases.

Section 1106 The top of each slope if dangerous or any intermediate lift thereof shall be securely fenced off by railing or by verticle or flat gates.

Section 1107 Every abandoned slope shaft airhole and drift shall be properly fenced around or across its entrance.

Section 1108 All underground entrances to any places not in actual course of working or extension shall be properly fenced across the whole width of such entrances so as to prevent persons from inadvertently entering the same.

Section 1109 The owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine or colliery which is worked by shaft or slope shall provide and maintain a telephone or suitable appliance by or through which conversation can be held by and between persons at the bottom and at the top of the shaft or slope and also an efficient means of signaling from the bottom of such shaft or slope to the engineer in charge of the hoisting engines The owner operator or superintendent of every coal mine or colliery shall provide and maintain a telephone by or through which conversations can be had between persons on the outside of the mines and the principal centers of operations in the mines.

Section 1110 The owner operator or superintendent of all mines shall see that the surface landing and all other landings of shafts are provided with gates so hung and adjusted that they will close automatically It shall be unlawful for any man employed as a footman at a shaft in which coal or other material is hoisted to work at this occupation unless he has provided himself with a safety headgear or helmet of a design approved by the Department of Mines which headgear or helmet must be worn by him at all times while on duty.

Section 1111 Every cage or gun-boat used for lowering or hoisting persons in any shaft or slope shall be provided with handrails safety catches and a proper protector so constructed that persons while on such cage or gun-boat shall not be struck by anything which may fall or roll down said shaft or slope

Section 1112 Over all shafts which are being sunk or shall hereafter be sunk a safe and substantial structure shall be erected to sustain the sheaves or pulleys at a height of not less than twenty (20) feet above the tipping place and the top of such shaft shall be arranged in such manner that no material can fall into the shaft while the bucket is being emptied

Section 1113 The said structure shall be erected as soon as a substantial foundation is obtained and in no case shall a shaft be sunk to a depth of more than fifty (50) feet without such structure

Section 1114 If provision is made to land the bucket upon a truck the said truck shall be constructed in such manner that the material cannot fall into the shaft All rock and coal from shafts as they are being sunk shall not be raised except in a bucket or on a cage and such bucket or cage must be connected to the rope or chain by a safety hook or clevis or other safe attachment

Section 1115 Such shafts shall be provided with such guides and guide attachments applied in such manner as to prevent the bucket from swinging while descending or ascending therein and such guides and guide attachments shall be maintained at a distance of not more than seventy-five (75) feet from the bottom of such shaft until its sinking shall have been completed but this section shall not apply to shafts one hundred (100) feet or less in depth.

Section 1116. Where the strata are not safe every shaft shall be securely cased lined or otherwise made secure

Section 1117 The following rules shall be observed as far as practicable in every shaft to which this act applies

First After each and every blast the chargeman must see that all loose material is swept down from the timbers before the workmen descend to their work.

Second After a suspension of work and also after firing a blast in a shaft where explosive gases are evolved the person in charge must have the said shaft examined and tested with a safety lamp before the workmen are allowed to descend.

Third Not more than four persons shall be lowered or hoisted in any shaft on a bucket at the same time and no person shall ride on a loaded bucket

Fourth Whenever persons are employed on platforms in shafts the person in charge must see that the said platforms are properly and safely constructed.

Fifth While shafts are being sunk all blasts therein must be exploded by an electric battery.

VENTILATION

Section 1201 The owner operator or superintendent of every mine shall provide and maintain a constant and adequate supply of pure air for the same as hereinafter provided.

Section 1202 It shall not be lawful to use a furnace for the purpose of ventilating any mine wherein explosive gases are generated.

Section 1203 The quantities of air in circulation shall be ascertained with an anemonmeter or other efficient instrument Such measurements shall be made by the inside foreman or his assistant once every week at the inlet and outlet airways also at or near the face of each gangway and at the nearest cross-heading to the face of the inside and outside chamber or breast where men are employed Such air measurements shall be entered in the colliery report book Cross-headings between chambers or breasts shall not be driven more than sixty (60) feet from the face of each chamber or breast A report of these air measurements shall be sent to the inspector before the twenfth day of each month for the preceding month together with a statement of the number of persons employed in each district.

Section 1204 The minimum quantity of air produced shall not be less than two hundred (200) cubic feet per minute for each and every person employed in any mine and as much more as the circumstances may require.

Section 1205 The ventilating currents shall be conducted and circulated to and along the face of each and every working place throughout the entire mine in sufficient quantities to dilute render harmless and sweep away smoke and noxious or dangerous gases to such an extent that all working places and traveling roads shall be in a safe and fit state to work and travel therein.

Section 1206 All worked-out or abandoned parts of a mine in operation so far as practicable shall be kept free of dangerous bodies of gases or water and if found impracticable to keep the entire mine free from an accumulation of gases or water the mine inspector must be immediately notified.

All accessible parts of an abandoned portion of a mine in which explosive gases have been found shall be carefully examined by the mine foreman or his assistants at least once a week and any dangerous condition found existing therein shall be immediately removed A report of said examination shall be recorded in a book kept at the colliery for that purpose and signed by the person making the same

Section 1207 Every mine employing more than seventy-five (75) persons must be divided into two or more districts Each district shall be provided with a separate split of pure air and the ventilation shall be so arranged that not more than seventy-five (75) persons shall be employed at the same time in any one current or split of air

The inlet and return air passages for any particular district must be separated by a pillar of coal or stone if the thickness and dip of the vein will permit except where it is necessary to cut through said dividing pillar for the purpose of ventilation traffic or drainage.

Section 1208 All air passages shall be of sufficient area to allow the free passage of not less than two hundred (200) cubic feet of air per minute for every person workingthe rein and in no cast in mines generating explosive gases shall the velocity exceed four hundred and fifty (450) lineal feet per minute in any opening through which the air currents pass if gauze safety lamps are used except in the main inlet or outlet airways.

Section 1209 All cross-cuts connecting the main inlet and outlet air passages of every district when it becomes neccssary to close them permanently shall be substantially closed with brick or other suitable building material laid in mortar or cement whenever practicable.

Section 1210 All doors used in assisting or in any way affecting the ventilation shall be so hung and adjusted that they will close automatically

Section 1211 All main doors shall have an attendant whose constant duty it shall be to open them for transportation and travel and prevent them from standing open longer than is necessary for persons or cars to pass through unless a self-acting door is used which is approved by the inspector of the district.

Section 1212 All main doors shall be so placed that when one door is open another which has the same effect upon the same current shall be and remain closed and thus prevent any temporary stoppage of the air current

Section 1213 An extra main door shall be so placed and kept standing open as to be out of reach of accident and so fixed that is can be at once closed in the event of an accident to the doors in use.

Section 1214 The frame work of such main doors shall be substantially secured in stone or brick laid in mortar or cement unless otherwise permitted in writing by the inspector.

Section 1215 All permanent air bridges shall be substantially built of fireproof material and of such strength as the circumstances may require Temporary air bridges or overcasts may be built of other suitable material upon permission from the mine inspector.

Section 1216 All ventilators used at mines shall be provided with recording instruments by which the speed of the ventilators or the ventilating pressure shall be registered for each hour and such data shall be preserved at the colliery for future references for a period of three months.

Section 1217 An accumulation of gas in mines shall not be removed by brushing When such accumulations occur they must be removed by sufficient air currents only

Section 1218 No auxiliary or booster fan shall be allowed in any mine unless a request in writing be made by the superintendent of such mine to the mine inspector of the district and permission granted by him to install such fan.

Section 1219 Auxiliary fans driven by electric power shall not be used in gaseous mines (C class) unless the motors of such fans are enclosed in explosion proof casings approved by the United Stattes Bureau of Mines All such fans must be located so that there shall be maintained at all times a positive separation of inlet and outlet air currents.

Section 1220 All main fans used to ventilate gaseous mines (both B and C classes) shall be operated continuously If for any reason except repairs it is desired to stop such fan or fans the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or mines shall first make a request in writing to the inspector of the district and he may grant or refuse such request During any period in which repairs are being made to any such fan or fans or in which for any reason any such fans are stopped no person or persons except those necessary to make examinations for gas and operate pumps shall be allowed in any such gaseous mine or mines All such examinations shall be made with an approved safety lamp

Section 1221 Whenever a mine suspends operations temporarily and is being maintained in readiness for operation the mine shall be examined at least once a week in the same manner as if in operation and a report of such examination shall be made in the colliery report book and signed by the person making the examination.

Section 1222 All main fans used to ventilate (A class) mines shall be operated continuously If for any reason except repairs it is desired to stop such fan or fans the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or mines shall first make request in writing to the mine inspector of the district and he may grant or refuse such request

Section 1223 When any main ventilating fans have been stopped they shall prior to the resumption of work in the mine be operated a sufficient length of time to provide a supply of air adequate enough to dilute render harmless and sweep away all smoke and noxious gases and an examination shall be made of all haulage roads traveling roads working places and other places in which accumulations of gas or smoke might endanger the safety of the workmen before the men are allowed to enter the mine.

Section 1224 All inlet and outlet airways shall be kept free from all obstructions and in fit state to be traveled and inspected at all times.

Section 1225 Any person or persons who shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or who shall make any false report in regard to air measurements shall be guilty of an offense against this act.

ARTICLE XIII

UNDERGROUND BUILDINGS

Section 1301 All buildings inside of any anthracite coal mine in Pennsylvania including engine-houses pumphouses stables et cetera shall be constructed of incombustible material and no temporary buildings of any character in any mine shall be constructed unless they are constructed of incombustible material.

Section 1302 Any owner operator or superintendent of a coal mine failing to comply with this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon convictio shall be sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars ($100.-00) or undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a period of ten (10) days or both at the discretion of the court

ARTICLE XIV

CLASSIFICATION OF MINES OR SECTIONS THEREOF WITH REFERENCE TO COMBUSTIBLE GAS

Section 1401 All anthracite mines or sections thereof shall be classed as A B or C as hereinafter provided

Section 1402 A Class A mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which seven one-hundredths (7/100) of one per cent of combustible gas or less is found Such mine or section thereof shall be considered nongaseous.

Section 1403 A Class B mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which more than seven one-hundredths (7/100) of one per cent and less than five-tenths (5/10) of one per cent of combustible gas is found.

Section 1404 A Class C mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which five-tenths (5/10) of one per cent or more of combustible gas is found.

Section 1405 Examinations to determine the classification of mines or sections thereof shall be made by the operator or his representative every six months at the faces of the first and last working place on a split and the average of the tests shall be the determining factor Tests shall be made by use of a methane detector approved by the United States Bureau of Mines or by chemical analyses.

Section 1406 The ventilation must have been stopped or short-circuited for at least fifteen minutes when the aforesaid examinations are made and the results recorded and a copy of the same shall be sent to the inspector of the district within ten days after such examination.

Section 1407 The classification of a section of a mine as "A" "B" or "C" does not of necessity place the whole mine in that class

Section 1408 If one-fourth (1/4) of an inch gas cap can be seen on the flame of an approved safety lamp it shall be assumed that the air contains at least one and one-half (1 1/2) per cent of combustible gas.

Section 1409 No mine or section thereof shall be considered as belonging to a less hazardous class than the one to which it formerly belonged without permission from the inspector of the district.

ARTICLE XV

USE OF ELECTRICITY

Section 1501 All electrical apparatus and conductors shall be so installed and protected as to reduce danger from shock or fire to a minimum.

Section 1502 No higher voltage than medium (650) shall be taken underground except for transmission or for application to transformers or other apparatus in which the whole of the high voltage circuit is stationery.

Section 1503 When high voltage cables are taken into the mine through bore holes shafts slopes and other traveling ways to an underground station from which point low or medium voltage may be conveyed said cables shall be so constructed as to reduce the hazards of accidental shock to a minimum.

Section 1504 In gaseous mines (C class) high voltage transmission cables shall be installed in the intake airways or in bore holes provided such bore holes are in or connected to intake airways

High voltage motors and transformers if used in a mine shall be installed only in underground stations ventilated by intake air which has not passed through a gaseous district.

Section 1505 Gloves and mats of rubber or other suitable insulating material shall be provided and used by persons when making repairs to live parts of any electrical apparatus or when live parts of electrical apparatus have to be handled for the purpose of adjustment Provided That this section shall not apply to electric signal circuits.

Section 1506 Instructions shall be posted in every generating transforming and motor room containing direction as to the restoration of persons suffering from electric shock

Section 1507 In underground stations where switchboards are installed there shall be a passageway in front and in the rear of the switchboard not less than three (3) feet in the clear

When medium voltage is used insulating floors for mats shall be provided where live metal work is on the front of the board When high voltage is used unless installed in a locked room to which only authorized persons are admitted All live metal parts on the front of the main switchboard within seven (7) feet of the floor or platform shall be guarded so as to prevent persons from coming in contact with such live parts The floor back of the board shall be made of incombustible material and be insulated

Section 1508 Fire buckets filled with clear dry sand or other standard extinguishers for electrical fires shall be kept in underground stations ready for immediate use in extinguishing fires.

Section 1509 Medium or low pressure conductors may be bare except in gaseous portions (C class) of the mines This rule is not to include trolley wire except where hereinafter provided.

Section 1510 At all landings and partings where men are required to work regularly or pass under trolley or other bare power wires which are placed less than six and one-holf (6 1/2) feet above the top of the rail a suitable protection shall be provided This protection may be afforded by channeling the roof placing boards along the wires which shall extend below them or the use of other approved devices that afford protection.

Section 1511 All underground power wires and cables in hoisting shafts or manway compartments shall be highly insulated and substantially fixed in position On main haulage roads all cables and other wires except trolley wires and D C feeder wires when mounted on the same supports shall be kept at least twelve (12) inches away from any part of the mine car or locomotive.

Section 1512 Trailing cables in use shall be examined daily by the machine operator for abrasions and other defects and he shall report any defect to the mine foreman or his assistant and it shall be immediately remedied or the cable put out of service.

Section 1513 All points at which a circuit other than a signal circuit has to be made or broken shall be provided with proper switches The use of hooks or other makeshifts are prohibited except that connection for gathering locomotives or locomotives and machines used in driving headings or chambers may be made to the trolley wire by means of suitable hooks.

Section 1514 In any gaseous portion of a mine (B and C class) a coal-cutting machine shall not be brought beyond the last cross-cut next the working face until the machine man shall have made an inspection for gas or until such examination shall have been made by some other competent person If any explosive gas is found in the place the machine shall not be taken in.

Section 1515 No coal-cutting machine shall be continued in operation in a gaseous portion of a mine (C class) for a longer period than half an hour without an examination being made for gas and if gas is found the current shall at once be switched off and the machine and the trailing cable shall forthwith be disconnected from the power supply.

Section 1516 The person in charge of a coal-cutting machine loading machine or drilling machine shall not leave the machine while it is working and shall before leaving the working place see that the current is cut off from the trailing cables In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) if an electric spark or arc be produced by the cable or rails the defect shall be immediately reported to the mine foreman or his assistant and the condition remedied without delay.

Section 1517 In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) any gangway airway or other working which is served by cars being pushed to the face of it must not have any trolley wire therein closer than one hundred and fifty (150) feet from its face No modification of this rule shall be allowed unless the mine inspector of the district be first consulted and his permission obtained to make such modification A trailing cable is permitted in all such cases.

No electric haulage motor shall be taken to the face of any working place in any gaseous portion of a mine (B or C class) in the absence of the men working in such place until it is first examined by a competent person and found to be safe.

Section 1518 In no case shall the potential used in the trolley system be higher than low voltage Provided That this section shall not apply to trolley systems now in service or extensions thereof.

Section 1519 No electrical equipment shall be operated in that part of any mine in which more than one and one-half (1½) per cent of combustible gas can be detected and all work must be stopped except such as may be necessary to reduce the percentage content to one and one-half or less

Section 1520 In gaseous mines (B class) open lights and electric lamps are permissible provided a flame safety lamp approved by the Department of Mines is used for testing purposes Such safety lamps shall be as far as practicable kept near the roof of the working face

It shall not be assumed that a mine or portion thereof is gaseous because of the partial or exclusive use of electric cap lamps

Section 1521 In each part of all gaseous mines (C class) no light other than a locked safety lamp or a locked safety lamp and electric cap lamp both of a type which shall be first approved by the Department of Mines shall be allowed or used in such part Whenever safety lamps or electric cap lamps are required in any mine or part thereof they shall be the property of the owner of said mine and a competent person who shall be appointed for the purpose shall examine every safety lamp and electric cap lamp before it is taken into the workings for use and he shall ascertain that all safety lamps are clean safe and securely locked and safety lamps and electric cap lamps shall not be used until they have been so examined and found safe and in the case of safety lamps clean and securely locked

Section 1522 No one except a duly authorized person shall have in his possession a key or any other contrivance for the purpose of unlocking any safety lamp in any gaseous mine where locked safety lamps or electric cap lamps are used It shall be unlawful for any person or persons working in gaseous mines (C class) or portion of a gaseous mine (C class) which is worked by locked safety lamps or locked safety lamps and electric cap lamps to carry into the mine matches smokers' articles or any other material or articles which may cause fire To prevent such articles being carried into a dangerous mine or section thereof the mine foreman when he sees fit shall cause a search of the men for such articles

Section 1523 In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) except such parts as are ventilated by pure intake air incandescent lamps shall be protected by gas tight fittings of strong glass

Section 1524 All shot firing in gaseous mines or sections of mines (C class) shall be done by the use of an electric battery approved by the Secretary of Mines and furnished free of charge by the owner or operator of such mine No black powders shall be used in such mines

Section 1525 No shot firing unit shall be connected to the shot firing leads until all other connections preparatory to the firing of shots have been completed and all persons have moved to a place of safety

Section 1526 In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) the potential used for signaling purposes shall not exceed twenty-four (24) volts and bare wires shall not be used for signal circuits except in intake air currents

Section 1527 Where electric transformers are located on the outside there shall be provided walkways or platforms around such structures so that examinations and inspections can be made of the same

All such transformers within eight (8) feet of the ground shall be protected by fencing such fencing to be of a height that will prevent persons from inadvertently coming in contact with the transformers within

Section 1528 At all surface plants of collieries and in all mines where electric power is used adequate switches shall be provided at the points where it may be necessary to turn power on or off Such switches except high voltage air break and disconnecting switches and those on D C feeder or on trolley circuits shall be so arranged that they can be operated only from and without the box when the latter is completely closed

Section 1529 Any person or persons failing to comply with the provisions of this article shall be guilty of an offense against this act and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or undergo imprisonment for thirty (30) days in the county jail or both at the discretion of the court

ARTICLE XVI

Inquests

Section 1601 If whenever death occurs from an accident in or about an anthracite coal mine of this Commonwealth and after an examination of such accident the mine inspector finds an inquest should be held he shall notify the coroner to hold such inquest without delay and if no inquest be held by the coroner within forty-eight (48) hours after such notice the inspector shall institute a further and fuller examination of such accident and for this purpose he shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses at such examination and to administer oaths and affirmations to persons testifying thereat The inspector shall make a record of all such investigations and accidents which record shall be preserved in his office The cost of such investigations shall be paid by the Department of Mines in like manner as other costs are now paid

Section 1602 An inquest held by the coroner upon the body of a person killed by explosion or other accident shall be adjourned by the coroner if the inspector of mines be not present to watch the proceedings and the coroner in such case shall notify the inspector in writing of such adjournment inquest and the time and place of holding the same at least three (3) days previous thereto

Section 1603 Due notice of an intended inquest to be held by the coroner shall be given by the coroner to the inspector and at any such inquest the mine inspector and any representative of a party in interest shall have the right to examine witnesses and read the law governing the case of the coroner's jury

Section 1604 If at any inquest over the body or bodies of persons whose death was caused by an accident in or about a mine or colliery the inspector cannot be present to watch the proceedings the coroner may proceed with such inquest and if it is shown by the evindence given at the inquest that the accident was caused by neglect or by any defect in or about the mine or colliery which in the judgment of the jury requires a remedy the coroner shall send notice in writing to said inspector of such neglect or default

Section 1605 No person who is interested personally nor a person employed in the mine or at a colliery in or at which loss of life has occurred by accident shall be qualified to serve on a jury empaneled on the inquest and a constable or other officer shall not summon such a person so disqualified as a juror but the coroner shall empaneled a majority of the jury from miners who are qualified to judge the nature of the accident

ARTICLE XVII

Medical Rooms and First Aid Treatment

Section 1701 It shall be unlawful to operate any anthracite mine in the State of Pennsylvania employing more than five persons unless said mine is provided with a sufficient quantity of medical supplies bandages linens splints woolen and waterproof blankets The mine foreman or his assistant shall keep a record showing the requried articles on hand Said articles shall be stored in rooms erected at a convenient place in the mine and on the surface which rooms shall not be less than eight by twelve feet and sufficiently furnished lighted clean and ventilated so that therein medical treatment may be given injured employes in case of emergency The furnishings shall be sufficient to accommodate two or more persons in reclining and sitting posture. In the mines where five (5) men or less are employed there shall be kept at such mines first aid kits so that first aid to the injured may be rendered in case of necessity

Section 1702 The neglect or refusal to perform the duties required to be performed by this article or the violation of any of the requirements hereof shall be deemed a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county wherein the misdemeanor was committed be punishable by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding six months (6) or both at the discretion of the court

ARTICLE XVIII

Regulating Weights of Explosives

Section 1801 On and after the passage of this act each and every keg or box of explosives used manufactured or sold in or around the anthracite coal mines of this Commonwealth shall have clearly stamped upon it the name of the person firm or corporation manufacturing said explosives the percentage strength of such explosives and also the number of pounds of explosives contained in said keg or box Said explosives must at all times be contained in a metal keg or wooden box

Section 1802 Any manufacturer or dealer in said explosives making or selling or causing to be made or sold any keg or box of said explosives containing less weight than shall be shown as stamped upon the keg or box shall be subject to a penalty of five dollars ($5.00) for each and every keg or box of said explosives manufactured or sold which does not contain the respective weights as set forth in the foregoing section

Section 1803 It shall not be lawful for any other person firm or corporation except the person firm or corporation whose name shall be stamped on said keg or box to use any such stamped keg or box for the purpose of containing explosives

Section 1804 Any person firm or corporation violating the provisions of section one thousand eight hundred three of this article shall be subject to a fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500.00) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00)

ARTICLE XIX

RECOVERY OF BODIES OF ENTOMBED WORKMEN

Section 1901 Whenever any workman or workmen shall heretofore have been or shall hereafter be enclosed entombed or buried in any anthracite coal mine in this Commonwealth it shall be the duty of the court sitting in equity in the county wherein such workman or workmen are enclosed entombed or buried upon the petition of any of the relatives of those enclosed entombed or buried to make an order of court for the petitioner to take testimony in order that the court may ascertain whether such workman or workmen or the body or bodies of such workman or workmen can be recovered or taken out of said mine

Section 1902 If after full hearing it shall appear to the court that such undertaking is feasible or practicable said court may forthwith issue a peremptory mandamus to the owner or owners lessee or lessees operator or operators of such coal company to forthwith proceed to work for and recover and take out the body or bodies of such workman or workmen and said court shall have full authority to enforce such peremptory mandamus in the manner already provided for the enforcement of such process

ARTICLE XX

RECORDS OF COAL LOADED BY MINERS

Section 2001 At every anthracite coal mine in this Commonwealth where coal is mined and paid for by the car a record of all cars of coal mined shall be kept at the miners' chutes or at the most convenient and practical of said chutes where said coal is loaded in cars which record shall be the final basis of computing the miners' earnings per car without any deduction for any slate or other refuse that may be loaded on said car or cars in the usual and natural course of mining and loading coal and which record shall be open at all times for the inspection of all miners

Section 2002 Any individual firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of section two thousand one shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall for each offense be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty ($50.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) Provided That nothing contained in this article shall affect any existing contract

Section 2003 Any person who wilfully shall from any loaded coal car in or about any mine breaker or yard in this Commonwealth take remove sever carry away obliterate or destroy any ticket card tin-slip or other device or sign used to indicate or identify the person or persons to whom credit or pay is or shall be due for the mining of the coal in said car or for the loading of said car for the purpose of depriving such person or persons from getting credit or pay for said car or for the purpose of defrauding such person in any manner shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100.00) or to undergo imprisonment not exceeding one (1) year either or both at the discretion of the court and the jury trying the case may infer such intent from the fact of taking removing carrying away severing obliterating or destroying in any manner of such tickets card tin-slip or other device or sign as aforesaid

ARTICLE XXI

WASH HOUSES

Section 2101 It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of each mine or colliery at the request in writing of twenty (20) or more men employed in any of the mines to provide a suitable building not an engine or boiler house which shall be convenient to the principal entrance of such mine for the use of the persons employed therein for the purpose of washing themselves and changing their clothes when entering the mine and returning therefrom The said building shall be maintained in good order be properly lighted and heated and supplied with pure cold and warm water and shall be provided with facilities for persons to wash It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of each mine or colliery to maintain proper attendants continuously at each and every wash house in order to maintain the wash house in a clean and sanitary condition at all times If any person or persons shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or maliciously injure or destroy or cause to be injured or destroyed the said building or any part thereof or any of the appliances or fittings used for suplying light heat and water therein or any act tending to the injury or destruction thereof he or they shall be deemed guilty of an offense against this act

AMBULANCES AND STRETCHERS

Section 2201 The owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery except as hereinafter provided shall provide and keep at such mine or colliery a motor ambulance and also at least two (2) stretchers for the purpose of conveying to their places of abode any person or persons who may be injured while in the discharge of his or their work at such mine or colliery

Section 2202 The said motor ambulance shall be constructed upon good substantial and easy springs It shall be covered and closed and shall have windows on the sides or ends It shall be of sufficient size to convey at least two (2) injured persons with two (2) attendants at one time and shall be provided with spring mattresses or other comfortable bedding to be placed on roller frames together with sufficient covering and protection for the convenient movement of the injured It shall also be provided with seats for the attendants The stretchers shall be constructed in such manner as to afford the greatest ease and comfort in the carriage of injured persons The motor ambulance shall at all times be properly heated

Section 2203 Whenever any person or persons employed in or about a mine or colliery shall receive such injury by accident or otherwise while so employed as would render him or them unable to walk to his or their place of abode the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or colliery shall immediately cause such person or persons to be removed in said motor ambulance to his or their place of abode or to a hospital as the case may require Provided however That where two or more mines or collieries are located within four miles of each other or a motor ambulance is located within four miles of each colliery but one motor ambulance as aforesaid shall be required if said mines or collieries have ready and quick means of communication one with the other by telegraph or telephone

Section 2204 A motor ambulance as aforesaid shall not be required at any mine or colliery at which less than twenty (20) persons are employed

Section 2205 In case the distance from any mine or colliery to the place of abode of the person injured is such as to permit his conveyance to his home or to a hospital more quickly and conveniently by railway such mode of conveyance shall be permitted but in such case the conveyance must be under cover and the comfort of the injured person must be provided for

Section 2206 There shall be furnished free of charge by the State Highway Department a registration certificate and two number tags for each such motor ambulance

ARTICLE XXIII

EMPLOYMENT OF BOYS AND FEMALES

Section 2301 No woman or girl of any age shall be employed or permitted to be in any mine for the purpose of employment therein nor shall a woman or girl of any age be employed or permitted to be in or about the outside structures or workings of a mine or colliery for the purpose of employment Provided however That this prohibition shall not affect the employment of a female of not less than sixteen (16) years of age in an office or in the performance of clerical work at a colliery

Section 2302 No minor under sixteen (16) years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in about or in connection with any breaker or any outside part of any mine or colliery No minor under eighteen (18) years of age shall be employed to be permitted to work inside any coal mine No minor under eighteen (18) years of age shall be empolyed or permitted to work about or in connection with the outside part of any mine or colliery in the operation of hoisting machines at oiling or cleaning machinery in motion at switch-tending and gate-tending at track repairing or in any other dangerous occupation

Section 2303 Before any person under twenty-one (21) years of age shall be permitted to work in or about any mine or colliery he shall first file with the employer a statement properly sworn to before a magistrate or other proper officer setting forth the date and place of birth and post office address Such statements shall be filed in the colliery office and they shall be available at all times for inspection by the mine inspector of the district or other authorized inspectors or officers charged with the enforcement of this act

Section 2304 Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than two hundred dollars ($200.00) or to undergo an imprisonment of not more than ten (10) days or both at the discretion of the court

ARTICLE XXIV

SOLICITING MONEY OR OTHER VALUABLES FROM EMPLOYES

Section 2401 On and after the passage of this act any mine superintendent mine foreman or assistant foreman or any other person or persons who shall receive or solicit any sum of money or other valuable consideration from any of his or their employes for the purpose of continuing in his or their employ or for the purpose of procuring employment shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be subject to a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than three hundred dollars ($300.00) or undergo an imprisonment of not less than six (6) months or both at the discretion of the court

DUTIES OF OUTSIDE FOREMEN

Section 2501 The owner operator or superintendent of a colliery shall place a competent person to be called an "outside foreman" in charge of the breaker and outside work of such colliery who shall direct and see that the provisions of this act are complied with in respect to the breaker outside machinery ropes cages and all other things pertaining to the outside work unless otherwise provided for in this act

Section 2502 Whenever an outside foreman cannot personally carry out the provisions of this act so far as they pertain to him the owner operator or superintendent shall authorize him to employ a sufficient number of competent persons to act as his assistants who shall be subject to his orders

Section 2503 In all coal breakers where the coal dust is so dense as to be injurious to the health of persons employed therein the owner operator or superintendent of said breaker shall upon the request of the inspector immediately adopt measures for the removal of the dust

Section 2504 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman of a colliery or his assistant to inspect and examine personally all machinery in breakers and in all other places where machinery is used for the preparation or storage of coal He shall see that all dangerous machinery rolls pulleys screens belts walks etc are properly protected by coverings railings or fencing so as to prevent persons from inadvertently walking against or falling upon the same

Section 2505 All hoisting ropes safety catches main links and chains shall be carefully examined each day they are used by a competent person delegated by the outside foreman to make such examination A record of any defects found therein by which life or limb may be endangered shall be made in a book and signed by the person making it and said book shall be kept in the colliery office where it shall be available for inspection by the inspector of the district

Section 2506 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have all iron hoisting chains main links sockets and slope couplings that are used to lower men into and hoist them from the mines annealed at least once every four (4) months and as much oftener as may be found necessary A record of such annealment shall be kept in a book and signed by the person in charge of the work Provided That this shall not apply to hoisting chains main links sockets and slope couplings that are made of modern heat treated steel

Section 2507 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have the motor ambulance kept in good working condition and to this end he shall have it inspected by a competent mechanic once every month and any defects found shall be immediately remedied A record of such motor ambulance inspection together with its condition shall be made in a book and signed by the person making the inspection

Section 2508 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to keep in the colliery office all employment certificates of minors at which place they shall be open for inspection by the mine inspector of the district or by any other person authorized by law to inspect such certificates

Section 2509 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have all cages by which persons are hoisted or lowered in shafts tested for safety as often as once every three (3) months Whenever such test shows that a cage drops nine (9) inches or more or that other dangerous defects exist such cage shall not be further used until all defects therein found have been remedied

Section 2510 If at any time it is found by an employe that any part of the machinery in any breaker or about any colliery has become dangerous he shall immediately notify the foreman whose duty it shall be to have such defect or dangerous condition remedied without delay

Section 2511 The outside foreman shall see that a suitable safety device is installed on the railroad tracks that lead to the breaker and maintained in good working order to protect the loaders who may be loading railroad cars from the coal pockets All railroad car runners shall be provided with safety belts to prevent their falling off such cars

Section 2512 The outside foreman shall before the tenth day of each month send to the mine inspector of the district for the preceding month a report of the condition of all hoisting cages safety catches ropes main links chains breaker machinery motor ambulances or other machinery designating the condition of each by using the words "good" "fair" or "bad" as the case may be This report shall be signed by the outside foreman Such reports shall be made on forms furnished by the Department of Mines

ARTICLE XXVI

BREAKERS AND MACHINERY

Section 2601 No inflammable structure shall be located over the entrance of any mine opening connecting the surface with the underground workings and no breaker or other inflammable structure for the preparation or storage of coal shall be located nearer than two hundred (200) feet to any mine opening provided that this section shall not apply to breakers and other structures that are now erected

Section 2602 The sides of stairs trestles and dangerous plank walls in and around the collieries shall be provided with hand and guard railings to prevent persons from falling over their sides This section shall not forbid the temporary removal of a fence guard rail or covering for the purpose of repairs or other operations if proper precautions are used and the fence guard rail or covering is replaced immediately thereafter

Section 2603 All persons employed to operate machinery in and about the breaker other than that used to lower and hoist persons into and out of the mines shall be sober and competent persons not less than eighteen (18) years of age

Section 2604 A signal apparatus shall be established at important points in every breaker so that in case of an accident the engineer can be promptly notified to stop the machinery

Section 2605 No person under eighteen (18) years of age shall be appointed to oil the machinery and no person shall oil dangerous parts of such machinery while it is in motion

Section 2606 No person shall play with loiter around or interfere with any machinery in or about any mine or colliery

Section 2607 The main link of the chain connecting the rope to the cage gun-boat or car in any shaft or slope shall be made of the best quality of iron or of heat treated steel Bridle chains made of the same quality of iron or heat treated steel shall be attached to the main link rope or rope socket from the cross head of the cage gun-boat or car when persons are being lowered or hoisted thereon

Section 2608 An efficient brake shall be attached to every drum that is used for lowering or hoisting persons or material in any mine

Section 2609 Flanges or horns of sufficient dimensions to prevent the rope from slipping off the said drums shall be provided and properly attached to the drum and all machines used for lowering or hoisting persons in mines shall be provided with an indicator to show the position of the cage car or gun-boat in the shaft or slope

Section 2610 It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of any or all coal breakers to have them properly heated and lighted in order to prevent injury to the health of persons employed therein

Section 2611 Failure to comply with any of the provisions of this article shall be deemed an offense against this act

ARTICLE XXVII

HOISTING ENGINEERS

Section 2701 No person engaged as hoisting engineer at or about the anthracite coal mines of this Commonwealth part of whose duties it is to lower men and boys into and hoist them and coal from the said mines shall be engaged for a longer period than eight (8) hours out of each day of twenty-four (24) hours

Section 2702 An engineer placed in charge of an engine whereby persons are hoisted or lowered in any mine shall be a sober and competent person of not less than twenty-one (21) years of age

Section 2703 Every engineer shall work his engine slowly and with great care when any person is being lowered or hoisted in a shaft or slope and no one shall interfere with him while in the performance of this duty

Section 2704 of Article XXVII of the bill was read as follows

Section 2704 An engineer who has charge of the hoisting machinery by which persons are lowered or hoisted in a mine shall be in constant attendance for that purpose during the whole time any person or persons are below ground

Section 2705 Any person persons firm partnership corporation or their agents managers or superintendents violating any of the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00)

ARTICLE XXVIII

BOILERS AND CONNECTIONS

Section 2801 All boilers used for generating steam in and about mines and collieries shall be kept in good order and the owner operator or superintendent shall have them examined and inspected by a qualified person as often as once in six (6) months and oftener if necessary The result of such examination under oath shall be certified in writing to the inspector for the district within thirty (30) days thereafter

Section 2802 It shall not be lawful to place any boiler or boilers for the purpose of generating steam under or nearer than one hundred (100) feet to any coal breaker or other structure in which persons are employed in the preparation of coal Provided That this section shall not apply to boilers or breakers already erected or to boilers used for heating purposes only

Section 2803 Each nest of boilers shall be provided with a safety valve of sufficient area for the steam to escape and with weights or springs properly adjusted

Section 2804 Every boiler house shall be provided with a steam gauge properly connected with the boilers to indicate the steam pressure and another steam gauge shall be attached to the steam pipe in the engine house and they shall be placed in such position that the engineer or fireman can readily examine them and see what pressure is carried Such steam gauges shall be kept in good order tested and adjusted as often as once in every six (6) months and their condition reported to the inspector in the same manner as the report of boiler inspection

Section 2805 Every fireman in charge of a boiler or boilers for the generation of steam shall keep constant watch over the same He shall see that the steam pressure does not at any time exceed the limit allowed by the outside foreman or superintendent He shall frequently try the safety valve and shall not increase the weight on the same He shall maintain a proper depth of water in each boiler and if anything should happen to prevent this he shall report the same without delay to the foreman for the time being in charge and take such other action as may under the particular circumstances be necessary for the protection of life and preservation of property

ARTICLE XXIX

PROPS AND TIMBERS

Section 2901 It shall be the duty of the owner operator superintendent or mine foreman of every mine to furnish to the miners all props cap pieces ties rails timbers and other material necessary for the safe mininb of coal suitably prepared and delivered to the workmen as near to their working places as they can be conveyed in ordinary mine cars free of charge and where the mine car cannot reach the foot of a working place such material shall be conveyed there by other means Where cap pieces are used they shall be at least eighteen (18) inches long two (2) inches thick and wide enough to cover the ends of the props

Section 2902 Every workman in want of props ties rails or timbers shall notify the mine foreman or his assistant of the fact at least one day in advance giving the length of the props or timber required and in case of danger from loose roof or sides he shall not continue to cut or load coal until the said props and timber have been properly furnished and the place made secure

Section 2903 No person or persons working in any coal mine or colliery shall cut any props or timbers while the same are in position to support the roof or sides When it becomes necessary to remove any of the said props or timbers for any purpose it may be done by using prop or post pullers or by blasting

ARTICLE XXX

RETURNS AND NOTICES

Section 3001 Notices of death or serious injuries resulting from accidents in or about mines or collieries shall be made to the inspector of mines in writing and shall specify the name age occupation of the person killed or injured and also the nature and character of the accident and of the injury caused thereby

Section 3002 The owner operator or superintendent of a mine or colliery shall without delay give notice in writing to the inspector of the district in which said mine or colliery is situated in any or all of the following cases

First Where any working is commenced for the purpose of opening a new slope or mine to which this act applies

Second Where any mine is abandoned or the workings thereof discontinued

Third Where the working of any mine is recommenced after any abandonment or discontinuance for a period exceeding two (2) months

Fourth Before any new coal breaker is completed and work commenced therein for the purpose of preparing coal for market

Fifth Where the pillars of a mine are to be removed or robbed

Sixth Where a squeeze or crush or any other cause or change may seem to affect the safety of persons employed in any mine or where fire occurs or a dangerous body of gas is found in any mine

Section 3003 On or before the second day of each month the owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery shall send to the mine inspector of the district for the preceding month an estimate of the number of days worked tons produced and the number of men employed

Section 3004 On or before the first day of February in each year the owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery shall send to the inspector of the district a correct report specifying with respect to the year ending December thirty-first previously the name of the operator and officials of the mine with their postoffice addresses the quantity of coal mined the amount of powder or other explosives consumed and the number of persons employed above and below ground in or about such colliery classifying the persons so employed The report shall be in such form as may be from time to time prescribed by the Secretary of Mines Blank forms for such reports shall be furnished by the Commonwealth

ARTICLE XXXI

GENERAL RULES

Section 3101 The owner operator and superintendent of a mine or colliery shall use every precaution to insure the safety of the workmen in all cases whether provided for in this act or not and shall have supervision direction and control of the mine foreman and all other mine employes

Section 3102 Whenever a place is likely to contain a dangerous accumulation of water the working approaching such place shall not exceed twelve (12) feet in width and there shall be constantly kept at a distance of not less than twenty (20) feet in advance at least one (1) bore hole near the center of the working and sufficient flank bore holes on each side

Section 3103 Not more than ten (10) persons shall be hoisted or lowered at any one time in any shaft or slope and whenever five (5) persons shall arrive at the bottom of any shaft or slope in which persons are regularly hoisted or lowered they shall be furnished with an empty car or cage and be hoisted except however in mines where there is provided a traveling way having an average pitch of fifteen (15) degrees or less and not more than one thousand (1000) feet in length This however shall not prohibit the hoisting or lowering of twenty (20) persons at one time on slopes where two (2) or more loaded cars are regularly hoisted Provided That not less than thirty (30) workman working therein make such a request in writing to the inspector of the district and if in his judgment the hoisting appliances in every respect are of sufficient strength he may comply with the request of the workmen And provided further That in any coal mine or colliery where the hoisting appliances are not of sufficient strength to hoist or lower the number of persons named he shall have the power to reduce the number of persons to be hoisted or lowered

Section 3104 When high explosives other than gunpowder are used in any mine the manner of storing keeping moving charging and firing or in any manner using such explosives shall be in accordance with special rules as furnished by the manufacturers of the same The said rules shall be endorsed with his or their official signatures and shall be approved by the owner operator or superintendent of the mine in which such explosives are used

Section 3105 Every passageway used by persons in any mine and also used for transportation of coal or other material shall be made of sufficient width to permit persons to pass moving cars with safety but if found impracticable to make any passageway of sufficient width then holes of ample dimensions and not more than one hundred and fifty (150) feet apart shall be made on one side of said passageway The said passageway and safety holes shall be kept free from obstructions and shall be well drained the roof and sides of the same shall be made secure

Section 3106 When locomotives are used in haulage ways in any mine their speed shall not exceed six (6) miles per hour and a red light shall be provided and attached to the front end of every train of cars pushed by the locomotive in any such haulage ways No locomotive shall be permitted to be used in any mine or colliery unless it is manned by two or more men There shall also be provided a red light to be attached to the rear of every train of cars that is pulled by a locomotive in the main haulage ways of any mine

Section 3107 Any person or persons who shall knowingly or wilfully damage or without proper authority remove or render useless any fencing means of signaling apparatus instrument or machine or shall throw open or obstruct any airway or open a ventilating door and not have the same closed or enter a place in or about a mine against caution or handle without proper authority or disturb any machinery or cars or do any other act or thing whereby the lives or health of persons or the security of the property in or about a mine or colliery is endangered shall be guilty of an offense against this act

Section 3108 When cars are run on gravity roads by brakes or sprags the runner shall ride only on the rear end of the last car and when said cars are run by sprags a space of not less than two (2) feet from the body of the car shall be made on one or both sides of the track wherever it may be necessary for the runner to pass along the side of the moving car or cars and said space or passageway shall always be kept free from obstructions

Section 3109 Safety holes shall be made at the bottom of all slopes and planes and be kept free from obstruction to enable the footman to escape readily in case of danger Such safety holes shall be properly heated in cold weather

Section 3110 Safety blocks or some other device for the purpose of preventing cars from falling into a shaft or running away on a slope plane or all other inclined tracks on which it may be necessary to block cars shall be placed at or near the head of every shaft slope plane or inclined track and said safety blocks or other device must be maintained in good working order

Section 3111 No person shall travel on any gravity plane while cars are being hoisted or lowered thereon Whenever ten (10) persons arrive at the bottom or top of any plane on which it is necessary for men to travel traffic thereon shall be suspended for a period of time long enough to permit them to reach the top or bottom of said plane

Section 3112 No mine cars shall be used in any mine unless the bumpers are of sufficient length and width to keep the bodies of said cars separated by not less than twelve (12) inches when the cars stand on a straight level road and the bumpers touch each other

Section 3113 For the purpose of making known the rules and the provisions of this act to all persons employed in or about such mine or colliery to which this act applies an abstract of the act and rules shall be posted up in legible characters in some conspicuous place or places at or near the mine of colliery where they may be conveniently read by the persons employed and so often as the same become obliterated or destroyed the owner operator or superintendent shall cause them to be renewed with all reasonable dispatch Any person who pulls down injures or defaces such abstract of the act or rules when posted up in pursuance of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of an offense against this act

Section 3114 Holes drilled for blasting purposes shall be stemmed to the mouth of the hole and in case of a misfire no stemming or charge shall be removed from such hole but another hole shall be drilled at least eighteen (18) inches from and parallel to the original hole Provided however That where an efficient sealing device is used stemming to the mouth of the hole shall not be necessary and in case of misfire in such sealed holes a second charge may be inserted to explode or destroy the original charge

Section 3115 Explosives shall be transported to the foot of a working place and no one other than the person or persons necessary for the transportation of such explosives shall be in or on the conveyance transporting them Such conveyance shall be properly insulated in all mines using electricity

Section 3116 A gangway or other working place from which chambers are driven or long wall mining is done in a law coal seam shall have a traveling way on one side of same atl east three (3) feet wide and five (5) feet high Chambers or other places driven from such gangways shall not be more than two hundred and fifty (250) feet long unless provided with a traveling way at least three (3) feet wide and three and one-half (3½) feet high

Section 3117 It shall not be lawful for any mine foreman or superintendent of any mine or colliery to employ any person who is not competent to understand the regulations of any mine evolving combustible gas Provided That this rule shall not apply to a section of a mine free from combustible gas

Section 3118 Any superintendent or mine foreman who prevents the footman from giving an empty car or cage to the number of men designated in section three thousand one hundred three shall be guilty of an offense against the provisions of this article and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars ($50.00) for each offense An empty trip shall be hoisted in any shaft or slope where the engine has been standing idle for one hour or more before men are hoisted or lowered in said shafts or slopes and no person or persons shall ascend any shaft or slope when working on the night turn until one trip shall first be hoisted therein

Section 3119 When compressed air lines are located in close proximity to electric currents there shall be placed in such air lines at suitable places a safety section of rubber hose of not less than twelve (12) inches in length and of sufficient strength to withstand the air pressure contained in the pipe line Such safety device must be approved by the inspector of the district

Section 3120 In all stripping work which may be in connection with other sections of a mine and in which large charges of high explosives are being used sufficient warning must be given to the mine officials so that all men in the mine may be removed from the danger zone before such blasts are fired in any such strippings

ARTICLE XXXII

DEFINITION OF TERMS

Section 3201 In this act unless the context otherwise requires the term "anthracite coal mine or colliery" includes every operation and work both under ground and above ground used or to be used for the purpose of mining and preparing coal and not included in the bituminous boundaries

Section 3202 The term "workings" includes all the excavated parts of a mine those abandoned as well as the places actually at work

Section 3203 The term "mine" includes all underground workings and excavations and shafts tunnels and other ways and openings also all such shafts slopes tunnels and other openings in course of being sunk or driven together with all roads appliances machinery and material connected with the same below the surface

Section 3204 The term "shaft" means a vertical opening through the strata and which is or may be used for the purpose of ventilation or drainage or for hoisting men or material in connection with the mining of coal

Section 3205 The term "slope" means any inclined way or opening used for the same purpose as a shaft

Section 3206 The term "breaker" means the structure containing the machinery used for the preparation of coal

Section 3207 The term "coal stripping" means an open type of mine from which the soil and all other material overlying the coal seam has been removed Any seam of coal whose thickness is less than three and one-half (3½) feet shall be considered a low coal seam

Section 3208 The terms "owner" and "operator" mean any person or body corporate who is the immediate proprietor or lessee or occupier of any coal mine or colliery or any part thereof The term "owner" does not include a person or body corporate which merely receives a royalty rent or fine from a coal mine or colliery or part thereof or is merely the proprietor of the mine subject to any lease grant or license for the working or operating thereof or is merely the owner of the soil and not interested in the minerals of the mine or any part thereof But any "contractor" for the working of a mine or colliery or part or district thereof shall be subject to this act as an operator or owner in like manner as if he were the owner

Section 3209 The term "superintendent" means the person who shall have on behalf of the owner general supervision of one or more mines or collieries

Section 3210 The term "mine foreman" means the person who shall have on behalf of the owner operator or superintendent charge of a mine with regard to the ventilation mining timbering and transportation of coal and the safety of the persons employed in the mine

Section 3211 The term "coal miner" means a person qualified by law to act as such and who cuts or blasts coal or rock at the face of a gangway airway breast or pillar or other working place in a mine and performs such other work as may be necessary in such working place for the extraction of coal

Section 3212 The term "booster fan" means a fan used to deliver the entire volume of one or more splits of air into the workings of the high resistance circuits

Section 3213 The term "auxiliary fan" means a fan used to deliver only a portion of the volume of the air in a split to the working face through tubing of some type

Section 3214 The term "non-gaseous mine or section thereof" means one in which not more than seven one-hundredths (7/100) of one percent of combustible gas can be found in the manner described in article fourteen of this act

Section 3215 The term "section of a mine" means any portion of such a mine that is being ventilated by one split of air

Section 3216 The term "person" means and includes any individual partnership association or corporation and any employe agent director or officer thereof

Definition of Electrical Terms

Section 3217 (a) Potential The terms "potential" and "voltage" are synonymous and mean electrical pressure

(b) Difference of Potential Term "difference of potential" means the difference of electrical pressure existing between any two points of an electrical system or between any piece of electrical apparatus and the earth as determined by a voltmeter

(c) Where the conditions of supply of electricity are such that normally the difference in potential between any points of the circuit cannot exceed three hundred and twenty-five (325) volts the supply shall be deemed a low voltage

(d) Where the conditions of the supply of electricity are such that the difference of potential between any two points in the circuit may at any time exceed three hundred and twenty-five (325) volts but cannot exceed six hundred and fifty (650) volts the supply shall be deemed a medium voltage

(e) Where the conditions of supply of electricity are such that the difference of potential between any two points in the circuit at any time exceeds six hundred and fifty (650) volts the supply shall be deemed a high voltage

(f) Grounding Grounding any part of an electrical system shall consist of so connecting such part to the earth as will insure at all times a proper path for the immediate discharge of electrical energy

(g) Underground stations as herein considered are places where electrical machinery including transformers are permanently installed

ARTICLE XXXIII

Arbitration

Section 3301 Whenever an inspector finds any mine or colliery or part thereof or any matter thing or practice connected with such mine which in any respect thereof is not covered or provided against by any provision of this act or by any rule to be dangerous or defective or which in his judgment tends to bodily injure a person he shall give notice thereof in writing to the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or colliery stating in such notice the particular matter or defect requiring remedy and may demand that the same be remedied but the owner operator or superintendent of said mine or colliery shall have the right to refer the demand of the inspector to a board of arbitration and the matter shall then be arbitrated within forty-eight (48) hours of the time such complaint or demand is made and the party against whom the award is given shall pay all costs attending the case The said board of arbitration shall be composed of three (3) persons one of whom shall be chosen by the inspector one by the said owner operator or superintendent and a third by the two thus selected and the decision of a majority of such board shall be final and binding in the matter

ARTICLE XXXIV

Injunctions

Section 3401 Upon application of the inspector of mines of the proper district acting in behalf of the Commonwealth any of the courts of law or equity having jurisdiction where the mine or colliery proceeded against is situated whether any proceedings have or have not been taken shall prohibit by injunction or otherwise the working of any mine or colliery in which any person is employed or is permitted to be for the purpose of working in contravention of the provisions of this act and may award such costs in the matter of the injunction or other proceedings as the court may think just but this section shall be without prejudice to any other remedy permitted by law for enforcing the provisions of this act Written notice of the intention to apply for such injunction in respect to any mine or colliery shall be made to the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or colliery not less than twenty-four (24) hours before the application is made

ARTICLE XXXV

Penalties

Section 3501 Any person or persons who shall neglect or fail to comply with any of the provisions of articles five (V) seven (VII) nine (IX) ten (X) eleven (XI) twelve (XII) fourteen (XIV) fifteen (XV) sixteen (XVI) twenty-one (XXI) twenty-two (XXII) twenty-five (XXV) twenty-six (XXVI) twenty-eight (XXVIII) twenty-nine (XXIX) thirty (XXX) or thirty-one (XXXI) of this act shall be guilty of an offense against this act

Such offenses against this act are declared to be misdemeanors

of the peace of the county in which a mine or colliery at which an offense against this act as hereinafter stated has occurred is situated is hereby authorized and required upon the presentation to him of the affidavit of any citizen of the Commonwealth setting forth that the owner operator or superintendent or any other person employed in or about such mine or colliery has been negligently guilty of an offense against the provisions of this act whereby a dangerous accident has resulted or might have resulted to any person or persons employed in such mine or colliery to issue a warrant to the sheriff of said county directing him to cause such person or persons to be arrested and brought before said judge who shall hear and determine the guilt or innocence of the person or persons so charged and if convicted he or they shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00) in all cases not otherwise provided for in this act or to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding three (3) months or both at the discretion of the court Provided Tha any defendant may waive trial before a judge as herein provided and at any time at or before the time of such trial demand a trial by a jury in the Court of Quarter Sessions in which case he may enter into a recognizance before said judge with such surety or sureties and in such sum as said judge may approve conditioned for his appearance at the next Court of Quarter Sessions to answer the charge against him and abide the orders of the court in the premises meanwhile to be of good behavior and keep the peace or in default of such recognizance to be committed to the county jail to await such trial

Section 3503 If any person shall feel himself aggrieved by such conviction and sentenced before a judge as aforesaid he may appeal therefrom subject to the following conditions namely the appellant shall within seven (7) days after the decree has been made give notice to the prosecutor of his intention to appeal and within the same time enter into a recognizance with such surety or sureties and in such sum as shall be approved by said judge conditioned to appear and try such appeal before the next Court of Quarter Sessions of the peace and to abide the judgment of the court thereon and to pay all such costs and penalties as may be there awarded and upon compliance with such conditions the judge shall release the appellant from custody pending the appeal

Section 3504 Nothing in this act shall prevent any person from being indicted or liable under any other act to any higher penalty or punishment than is herein provided and if the court before which any such proceeding is had shall be of the opinion that proceedings ought to be taken against such persons under any other act or otherwise it may adjourn the case to enable such proceedings to be taken

Section 3505 All fines imposed under this act shall be paid into the county treasury for the use of the county

Section 3506 No conviction or acquittal under this act in any complaint shall be received in evidence upon the trial of any action for damages arising from the negligence of any owner operator or superintendent or employe of any mine or colliery

Section 3507 For any violation of duty by the mine inspector prescribed by this act he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than three hundred dollars ($300.00) or be imprisoned for a period not exceeding three (3) months either or both at the discretion of the court

Section 3508 The mine foreman and assistant mine foreman and any person placed in charge of the works or any part thereof shall be the agents of the owners and operators and such owners and operators shall employ them and discharge them at will

ARTICLE XXXVI

Effective Date

Section 3601 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment Provided however That a period of six (6) months shall be allowed for mine owners operators or superintendents to adapt their mines to comply with the changes made in the existing law by this act and that this time may be extended by the Secretary of Mines for a further period not exceeding six (6) months upon sufficient cause being shown by the owners operators or superintendents of their inability to comply with the provisions of this act within the time herein specified

ARTICLE XXXVII

Repealer

Section 3701 Repeals The following acts and parts of acts of assembly are hereby repealed as respectively indicated

The act approved the ninth day of May one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one hundred fifty-four) entitled "An act to provide for the recovery of the bodies of workmen enclosed buried or entombed in coal mines" insofar as it relates to anthracite mines

The act approved the second day of June one thousand eight hundred ninety-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith" and its amendments

The act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws one hundred fifty-seven) entitled "An act for the better protection of employes in and about the coal mines by preventing mine superintendents mine foremen and assistants from receiving or soliciting any sums of money or other valuable consideration from men while in their employ and providing a penalty for violation of the same" insofar as it relates to anthracite mines

The act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred one (Pamphlet Laws three hundred forty-two) entitled "An act relating to anthracite mines and providing for the care and life and attention of employes injured in and about said mines" and its amendments

The act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seventy) entitled "An act making the removing obliterating or destroying tickets cards tin-slip or other device used to indicate or to identify persons loading coal in cars from mine-cars a misdemeanor and providing penalty therefor" insofar as it relates to anthracite mines

The act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws one hundred two) entitled "An act to provide for the safety of persons employed in and about the anthracite coal-mines of this Commonwealth and to limit the hours of labor of hoisting-engineers employed at or about the same and fixing a penalty for the violation of this act"

The act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred seventy-nine) entitled "An act to safeguard life in the coal mines of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to protect and preserve the property connected therewith by providing that all inside buildings shall be constructed of incombustible material and providing penalties for failure to comply with the terms of this act and making a violation thereof by mine superintendents a misdemeanor" insofar as it relates to anthracite mines

The act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand thirty-eight) entitled "An act requiring any invididual firm or corporation mining anthracite coal in this Commonwealth where coal is mined and paid for by the car to keep a record of all coal mined at the miners' chutes where said coal is loaded in cars providing that said record shall be the final basis in computing the miners' earnings per car without any deduction for any slate or refuse that may be loaded in said car or cars in the usual and natural course of mining coal providing further that said record shall be open for the inspection of all miners and providing penalties for failure to comply with the provisions of this act"

The act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act providing for the appointment of a board of examiners to examine applicants for the office of inspector for the anthracite mines of this Commonwealth prescribing the qualifications defining the powers and duties and fixing the compensation of such examiners providing for the appointment and removal of inspectors of anthracite mines prescribing their qualifications and regulating their salaries and terms of office and abolishing the terms of office of the present mine inspectors of the anthracite mines"

All other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. HOWELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend section 303 (b), page 8, by adding after line 2 the following:

or they shall give to the Board satisfactory evidence of having had at least ten (10) years of practical experience in the Anthracite coal mines of this Commonwealth, five (5) years of which they shall have served as qualified mine foremen or qualified assistant mine foremen, possesing mine foremen's or assistant mine foremen's certificates and one year of which they shall have served as qualified coal miners, possessing miners' certificates engaged in the actual practice of cutting and blasting coal or rock at the face of a gangway, airway, breast, pillar or other working place in a mine and in performing such other work in such working places as is necessary for the extraction of coal.

Amend Section 304, page 9 so as to read as follows:

Section 304: Examination shall be in writing and the applicants who have made an average of at least (eighty) ninety per cent, including proper allowances for experience shall be deemed successful but in no case shall the allowances for experience be more than (twenty-five) fifteen per cent.

Amend Section 606, page 19, to read as follows:

Section 606: Certificates of qualification to mine foremen and assitant mine foremen in the anthracite mines shall be issued by the Secretary of Mines to each applicant who has passed a successful examination and has given satisfactory evidence of having had at least five (5) years practical experience (as a coal miner) in the anthracite mines of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and of good conduct capability and sobriety. Applicants shall be citizens of the United States and residents of the Commonwealth and be at least twenty-five years of age. The certificates shall be in such manner and form as shall be prescribed by the Secretary of Mines and a record of all certificates granted shall be kept in the Department of Mines. Each certificate shall contain the full name, age, and place of birth of the applicant and also the length and nature of his previous service in the mines. Before the examination for certificates of qualification to mine foremen and assistant mine foremen in the anthracite mines each applicant shall pay a fee of two dollars ($2.00) and each successful applicant shall pay an additionl fee of three dollars ($3.00) before receiving a certificate. The money thus received from applicants shall be transmitted to the Secretary of Mines to be deposited in the State Treasury. In case of loss or destruction of a certificate the Secretary of Mines shall upon the presentation of satisfactory evidence of loss or destruction issue a copy of the certificate to the original possessor on the payment of the sum of one dollar ($1.00).

Amend Section 701, page 21, to read as follows:

Section 701: It shall be the duty of every mine foreman on arrival at his office every morning without delay to make inquiry from his assistants as to the condition of the mine or part thereof under their charge and if any dangerous thing is reported to him by any assistant that may affect the safety of the workmen he shall have the same remedied without delay. If any dangerous condition is discovered by any assistant, he shall take immediate steps to correct the same and report the same to the Mine Foreman without delay.

Amend Section 706, page 23, to read as follows:

Section 706: (In all mines the mine foreman or his assistant shall make a careful examination every morning) In all gaseous (B and C Classes) mines, which in the opinion of the local Inspector require inspection, the Mine Foreman or his assistant or a competent person to be selected by the Mine Foreman, who in the opinion of the Mine Foreman is qualified to make the necessary examination of a working place or places, shall make a careful examination every morning of all working places and traveling roads and all other places which might endanger the safety of the workmen before the workmen shall enter the mine and such examination shall be made with a safety lamp within three (3) hours at most before time for commencing work and a workman shall not enter the mine or his working place until the said mine or part thereof and working place are reported to be safe. Every report shall be recorded without delay in a book which shall be kept at the colliery for the purpose and shall be signed by the person making the examination. Provided, That in cases of emergency as from sickness or other causes the mine foreman may designate a competent person to make such examinations.

Amend Section 708, pages 23-24, to read as follows:

Section 708: (A station or stations shall be established at the entrance to each mine or different parts of each mine as the case may require and a workman shall not pass beyond any such station until the mine or parts of the mine beyond the same have been inspected and reported to be safe. It shall be the duty of the mine foreman to designate some competent person or persons to stand guard at the station from the time that persons begin to enter the mine until the mine or part of the mine shall have been examined and reported to be safe and the said guard shall not allow any person to pass such station without permission from the mine foreman or the assistant foreman)

Section 708: It shall be the duty of the Mine Foreman to establish at the entrance to each Class B and C mines or at the entrance to such separate sections of such mines as may require it, a station or stations clearly barricaded and no workman shall pass beyond such barricade until the mine or that portion beyond such a clearly barricaded station has been inspected and reported to be safe.

Amend Section 710, page 24, to read as follows:

Section 710: (The mine foreman or his assistant shall visit and examine every working place in the mine every working day while the men of such place are or should)

Section 710: The Mine Foreman or his assistant shall visit and examine every working place in the mine every working day and if safe and practicable, this visit and examination shall be made while the men of such place are or should be at work and shall direct that each and every working place is properly secured by props or timber and that safety in all respects is assured by directing that all loose coal or rock shall be pulled down or secured and that no person shall be permitted to work in an unsafe place unless it be for the purpose of making it secure. Provided, however, that if the mine is idle (forty-eight (48) hours or more) the mine foreman or his assistant shall examine every working place (the day) three (3) hours before operations are resumed.

Amend Section 712, page 25, to read as follows:

Section 712: In every shaft or slope in which provision is made in this act for lowering and hoisting persons a headman and) or footman shall be designed by the superintendent or foreman to be at their proper places from the time that persons begin to descend until all the persons waiting on the surface shall have been lowered into the mine and likewise from the time that persons quitting work arrive at the bottom of the shaft or slope until they shall have been hoisted. Such headman or footman or both as the case may be shall personally attend to the signals and see that the provisions of this act in respect to lowering and hoisting persons in shafts and slopes shall be complied with.

Amend Section 904, page 35, to read as follows:

Section 904: When a miner or other workman is about to fire a blast he shall be careful to notify all persons who may be in danger therefrom and shall give sufficient alarm before firing any blast (and after igniting the match) by any means whatsoever so that any person or persons who may be approaching shall be warned of the danger.

Amend Section 910, page 37, to read as follows:

Section 910: In charging holes for blasting in coal slate or rock no miner or other workman in any mine shall use an iron or steel pointed needle. The end of (the) any metal tamping bar must be tipped with at least six (6) inches of copper or other soft metal. The hole must be large enough to admit freely the cartridge containing the explosive and in no case shall a tight cartridge be rammed into a hole.

Amend by adding new section on page 38, to read as follows:

Section 918: No workman shall pass a fenced off place, a fenced off traveling way, or a designated danger station unless accompanied by a colliery official or unless he has been directed by a colliery official to pass such place, fenced off traveling way, or such designated danger station, for the purpose of making such place or places safe.

Amend Section 1218, page 54, to read as follows:

Section 1218: No auxiliary or booster fan shall be allowed in any Class C mine unless a request in writing be made by the superintendent of such mine to the mine inspector of the district and permission granted by him to install such fan.

Amend Section 1219, page 54, to read as follows:

Section 1219: Auxiliary (or booster) fans driven by electric power shall not be used in gaseous mines (C class) unless the motors of such fans are enclosed in explosion proof casings approved by the United States Bureau of Mines. All such fans must be located so that there shall be maintained at all times a positive separation of inlet and outlet air currents.

Amend Section 1220, page 55, to read as follows:

Section 1220: (All main fans used to ventilate gaseous mines (both B and C classes) shall be operated continuously if for any reason except repairs it is desired to stop such fan or fans the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or mines shall first make a request in writing to the inspector of the district and he may grant or refuse such request. During any period in which repairs are being made to any such fan or fans or in which for any reason any such fans are stopped no person or persons except those necessary to make examinations for gas and operate pumps shall be allowed in any such gaseous mine or mines. All such examinations shall be made with an approved safety lamp.

Section 1220: All main fans used to ventilate gaseous mines shall be operated continuously when necessary for the safety of the men employed therein and when the Mine Inspector so orders. During any period in which repairs are being made to any such fan or fans or for any reason, any such fans are stopped, no person or persons shall be allowed in any gaseous part of said mine except for the purpose of making examinations and observations of gaseous conditions. All such examinations shall be made with an approved safety lamp.

Section 1221: (Whenever a gaseous mine (both B and C Classes) suspends operations temporarily and the ventilating fans continue to operate the mine shall be examined at least once a week in the same manner as if in operation and report of such examination shall be made in the colliery report book and signed by the person making the examination)

Section 1221: Whenever a mine suspends operations temporarily and is being maintained in readiness for operation, the mine shall be examined at least once a week in the same manner as if in operation and a report of such examination shall be made in the colliery report book and signed by the person making the examination.

Amend Section 1222, page 55, to read as follows:

Section 1222: (All main fans used to ventilate (A class) mines shall be operated continuously. If for any reason except repairs it is desired to stop such fan or fans the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or mines shall first make request in writing to the mine inspector of the district and he may grant or refuse such request.)

Section 1222: When non-gaseous (Class A) mines in which mining has been suspended and fans stopped during such idle periods, before such mine or mines resume mining, all such fans shall be put in operation at least twelve (12) hours before work is resumed. An examination of all working places, haulage roads, traveling roads, etc., shall be made before the men are allowed to enter the mine.

Amend Section 1504, page 59, to read as follows:

Section 1504: In gaseous mines (C class) high voltage transmision cables shall be installed in the intake airways or in bore holes provided such bore holes are in or (connected to intake airways) connected to intake airways unless specific permission to install high voltage cables has been given by the Inspector in writing and in response to a specific written request.

Amend 1507, page 59, to read as follows:

Section 1507: (In underground stations where switchboards are installed there shall be a passageway in front and in the rear of the switchboard not less than three (3) feet in the clear.

When medium voltage is used insulating floors or mats shall be provided where live metal work is on the front of the board. When high voltage is used unless installed in a locked room to which only authorized persons are admitted all live metal parts on the front of the main switchboard within seven (7) feet of the floor or platform shall be guarded so as to prevent persons from coming in contact with such live parts. The floor back of the board shall be made of incombustible material and be insulated.

Section 1507: In underground stations where switchboards are installed there shall be a passageway in front of the switchboard not less than three (3) feet in the clear. The rear of said switchboard must be fenced off so that there is no passageway in the rear, or if this be impracticable any such passageway must be three (3) feet in the clear.

When medium voltage is used insulating floors or mats shall be provided where live metal work is on the front of the board. When high voltage is used, unless installed in a locked room to which only authorized persons are admitted, all live metal parts on the front of the main switchboard within seven (7) feet of the floor or platform shall be guarded so as to prevent persons from coming in contact with such live parts. The floor back of the board shall be made of incombustible material. Provided, however, that this section does not apply to switchboards now in service or extensions thereof.

Section 1527: (Where electric transformers are located on the outside there shall be provided walkways or platforms around such structures so that examinations and inspections can be made of the same.

All such transformers within eight (8) feet of the ground shall be protected by fencing such fencing to be of a height that will prevent persons from inadvertently coming in contact with the transformers within.)

Section 1527: Where electric transformers are located on the outside and mounted on steel structures there shall be provided proper walkways or platforms so that examinations or inspections of the same can be made. All transformers within eight (8) feet of the ground shall be protected by fencing, such fencing to be of a height that will prevent persons from inadvertently coming in contact with same.

Amend Section 1528, page 65, to read as follows:

Section 1528: At all surface plants of collieries and in all mines where electric power is used adequate switches shall be provided at the points where it may (be necessary to turn power on or off. Such switches except those on D C feeder or trolley circuits shall be so arranged that they can be operated only from without the box when the latter is completely closed) SC be necessary to turn power on or off. Such switches, except high voltage air brake and disconnecting switches, and those on D C feeder or on trolley circuits, shall be so arranged that they can be operated only from and without the box when the latter is completely closed.

Amend Section 1701, page 67, to read as follows:

Section 1701: It shall be unlawful to operate any anthracite mine in the State of Pennsylvania employing more than (ten (10)) five (5) persons unless said mine is provided with a sufficient quantity of medical supplies bandages liens splints woolen and waterproof blankets. The mine foreman or his assistant shall keep a record showing the required articles on hand. Said articles shall be stored in rooms erected at a convenient place in the mine and on the surface which rooms shall not be less than eight by twelve feet and sufficiently furnished lighted clean and ventilated so that therein medical treatment may be given injured employes in case of emergency. The furnishings shall be sufficient to accommodate two or more persons in a reclining and sitting posture. In mines where five (5) men or less are employed there shall be kept at such mines first aid kits so that first aid to the injured may be rendered in case of necessity.

Section 2801: All boilers used for generating steam in and about mines and collieries shall be kept in good (condition) order and the owner operator or superintendent shall have them examined and inspected by a qualified (inspector properly certified by the Commonwealth) person as often as once in six (6) months and oftener if necessary. The result of such examination under oath shall be certified in writing to the inspector for the district within thirty (30) days thereafter.

Amend Section 2901, page 84, to read as follows:

Section 2901: [It shall be the duty of the owner operator superintendent or mine foreman of every mine to furnish to the miners all props cap ties rails and timbers] timbers and other materials necessary for the safe mining of coal suitably prepared and delivered to the workmen as near to their working places as they can be conveyed in ordinary mine cars free of charge and where the mine car cannot reach the foot of a working place such [timber] material shall be conveyed there by other means. Where cap pieces are used they shall be at least eighteen (18) inches long two (2) inches thick and wide enough to cover the end of the props]

Section 2901: It shall be the duty of the owner, operator, superintendent or mine foreman of every mine to furnish to the miners all props, ties, rails and timbers necessary for the safe mining of coal and for the protection of the lives of the workmen. Such props, ties, rails, and timbers shall be suitably prepared and shall be delivered to the workmen as near to their working places as they can be conveyed in ordinary mine cars free of charge.

Section 3115: (No one other than the person or persons necessary for the transportation of explosives shall be in or on the conveyance transporting them. Such conveyance shall be properly insulated in all mines using electricity.)

Amend Section 3117, page 91, to read as follows:

Section 3117: A gangway or other working place from which chambers are driven or long wall mining is done in a low coal seam shall have a traveling way on one side of same at least three (3) feet wide and five (5) feet high. Chambers or other places driven from such gangways shall not be more than (two hundred and fifty (250) three hundred (300) feet long unless provided with a traveling way at least three (3) feet wide and three and one-half (3½) feet high.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT, Taking judicial notice that there is no quorum, the motion is not accepted.

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, I understand that one of the Senators desires to present an amendment to a bill, and it seems to me that we have been here for a time, in which to permit another amendment to be presented for some other bill, and I think in all fairness we should allow this Senator to present this amendment before we adjourn.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, The Chair has already ruled that there is not a quorum here, so that we cannot consider any motion to amend a bill anyways.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I rise to a point or order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, will state his point of order.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, my point of order is that the Chair should not so rule because no member from the floor suggested the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that he can take judicial notice to the fact that a quorum is not present.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, the motion to adjourn is not debatable.

The PRESIDENT. That is true.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, to keep the records straight for future proceedings, I would suggest that the Chair has no way of determining that there is not a quorum unless the roll is called.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I ask for a call of the house.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will poll the Senate.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, will state his point of order.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the motion to adjourn the Senate is not amendable and not debatable.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair did not receive the motion. There was a motion pending before the second motion by the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, and the Senator from Lancaster, Mr. Homsher. It seems to the Chair, the vote on the motion to adjourn would determine the issue.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, it would.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the Chair will put the motion to adjourn.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Frey, will state his point of order.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, my point of order is that I made a motion for a call of the House.

The PRESIDENT. The parliamentary situation was that there was a motion pending to adjourn before the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Frey, asked for a poll of the Senate.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Lancaster will state his point of order.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, my point of order is that it requires four members of the Senate to make a call of the House.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order to bring the thing to an issue, or the issue rather to a vote, I move the previous question.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett will state his point of order.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, there has been a motion made to adjourn, which has been seconded, and that has been the only thing that is in order, and I ask that the motion be voted upon.

The PRESIDENT. The motion was to adjourn to a definite time and that motion is debatable, that is what we are hearing at the moment.

POINT OF LEGISLATIVE INQUIRY.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I rise to a point of legislative inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Mercer. Mr. Law, will state his point of legislative inquiry.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, was this motion to adjourn to a definite time or was it simply an adjournment motion?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, Monday evening, 9:00 o'clock, was the motion in accordance with the resolution previously passed by this Senate.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, when a motion is made that is debatable and there is a call for the previous question, that previous question becomes the next question before the house?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair thinks it is far fetched.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LAW. Mr. Presidest, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law. will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, my question of parliamentary inquiry is whether in the present case we are voting whether the previous motion shall be put, or whether we are voting on the motion.

The PRESIDENT. The previous question, if put, would be the motion to adjourn, that is the previous question.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, this is an affirmative motion, and I inquire whether a vote 'aye' means that the previous question shall be put.

The PRESIDENT. I would say that the motion is a neutral motion, rather than an affirmative or a positive motion.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, may I ask why the motion to adjourn is not put to the Senate?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has been listening to debate on parliamentary inquiry and a lot of motions, all of which has constituted a part of the debate on the original motion. The motion to adjourn at a definite date is debatable.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, there is no debate, why cannot we have a roll call on it?

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, if they desire to debate, I am willing to talk on any particular point, and I will ask the members, in view of the fact that the 4th of July comes on Sunday, we should go into this question at great length, and consider it fully, irrespective of party privilege and everything else. I think we should proceed to consider this, and I would suggest that if it is necessary that a committee of legislative inquiry be appointed to go into this question as to whether we may adjourn to a particular time without debate or with debate, or with a particular date specified, or whether it should be necessary.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that the Senator from Mercer shall have his fifteen minutes, I will ask to tell a few stories myself on why we should not adjourn from now until the 1st or 4th of July, which he is speaking about or that we should adjourn on Monday night, but in order to bring this to a point, I call for the previous question.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, will state his point of order.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, my point of order is that there is no motion for the previous question.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, there is a motion before the Senate, and I ask for a roll call on the motion.

The motion is to adjourn until next Monday evening, at 9:00 o'clock. The Chair is not going to stultify himself by withholding action on the motion unless there is debate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A division being called for 13 Senators voted in the affirmative and 5 in the negative, whereupon the question was decided in the affirmative.

The Senate adjourned at 8:27 o'clock p. m. until Monday evening, May 24, 1937, at 9:00 o'clock p. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

FRIDAY, MAY 21, 1937

The House met at 12:00 noon.
The SPEAKER (Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EPHRAIM Z. GALLAHER, offered the following prayer:

Our heavenly Father, we believe in the efficacy of prayer. Thus it is that we call upon Thee to direct our actions this day. It is fitting and proper that we begin our daily session with prayer, but may we keep in mind that he prayeth best who liveth best; that prayer is not words of rhetorical beauty. It is a life fashioned after Thy will and purpose. So may we always pray.

In Christ's name Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when on motion of Mr. WATKINS, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. HERING. RESOLUTION No. 92.

In the House of Representatives, May 19, 1937.

Whereas, In the City of Philadelphia, there are many districts that are densely populated; and

Whereas, In many of these districts, not only are the housing conditions unsafe, but there are no playgrounds or recreation centers in which the children might play; and

Whereas, In one district of Philadepphia, comprising of the thirty-first ward, there are crowded together many thousands of people in a comparatively small area, and within that district there exists not a single playground or recreation center for the children; and

Whereas, In the above-mentioned ward, there is a very large percentage of accidents involving children, and it is the opinion of many persons that the source of these accidents is due to overcrowding and the absence of playgrounds and recreation centers in this district; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania hereby urge the Mayor and the Council of the City of Philadelphia to make an immediately survey of these needs and to institute a broad program of playground and recreation center construction at the earliest possible date; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent, by the Chief Clerk of the House, to the Mayor and to the Secretary of the Council of the City of Philadelphia.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1301, entitled:

An Act authorizing vaudeville exhibitions in conjunction with moving picture exhibitions in certain cities boroughs towns or townships where the voters have approved the exhibition of moving pictures on Sundays

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That if the voters of any city borough town or township shall have voted in favor of motion picture exhibitions on Sundays under the provisions of any act of this Commonwealth then in such city borough town or township any person copartnership association or corporation engaged in conducting staging managing or operating a motion picture exhibition may in conjunction therewith conduct and stage a vaudeville exhibit providing such exhibit does not exceed the length of time given to the exhibition of motion pictures and that such vaudeville exhibition shall be given alternately with motion pictures during each and every performance

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 15, by inserting after the part word "formance" the following:

Provided, That a majority of the voters of the city, borough, town or township shall have first voted in favor of vaudeville exhibitions on Sundays as hereinafter provided.

Section 2. At the primary election in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven, there shall be submitted, in the manner provided by the election laws of the Commonwealth, upon petition to the county commissioners by the city or borough council or by the township commissioners or supervisors, or upon petition to county commisioners by electors equal to at least five per centum of the highest vote cast for any candidate in the municipality at the last preceding general election, a question to determine the will of the electors, of each municipality in this Commonwealth, so petitioning, with respect to vaudeville exhibitions. Such question shall be in the following form:

Do you favor the conducting, staging, operating and exhibiting of vaudeville regardless of whether an admission charge is made or incidental thereto or whether labor or business is necessary to conduct, stage, operate or exhibit the same after two o'clock post meridian, on Sunday?	Yes
	No

The said question shall be printed on separate official ballots, in bound form, by the county commissioners of each county, and sufficient number of ballots shall be furnished to the election officers in each election district of each municipality so that one ballot may be supplied to each voter at such election. In districts where voting machines are used, such question shall appear on the face of the machine where the machine is properly equipped for such purposes.

Section 3. The votes cast on such question shall be counted by the election officers and returns thereof made by them, and by election officers where voting machines are used, to the prothonotary of the county, who shall lay the same before the return board for computation at the same time and in the same manner as other returns. Such election shall be governed by the election laws of the Commonwealth, and all penalties provided by said laws shall apply to such elections. The return board shall compute the said returns by municipalities, and certify the results of the vote cast on the question to the acting chief executive officer of each municipality affected.

If at the election in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven, where any such election was held as herein provided, a majority of the electors in any municipality voting at said election vote in favor of vaudeville exhibitions on Sunday after the hour of two o'clock post meridian, then upon the certification of such election return to the acting chief executive officer of such municipality, as is provided in this section, it shall thereafter be lawful to conduct, stage, manage, operate or engage in vaudeville exhibitions from and after the hour of two o'clock post meridian, on Sunday.

The right to conduct, stage, manage, operate or engage in such vaudeville exhibitions shall be subject only to those rules and regulations which govern vaudeville exhibitions on days of the week other than Sunday.

If the vote of the electors in the municipality was not in favor of vaudeville exhibitions or if no such election was held, then it shall be unlawful to conduct, stage, manage, operate or engage in such vaudeville exhibitions to which an admission charge is made or is incidental after two o'clock post meridian, on Sunday.

Section 4. In any municipality the will of the electors with respect to the conducting, staging and exhibiting of vaudeville on Sunday may, after the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven but not oftener than once in five years, be ascertained, and the question as provided in section two of this act, shall be submitted to the electors of any municipality upon demand in writing of petitioners equal to at least five per centum of the highest vote cast for any candidate in the municipality at the last preceding general or municipal election. Such petition shall be filed with the corporate authorities at least thirty (30) days before the day of any primary, general or municipal election at which the question is to be submitted, and, if the petition is signed by the requisite number of petitioners, it shall thereupon be certified to the county commissioners, who shall cause such question to be submitted in the same manner as is provided in this act for the primary election in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven.

If the majority of the voters, in any municipality are not in favor of such exhibitions, then upon the certification of such election return to the acting chief executive officer of such municipality, as is provided in section three of this act, it shall thereafter be unlawful to conduct, stage, manage, operate or engage in such exhibitions after two o'clock post meridian, on Sunday; but if a majority of the electors in any such municipality which has not heretofore permitted such vaudeville exhibitions after two o'clock post meridian, on Sunday; but if a majority of the electors in any such municipality which has not heretofore permitted such vaudeville exhibitions after two o'clock post meridian, on Sunday, or which has not theretofore voted on such question are in favor of such exhibitions then upon the certification of such fact to the acting chief executive officer of such municipality, as is provided in section three of this act, such exhibition shall thereafter be lawful.

Section 5. It is the intent of this act to provide a method whereby the will of the electors of each municipality with respect to vaudeville exhibitions, together with orchestral or other instrumental musical or mechanical musical accompaniment, prelude, playing or selection in connection with or incidental thereto after two o'clock post meridian on Sunday may be ascertained.

Section 6. The provisions of this act are severable, and if any of the provisions are held to be unconstitutional, the decision shall not be construed to impair any other provision of this act. It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included herein.

Section 7. Section one of the act, approved the twenty-second day of April, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-four (3 Smith Laws 177), entitled "An act for the prevention of vice and immorality and of unlawful gaming, and to restrain disorderly sports and dissipation," be, and the same is hereby, repealed in so far as it prohibits vaudeville exhibitions and any orchestral or other instrumental musical or mechanical musical accompaniment, prelude, playing or selection in connection with or incidental thereto. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith be, and the same are hereby, repealed.

On the question,

MOTION TO POSTPONE BILL

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to make a brief statement as to the purpose of my motion.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Delaware, the bill has already passed second reading.

STATEMENT BY MR. TURNER

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker, I do not have the actual bill before me, but the bill seems to be very loosely drawn, and there are some provisions in this bill that would throw the buying of material wide open. I think the bill should be amended. I discussed the bill with some of the men on the other side of the House the other day, but in the rush overlooked it.

This bill is loosely drawn and would throw wide open the supplying of material to others. I think the words "to others" are used, while the intent is, for the public schools, it would open the doors, it seems to me, so wide to abuse that the bill should be amended.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion to place this bill on the postponed calendar.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation for the purpose of further study and amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HERBERT B COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I offer amendments to section one.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, is that the wrong Printer's number?

The SPEAKER. The correct Printer's No. is 1075.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the calendar showed the wrong Printer's number yesterday, and I called the Chair's attention to that. The bill did not come up until this morning, and I had no opportunity to look at it. We did not then know that the Printer's number was wrong, and I object to the consideration of this bill at this time.

The SPEAKER. How many members do not have this bill on file, Printer's No. 1075?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, it is not so much a matter of its not being on file, I have amendments which I probably want to prepare to this bill, and I had no opportunity to know what the Printer's number was until the present moment.

MOTION TO POSTPONE BILL

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the second reading postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, haven't amendments already been offered to the bill?

The SPEAKER. Amendments have been offered.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Chair what will become of the amendments if the motion of the gentleman from Dauphin to place the bill on the postponed calendar prevails?

The SPEAKER. In reply to the gentleman from York, the motion to postpone precludes amendment, and if the motion to postpone prevails the amendments will be returned to the sponsor of the amendments until the bill is called up from the postponed calendar, inasmuch as the amendments have not been read and placed before the House.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, under that ruling I will be forced to object at this time to place this bill on the postponed calendar.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "nays" appear to have it.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I second the call.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Bedford will state his question of information.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, did not the Chair rule yesterday that a roll call was not in order after an announcement of the vote.

The SPEAKER. The result of the vote has not been announced. The Chair did rule that way.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LOPRESTI and Mr. O'CONNOR and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN offered the following reason for his vote:

I desire to file the following reasons for voting in the affirmative on postponing House Bill No. 1817, Printer's No. 1075.

I know that many amendments are to be offered, and that probably will entail debate at length. The calendar is heavy and time is short and other important legislation might be adversely affected. I favor the amendments being thrashed out in committee.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HARRY T. MATTHEWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments to section 1.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments to this section.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments to this section.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker have the amendments offered by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, been read?

The SPEAKER. No amendments have been read.

Mr. ROTHENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments to this section.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments to this section.

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments to this section.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker in view of the fact that there have been so many amendments offered from the floor, and in view of the fact that we on this side have amendments to offer, which I presume make quite a change in the bill, will the gentleman not consent to send this bill either back to the committee or put it on the postponed calendar, or pass it over in order so that all of these amendments can be carefully considered? It is going to take a considerable amount of time to go through them, and to do it hurriedly on the floor of the House does not seem to me to be quite fair. The gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, has control of the machinery, and he can speed it on its way without much difficulty.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the interrogation of the gentleman from Delaware, in which he indicates that I have control of the machinery, if that is the fact, I would ask the gentleman from Delaware to prevail upon his members to withdraw all their amendments and assume a fatalistic attitude, because his amendments are going out and ours are going in, and we might as well settle that question now. Under the circumstances I do not feel that the bill should be recommitted to the committee or in any manner delayed in its passage. The matter is before the House and has been discussed in and out of the committee since the beginning of this session, and the only way we can determine these issues is by a vote of the House, and if the House feels that they desire to insert these amendments they will be inserted and if the House feels that they should not be inserted they will not be inserted, but any delay to the bill will be detrimental to its final passage, and inasmuch as the session is passing along towards its close, I will ask the members of the House to assiduously apply themselves to their duties and thus expedite the work of the session.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman from York assure us that this House will adjourn on the 28th of May?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that interrogation I would say so far as the House is concerned, speaking for the House, we are in position as far as the work of the House is concerned to adjourn on the 28th of May.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, further whether he has any knowledge as to whether there has been a decision among the leaders of the Democratic party that we will adjourn on the 28th of May.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware I will say that the concurrent resolution having passed the House and the Senate indicating that adjournment will be had on the 28th of May, I have not been informed of any other date of adjournment.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, it sounds like a Chinaman's answer. Is it "yes" or "no."

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I think the question the gentleman from Delaware asked me was for information from the leaders—

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman if there had been a decision.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I have heard of no decision among the leaders. As the gentleman from Delaware well knows the date of final adjournment is solely within the power of the House and the Senate and will not require consultation with the leaders.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, if I could step down for a moment from a dignified position, I would like to say in the language of the day, the current slang of the day, "Oh yeah."

I would like to ask the gentleman from York, Mr. Speaker, whether he does not feel that we could approach this matter more intelligently if we could have the amendments taken up in committee rather than on the floor of the House?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware, I would say that there is also an old adage, that two heads are better than one, and I believe that two hundred eight heads are possibly better than the membership of the committee.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I think that is true, but there is also an old saying that two cabbage heads are better than one.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, he might have said that too many cooks spoil the broth.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, might I ask the gentleman from York whether he does not understand that the Printer's number as given on the calendar today was the wrong printer's number, and that the bill as it is now before the House, Printer's No. 1075, has only been on the desks of the members for a very short time this morning.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, that is very true, but the mere fact that so many amendments have been offered would clearly indicate that the members who desire to offer amendments have had ample opportunity in which so to do.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his question of information.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, have all the amendments now been offered?

The SPEAKER. Amendments have been submitted by several members of the House.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman from York submitted amendments?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York has submitted amendments.

MOTION TO LAY ON THE TABLE

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the amendments be laid upon the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNER and Mr. SPROUL and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his question of information.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know whether a motion to lay the amendments on the table will be in order at this time?

The SPEAKER. In reply to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, the Chair will state that a motion such as the gentleman suggests would be in order. However, the Chair feels that it would be futile to submit such a motion, due to the fact that the previous motion included the bill and the amendments.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as the Constitution provides for a method of re-apportioning the State according to the population—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. JAMES W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. JAMES W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, there is nothing in order but the action of the House on the amendments of the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. The point of order of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Patterson, is not well taken, for the reason that the question before the House is on section 1 of the bill. The gentleman has submitted a question of information relative to a privileged motion in connection with the consideration of this section of the bill. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, will proceed.

MOTION TO TABLE

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as the Constitution provides that the State shall be re-apportioned according to population and sets up rather an intricate manner in which those districts shall be set up, I now move you that these amendments be placed upon the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

DIVISION OF QUESTION

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a division of the question. More than one group of amendments having been offered, the question will be on each set of amendments as a separate group, I therefore ask that the question be divided.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York asks that the question be divided.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker is the gentleman, as a matter of right able to demand a division of the question, or does he have to ask the consent of the House?

The SPEAKER. In reply to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, the Chair believes that the member does have the right to call for a division of the question. In support of this belief the Chair will read Rule No. 69, "Division of the Question. Any member may call for the division of a question, which shall be divided, if it comprehends questions so distinct, that one being taken away, the rest may stand entire for the decision of the House."

MOTION TO TABLE ALL AMENDMENTS

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the motion include all amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules the motion of the gentleman from Delaware out of order for the reason that it is taking away the right of a member to a division of the question under the rule just read.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his question of information.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, what is the number of the rule just read?

The SPEAKER. Rule 69.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE

Mr. TURNER. I move that Rule No. 69 be suspended for the specific purpose of preventing the question on the motion made by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, from being divided.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I had intended to rise to a point of order. The motion made by the gentleman from Delaware did not indicate for what purpose his motion had been made. However, the Speaker corrected the motion of the gentleman from Delaware so that it might comply with the parliamentary rules.

The SPEAKER. The Chair took it for granted that that was the purpose of the gentleman from Delaware.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, what is the status of the motion made by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti?

The SPEAKER. In reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tumelty, final action on the motion of the gentleman from Cambria depends upon the action taken by the House on the request of the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, to divide the question and on the motion of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, a motion to lay on the table is not debatable by any member, is it?

The SPEAKER. A motion to lay on the table is not debatable.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, in the opinion of the Chair, a motion to change the motion to lay on the table, is that debating the question?

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that it is not.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I will abide by the decision of the Chair.

STATEMENT BY MR. TURNER

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker, on the motion which I have just made, to suspend the rule for the purpose of considering these amendments together, I think it is only fair to point out to the House that the members may not have exactly caught the purpose of the request of the gentleman from York. If we consider separately the individual amendments they may all be left on the table and the gentleman from York will then be in position to have only his amendments considered. It seems to me in fairness to the men who have submitted amendments that they ought to have a chance to have action upon them in the House.

STATEMENT BY MR. HERBERT B. COHEN

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker, I might say that if the gentleman from Delaware desires to be fair, and the member who made the motion to put all of the amendments on the table also desires to be fair, they can withdraw the motion to lay all of the amendments on the table, and we can fight these amendments out on the floor of the House. I wish to call the attention of the gentleman from Delaware to the fact that I did not make the motion to lay the amendments on the table.

STATEMENT BY MR. LOPRESTI

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker, I made the motion and I still insist that this House cannot intelligently vote on the amendments for the reason that the census figures for each district must be taken into consideration, and we cannot vote on this intelligently in this House. It requires more study than we can give to them during this session.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to suspend Rule 69?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CAESAR and Mr. WOOD and were as follows:

YEAS—49

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

The SPEAKER. At the request of the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, that the motion of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, be divided, the question will be divided.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the motion to lay the amendments, submitted by the gentleman from York, on the table.

The SPEAKER declared the "nays" appear to have it.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I don't think the members of the House clearly comprehend the statement of the question. Will the Chair please restate the question.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, has a decision been announced by the Chair?

The SPEAKER. A decision has not been announced by the Chair.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, when the Chair has announced a decision, has any member the right to ask for a re-statement of the question?

The SPEAKER. If the Chair had made a decision the decision would have stood, but the Chair has not made a decision.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, may I ask what the Speaker did announce?

The SPEAKER. "The 'nays' appear to have it."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to lay the amendments submitted by the gentleman from York on the table?

The motion was not agreed to.

The amendments submitted by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 9, line 16, by striking out the word "four" and inserting in lieu thereof "three"

Amend sec. 1, page 9, line 23, by striking out the words "two members" and inserting in lieu thereof "one member"

Amend sec. 1, page 9, line 25, by striking out the word "two" and inserting in lieu thereof "five"

Amend sec. 1, page 10, lines 16, 17 and 18, by striking out the words "The remainder of the county of Delaware shall constitute the second district and elect four members"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, is there not now undisposed of on the table a motion to lay several amendments on the table?

The SPEAKER. The motion to lay these amendments on the table was divided. We are acting upon the amendments submitted by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, and when they are disposed of we will take up the amendments submitted by other members.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, would it be proper to dispose of the motion to lay on the table before taking up any of the amendments and voting upon them, with so many amendments undisposed of.

The SPEAKER. The question has been divided and we will take up in order the various amendments submitted by other members of the House.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to argue with the Chair, but there was a motion to lay a certain group of amendments on the table.

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the question was then divided.

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that meant that a vote should be taken to lay on the table each one of these amendments separately.

The SPEAKER. That is what the Chair intends to do.

Mr. WOODSIDE. But no business should intervene, because you cannot proceed normally with any subsidiary motion that might be made on any one amendment because you always have a motion before the House to lay upon the table.

REQUEST TO WITHDRAW MOTION

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion to lay the amendments on the table.

The SPEAKER. The request of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, comes too late. Part of the question has already been decided.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, the question having been divided, can I withdraw the remainder of the motion?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my opposition.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin Mr. Woodside withdraws his opposition to proceeding with the question as we are proceeding. The question before the House is on the amendments offered by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

DIVISION OF QUESTION

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a division of the question to consider first the amendments on page 9, line 16, lines 16 and 23, those pertaining to Dauphin County and those pertaining to Delaware County.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, asks a division of the amendments submitted by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen. The Chair will divide the question.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a further division of the question by separating the amendments as to line 16 from the amendments made to line 23.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, and the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside come, to the desk.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, in consideration of an understanding that I shall be permitted to offer an amendment in case the amendments of the gentleman from York are adopted, relating to Dauphin County, I withdraw my request for a further division of the question on the amendments of the gentleman from York.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, withdraws his request for a division of the amendments referring to Dauphin County. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner has asked for a division of the amendments offered by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen. The amendments to be considered as to the counties which they affect. The question will be divided and we will consider first the amendments affecting Dauphin County, which the Clerk will read.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 9, line 16, by striking out the word "four" and inserting in lieu thereof "three"

Amend sec. 1, page 9, line 23, by striking out the words "two members" and inserting in lieu thereof "one member"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this amendment proposes to reduce the number of representatives in the General Assembly from Dauphin County—

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, the motion before the House, which is divided, is a question to lay on the table and is not debatable.

The SPEAKER. The question before the House at the present time is the amendment submitted by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen. The motion to lay on the table was divided. The first part of the question has been decided. The amendments are now before the House. After these are disposed of we will proceed with the other parts of the question.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I must plead ignorance.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the question, as I understand it which is now before the House of Representatives is whether or not Dauphin County will have four representatives in the General Assembly as they have at the present time. The amendment which was proposed by the gentleman from York would reduce the number of representatives from four to three. Dauphin County has had four members in the General Assembly for a number of years. This is 1937, which is seven years after the last census was made. The last census of Dauphin county showed a population of 165,231. Of that number 80,339 were from the cities and 84,892 were from the rural districts or the second district of Dauphin County.

I might state that the county is divided into two districts composed of first, the City of Harrisburg as one district, and secondly all of the rest of the county as the second district. During the present time and for some years past, the first district, or the City of Harrisburg, has been entitled to two members and the second district or the district outside of the City of Harrisburg, frequently referred to as the county district or the country district is also entitled to two members. The ration which I understand has been used to make the distribution was 48,156. Any county is entitled to one member for that number of population or half thereof. Dauphin County comes within 3,306 of having half thereof which would give them the fourth member under the ratio. The very unfair part to Dauphin County can very easily be shown. Here we have a population in the city of 80,000, and in the country nearly 85,000. Now, if the city is to have two members and the rural districts only one members, I need say nothing but point out how unfair that is and how the representation will not be as it should be. On the other hand, if the country districts were to have the two members and the City district one member the country district would still have a somewhat disproportionate representation in proportion to that which the city has.

The County of Dauphin, I feel, under the circumstances, as they exist, is really entitled to four members, and we are very much interested in having four members. As a matter of fact, as the bill now stands, we were very definitely given to understand by both the Republicans and the Democrats that Dauphin County was to continue to have four members, and now an amendment has been introduced to reduce it to three. Action would have been taken in the committee, probably, other than the action that was taken on this bill by the members from Dauphin had there not been that very definite understanding, that the county was to continue to have four members. I think it is very unfair that the amendments as written by the gentleman from York should give the rural district one member and the city district two members. If it is necessary to cut the county to three members, then it should be the city who loses its one member, but I think under all the circumstances it is no more than fair that Dauphin County should continue to have the four representatives that it has had in this House. I ask the members to vote down this part of the amendment.

Mr. SPENGLER. Mr. Speaker, this is the time when a Republican from one county and a Democrat from the same county are going to agree. We are absolutely opposed to losing one member of the four that we have in Dauphin County. Therefore I rise to oppose this amendment and I hope that my Democratic friends will help to vote down this amendment affecting Dauphin County. I would like to say further, however, that during the last Presidential election, Dauphin County, poled more than 4,000 Democratic votes over the Republican votes, so I think my Democratic friends are going to appreciate that and go along with the Republican members for Dauphin County.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we are here attempting to perform a function that the Legislature has been derelict in performing for the past six or seven years. Naturally a bill such as this is going to call forth all the personal interests of the members of the House. However, we have imposed upon us a constitutional responsibility relative to the apportionment of this Commonwealth.

The gentleman from Dauphin finds fault due to the fact that with a population of 165,000, which is some 3,000 short of the number required to have four members, that they should not be placed in a position whereby they have but three members. To allow that inequity to exist is not only unfair to all of the other counties of the State in general, but it is undesirable and unjustifiable to any other number of counties, and I need go no further than the adjoining County of York which I represent, wherein the population of the County of York is not 165,000, but 167,000, and we by this act have been restricted to three members. Because Dauphin County for the past number of years has been able to have a larger representation than their population justified is no reason why that inequitable representation should continue. Because Dauphin County possibly has been able to prevent a Legislative apportionment of this Commonwealth in order to continue that unjustifiable representation is no reason why we as members of this House should continue that. If it is fair for Dauphin County to have four members representing them in the House of Representatives, it is equally fair to have the adjoining County of York have four members representing them, but York is limited in its representation to three members, and that limitation is imposed upon the County of York, not by the will of its members, I assure you, but by the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and that same constitutional limitation must and should apply to each and every county of this Commonwealth irrespective of how close they are to receiving another additional member.

The gentleman who represents the County of Cambria might come into this House and complain that their representation is being cut, and it is for the simple reason that their population does not come up to the required proportionate amount. The men who represent the County of Luzerne have a justifiable complaint, for unless you take away from the counties that have the smaller population and give it to the counties that have the larger population you will be unable to equitably eradicate this disproportionate representation that is now existing in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I ask the members of the House, not only as a duty, fair to all the membership of Pennsylvania, but I ask the membership of this House as an obligation under our Constitution to insert the amendments that are now before the House.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, whether he is familiar with the decision of the Supreme Court in cases where a Legislature failed to do that which the Constitution requires it to do.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, inform us what it is.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the same rule will apply to that, the same question has been raised relative to the time-lock provision of the Constitution. Prior acts have indicated that legislative apportionment should be made immediately after the convening of the Legislature following the decennial census. However, for three sessions of the Legislature the Assembly has been derelict in its duties, and I say to the gentleman from Cambria and to the membership of this House that the problem can be renewed and decided anew by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania under the rule of law pertaining to stare decisis, not being applicable to Constitutional questions.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I am reading from the Pennsylvania State Reports No. 259, page 165, and I shall ask the gentleman from York whether he has any law to the contrary: "It is always to be presumed that the Legislature performs the duties enjoined upon it by the Constitution, and when a session immediately succeeding a decennial census is allowed to pass without the enactment of a judicial proportionment act, a fair presumption is that the Legislature intended to re-adopt the existing judicial apportionment for the succeeding ten years, but by this first meeting, the Legislature not having passed a judicial apportionment act at the session of 1911, the judicial districts of the State as now constituted must continue until the session of 1921."

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I will answer that the only law to the contrary that I have is the law of equity and fair play. The only law I have is for the last six or seven years possibly the previous general assemblies have been derelict in their duties.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from York will permit me to read—

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that I am being further interrogated by the gentleman from Cambria.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of that opinion.

Mr. LOPRESTI. That is the end of the question that the gentleman from York interrupted.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the question is, do I have any other law to the contrary?

Mr. LOPRESTI. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I have only this law, as I have previously indicated, the law of equity and fair play. All that there is in that decision is that the court will presume that the Legislature in the 1931 session felt that the legislative apportionment as the result of the 1930 census was equitable and fair, and the tenor of the case cited by the gentleman from Cambria is to the effect that the Legislature felt that there was no necessity to re-apportion.

Now, the law that I have to the contrary is the fact that all presumptions are rebuttable presumptions, and the rebuttable presumption that I would apply to this case is the fact that we now see the inequities that are existing under our present population as a result of the 1930 census. We all see a disproportionate representation; we see cities that have grown in size still restricted to their former representation. We see counties that are discriminated against because they lack a voice in this assumbly. We see communities having an over-abundance of representation, and I say to the membership of this House that the presumption, the legal presumption that the Supreme Court decided was applicable in this instance is admittedly rebuttable by any instances of unfair representation.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I shall ask the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, whether he places his idea of fairness and justice above the interpretation of the Supreme Court of our Constitution.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in any problem in which we are dealing with figures there is always a question on which side the chips shall fall. As far as Dauphin County is concerned and as far as Cambria County is concerned, my heart bleeds from the fact that the chips fall there, but on the other hand, Mr. Speaker, I will say that my heart quivers just as emotionally for the other counties that have less adequate representation due to an inequitable legislative apportionment, and while I do not hold myself above the Supreme Court, I nevertheless feel that if you are figuring it out on figures you can adequately determine from the cold facts who should have three, who should have four, who should have more and who should have less.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the sentiments which the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, as expressed in my regard, but I also assure him as far as I am particularly concerned, I need not his sympathy. I would ask the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, to answer my question and not make a speech, and that question is, does he place his own interpretation of fair play above the construction that the Supreme Court places upon our Constitution?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, that is a very unfair question. We have heretofore decided that the functions of this Commonwealth should be divided into three—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his point of order.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not like to interrupt the bleeding Demosthenes, but I feel that the gentleman from Cambria, lacking in the ultimate experience and the training of the gentleman from York, is put at an unfair advantage in this situation, and not to be outdone by the bleeding heart of the gentleman from York, my own heart bleeds for the gentleman from Cambria, and I rise to the point of order that the gentleman is not answering the question but making a speech.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will confine himself to the question submitted to him by the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the question submitted by the gentleman from Cambria was whether I would put my sense of fair play and justice above the Supreme Court, is that correct, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York must submit his question to the gentleman from Cambria. The Chair is unable to answer.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will say, Mr. Speaker, in answer to that interrogation, that only my extreme modesty forces me to answer "no".

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, in order that the gentleman from York may do a little more bleeding and tell us a little more about the law of equity and fair play, I would like to know how he can justify the fact that his amendment provides that the first district shall have two representatives, with a population of 80,339, and the country district shall have one representative with a population of 84,892?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I can answer that very eloquently. I have found in representing my own first district that the legislative interests of the community that are immediately contiguous to the City of York, are with the City of York's interests, that the communities that are immediately contiguous to the City of York, are manufacturing, industrial and commercial, and I find that in a number of instances my interests are identical with the constituents possibly who live in the district represented by my colleague, Mr. Moul, and the same rules will apply, undoubtedly, to the City of Harrisburg. The immediate boroughs, the industrial sections are decidedly different from the rural sections that the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, and the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Habbyshaw represent, and we feel that a better and more equitable representation is secured by giving two members to the City of Harrisburg, representing the first district, and one to the county and that more equitable and adequate representation is assured than would be secured by giving one represenative to the City of Harrisburg and two to the outlying districts.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think that we will all agree that the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, as usual, has answered the question very eloquently but not at all logically. The fact is that the interests of the districts outside of the city are much more diversified than the interests of the city itself. We have in the districts outside the city, and a considerable distance from the city, coal mines, we have steel mills, we have agricultural centers, we have shoe factories, we have all kinds of diversified classes of interests, while in the city the people, as we all know, are more centralized, their interests are not as much diversified and there is not as much necessity for their having two representatives as there is in the districts outside of the city. I call attention to the fact that the territory of the city is very small, while the territory of the districts outside of the city composes all of the county, the distance from one end to the other being nearly sixty miles. I call your attention to the fact that there is virtually five thousand more population in the district outside of the city. I call your attention to the fact that the district outside of the city is growing in population faster than the district inside of the city. I call your attention to the fact that all these things put together certainly would show that if there is any equity or any fair play that it is the city districts which should lose the member rather than the country district. But we, however, feel that the County of Dauphin is entitled to four members and that this amendment should be voted down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER declared the nays appeared to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for, ninety members having voted in the affirmative and fifty-five in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

The Clerk read the second part of the amendments offered by the gnetleman from York, Mr. Cohen, as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 10, line 16, 17 and 18, by striking out the words "The remainder of the County of Delaware shall constitute the second district and elect four members"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, perhaps we should not be complaining about this bill, and I rather hesitate to mention the argument against the amendment as amendments that pertain to Delaware County, because I am afraid it is going to be a very popular one with the other side of the House.

As the bill came from the committee it provided for an increase in Delaware county from four to five members. Of course we are in favor of that proposition, but as the bill is written now, or as the amendments propose, it would place one member in the City of Chester and it would place the other four members in the county outside of Chester, but would divide the county into four districts.

We have always had two districts in Delaware County, one being from the city and the other from the county outside the city. That district outside the city is partly industrial, is partly rural and is partly suburban. None of the divisions into which this bill proposes to divide the second district of Delaware County into four districts make any one definitely industrial or definitely rural or definitely suburban. The division of the districts in addition to that, are stretched around in very peculiar form. They do not have any geographical location except, I think, in one instance. The lines run around and across the county, starting on the eastern end in one of the districts and going all the way across the top of the county into some of the rural townships. The Chester Pike, for instance, has a very consolidated interest because there are a number of boroughs along the Chester Pike, and they cooperate together in police and fire and other matters of that kind, and it has been divided and a part of it thrown into one of the districts, and the majority of it into another district. The Township of Tinicum, which is mainly rural and industrial, is thrown into mainly a suburban area, while the Borough of Eddystone, where the great Baldwin Locomotive plant is located, is thrown into another district. If there had been an attempt to divide the county placing the districts according to the industrial plants along the river front there might have been some sound logic behind the division of the districts, but to divide the county into four districts, one of which starts down along the river, runs back into the county some eight or nine miles to and above the Borough of Media, and then stretches some nine, ten or eleven miles to the lower end of the county, to Birmingham Township, and then stretches around Chester Borough and Marcus Hook, which is highly industrial, and other territory back of it; and other districts start down the river and run all the way up into the populace section next to Upper Darby Township, taking in the suburban Townships of Lansdowne, Yeadon and East Lansdowne and I think I have mentioned starting on the eastern end, taking into the district from which my colleague, Mr. Weidemann, comes, starting from the eastern end of the county and swings almost the width of the county to the westward. There apparently is no logic in the development of these districts other than there is some general population relation. One of the things that has developed, and this is one I hesitated to speak about because if the gentleman from York needed a transfusion of blood before he will need it worse now. This amendment places the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, as coming from the same district, and I suppose the purpose was to eliminate one of us from the Legislature. We have had, as I say, for a long time two districts in the County of Delaware, the first being the City of Chester and the second being all of the county outside of the City of Chester. And I can say with all the modesty of the gentleman from York, I think we have been successfully able, our members outside of the City of Chester, to represent the second district, because the interests of that district are so uniform and because we men have been able to take care of those interests, knowing them from one end of the county to the other. Our people in Delaware County have made no clamor for a division of the county individually. There have been requests for an increase in the number of the members in Delaware County. Of course there were bills introduced for apportionment in almost every session, I believe since 1930, but in every one of those sessions, as you know, apportionment failed. Therefore I would ask that the House vote down these amendments of the gentleman from York and leave the bill stand as it came from the committee. The committee has given it consideration and reported this bill granting Delaware County an additional member, but it did not divide the second district into four districts, and the sole purpose of this amendment offered by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, is to divide the district in a hodge podge fashion that will leave one district with a part of a representative and other districts with another, and scattered it all over the county until it will be hard for a member to tell just what he is representing in Harrisburg.

Mr. RUSH. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, I would like to say that we have endeavored to divide the County of Delaware in such a manner that people with the same interests and same environments are placed in the same legislative district. It is true, and I am sorry that I do not have a map large enough that I could point out to the members of this House that they could all see that some of these lines are irregular. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, mentioned the fact that we went around the City of Chester only to get a district large enough, to get enough population to make a legislative district. That is true, because the City of Chester is located in the lower end of the county and in an industrial area. Under the Constitution a city of the third class is entitled to a representative.

The City of Chester has a population of about fifty-nine thousand and some three hundred people that does compose one district, the district which I represent. It is also true that the people in the lower end of the county come from an industrial area and from a rural area. It was necessary in order to get the required population to include these people, these two classes of people into one district, and that we did.

The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, made mention of the island of Tinicum not being included in the district which we term, under the terms of his bill, as district No. 2. He failed to state to you that the Township of Tinicum is located along the Delaware River adjacent to the city of Philadelphia, and is in the extreme southwestern corner from the township of Birmingham, which is included in this area and is in the extreme northeast corner, so if we were to attempt to include the township of Tinicum in district No. 2, we would stretch that district from one extreme corner of the county all away across the county to the other extreme corner. We did not do that, but we did include the township of Ridley, which is an industrial area in district No. 2, included it in with the other industrial areas.

The gentleman spoke about the district which we term district No. 3 under the provisions of this bill, and I might say that the residents of that district, which is located along the Chester Pike, which is the main artery of traffic from the city of Philadelphia southward, — the folks that live along that pike are people with the same interests and the same environment. Most of those folks are employed as clerks or in small businesses or something of that sort. That area takes in the island of Tinicum and the southwest corner of the county of Delaware.

The gentleman spoke of the area from which Mr. Weidemann comes. That area is as compact as it is possible to make it. It takes in Upper Darby township, which is a metropolitan area. The township of Upper Darby is only a few thousand short of being large enough to comprise a legislative district, and it was necessary to include a couple of other boroughs there so that included the adjacent boroughs of Lansdowne, East Lansdowne and Millbourne, which gives the required population.

The rest of the county is composed of the northeastern part of the county in which are located large homes and large estates. It is true that there has been quite an agitation in the county of Delaware for some years to have a fifth representative to which we are entitled. The population at the last census was some 280,000 people. With a few more thousand we would be entitled to six instead of five representatives, and up until the present time we have almost 8,000 people who have no representation in this House, because the Republican Party has failed to reapportion the State into legislative districts in 1931. Mr. Speaker, we have given this very careful consideration, and we have tried to have the citizens of Delaware County placed in the districts in which they belong and we have tried to place them in such a manner that each and every district in Delaware County could elect a representative that would represent their own district, their own interests.

I ask the members of this House to support this amendment.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Rush.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUSH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I notice that the gentleman from Delaware in his remarks kept referring to "we have decided to divide the county—" and so forth. I would like to know who "we" are.

Mr. RUSH. Mr. Speaker, I might say that there was a legislative reapportionment committee in Delaware County that sat down and divided this county and made recommendations to myself to present this bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask who made up that committee?

Mr. RUSH. Mr. Speaker, I might say in answer to the gentleman from Delaware that there were several citizens of Delaware County who made up that committee, and I might say that on that committee there were a number of Republicans too.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, were the members of that committee both from the city of Chester and from the county outside of the city, or were they all from the city of Chester?

Mr. RUSH. Mr. Speaker, the members who comprised that committee came from practically every area in the county of Delaware.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, who appointed that committee?

Mr. RUSH. That committee was a voluntary committee, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, how did that committee get together?

Mr. RUSH. Mr. Speaker, by request of several citizens of Delaware County who were interested in reapportionment.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, was there ever any invitation extended to the members who represented the districts outside of the city to attend any conference of that committee?

Mr. RUSH. Mr. Speaker, I am not in a position to answer that question. I was asked myself. I do not know whether the other representatives were or not.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I think the statement of the gentleman from Delaware is the most amazing thing I have ever heard. Here is a member who represents the City of Chester who comes into the Legislature with an amendment to the bill reported out of committee, which seeks to change not his legislative district but the legislative districts of the three members outside and he says "We changed it", and that the districts were made up by a committee, that the committee was a voluntary one, that no notice or request or invitation was given to the other three members. He says that he does not know whether any request was given, and I say that no request was given to come to the committee meeting for the purpose of considering the question of any apportionment of the outside districts. I will say that to you plus the fact that all the time I have been in the House I have never known of any request to divide the County of Delaware into districts except on the part of a few men who have mainly belonged to the Democratic Party, who have thought perhaps there might be some advantage, as they evidently specifically came here, by creating a district that would put Mr. Sproul and myself into the same district.

I am not here arguing that because Mr. Sproul and myself are from the same district. It does not make any difference to me. Perhaps it would be better for me if I were to stay at home and practice law instead of coming up here to Harrisburg, but I say that if there is to be a reapportionment of the district, which is an overwhelming Republican district, or a Democratic member representing the City of Chester to come here, after the Committee on Reapportionment has placed this bill on the calendar and reported it from the Committee without a division of the district, to come here and have amendments offered here on the floor of the House, and to seek the support of the members of the House for an amendment of this kind—I say, it is the most amazing thing that has ever happened in my experience, and I do not think the members will turn us down in that sort of a situation.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I am again compelled to resort to my own county of York as an illustration. As the legislative apportionment of Delaware County is presented to this House, and as indicated by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Rush, I say that the county is divided into three districts that are contiguous and of equal population or as nearly equal as could possibly be obtained under the circumstances. I say, in Delaware County, looking at it and analyzing it, I hope in an unbiased manner, a very equal representation for the entire county of Delaware is had.

Now, it is regrettable that in redistricting a county, that the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, and the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, are placed in the same district, but I do not believe that either of those two gentlemen represent any possible different interests. Both of them come from a section very close to the Borough of Media, and represent a very similar type of constituency. However, it would possibly be better in order to get a better cross section of desires and of votes and of the will of the people of the entire County of Delaware, that the representation should come from diverse sections of Delaware County. In fact, I am somewhat surprised to think that the Republican leadership in Delaware County would have slated two men for office who lived so close together. I always thought that the leadership in Delaware County was so astute that they would slate men from various sections of the county so that we would not have a situation arise whereby two men are representing almost a similar constituency, and living so close together.

However, as Delaware county is redistricted it will allow a representation from the entire county on a very equitable basis. Now, I am particularly fond of the gentleman from Delaware, and I entertain a certain amount of affection for the other gentleman from Delaware, upon whom he feels that this legislative apportionment may exert some hardship. However, the larger gentleman from Delaware has informed me that he will possibly never again be a candidate for the Legislature, which will leave the field entirely open for the second gentleman from Delaware in case any difficulty arises through this reapportionment act. I ask the membership of the House to support the motion.

Mr. AUKERMAMN. Mr. Speaker, feeling that enough has been said on these amendments and that we have other amendments before us, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Siegel, VanSickle, McFall, Coakley, Robinson, Haberlen, Pershing, Elpern, Samuel A. Weiss, Mellott, Ominsky, Nagel, Baine, Shaw, Mooney, Hess, Schor, Hirsch, Hontz, Richter, Fitch and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask a few questions on parliamentary procedure.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know if I withdraw my former motion, which was a motion to place the amendments on the table, whether or not those amendments will be voted upon as being included or not included in the bill?

The SPEAKER. In reply to the gentleman from Cambria the Chair wishes to state that if he withdraws the portion of his motion that has not been acted upon, there is nothing to prevent any other member from making a similar motion, but the procedure would naturally be to consider the amendments separately, that is, take up the amendments submitted by the various members one at a time.

MOTION TO TABLE AND DIVISION OF QUESTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained unanimous consent to withdraw his motion as to the amendments not acted upon at this time.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to withdraw his request for a division of the question.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, withdraws his motion pertaining to the remainder of the amendments, or those amendments that have not been acted upon under his motion. The gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, also withdraws his request for a division of the question.

The SPEAKER. The amendments offered by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, will be considered at this time, for the reason that they also deal with Dauphin County, one of the counties that we have been discussing.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 1, page 9, line 20, by striking out "two members" and inserting in lieu thereof "one member"

Amend section 1, page 9, line 23, by striking out "one member" inserted by amendment, and inserting in lieu thereof "two members"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the amendments which I now propose would change the bill so that one representative from Dauphin County would come from the city of Harrisburg and that two would come from the district outside of the city of Harrisburg. I regret the necessity of introducing this amendment; I feel that Dauphin

County should have four members and not three. I feel that the city of Harrisburg should be entitled to two members and not one, but if the county of Dauphin must have only three members, then I feel that it is my duty to my constituents to propose this amendment, that the district outside of the city shall be the district which should have the two members. As pointed out in previous debate, the city of Harrisburg is a third class city and cannot be included with the rest of the county; it must be kept a separate district. Therefore the question must be determined as to whether or not the city of Harrisburg shall have the two members or whether the district outside of the city shall have the two members. I am not going to repeat that which I said in my previous remarks concerning why I think the district outside the city should have the two members and the district composing the city one member. I just desire to point out one more thing, taking the question of government itself; we have in the city of Harrisburg a third class city, a second class school district while outside of the city we have townships of the first class, townships of the second class, we have boroughs, school districts of the fourth class, school districts of the third class, so that in that one phase alone you can see how much more varied the interests outside the city are than the interests inside the city. I might go on and point out a few more things but I do not want to take the time. I just want to remind you again that the district outside of the city has five thousand more population than the district inside the city, and that the interests are more diversified than in the city. I regret the necessity of introducing this amendment. I think we should have four members. However, if we are to have only three members, I think they should be divided as I have indicated.

Mr. SPENGLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments proposed by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside. He has proposed an amendment stating that there shall be two representatives outside of the city and one in the city. The bill as it now stands calls for two in the city and one in the county. My friend from Dauphin suggests that the industries outside of the city are more diversified than in the city, but I would like my colleague from Dauphin to remember that the folks in the city are electors and have just as much right to elect members as those outside of the city, and while on that subject I want to say that the last election returns showed that more than four thousand people voted in the city of Harrisburg than in the district outside of the city in Dauphin county, and that is one of the reasons why I insist that this amendment be killed. We are very anxious to be as fair as possible, but the city of Harrisburg in the last census had a population of 80,339, which is one and two-thirds times the ratio required for our representative. The Constitution seems to make it mandatory that the city of Harrisburg should constitute a separate district and elect its own representative. Therefore, I am going to ask my colleagues to vote this amendment down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WOODSIDE and Mr. HABBYSHAW and were as follows:

YEAS—31

Boose,	Leisey,	Royer,	Watkins,
Boyer,	Longaker,	Schrock,	Webster,

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, those amendments were concerning Dauphin County. Inasmuch as we have voted on both sets of amendments, one of which is the same as mine, I now withdraw my amendment.

The amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Thompson, were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 6, by striking out the word: "nine" and inserting in lieu thereof: "ten"

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 8, by striking out the word: "forty" and inserting in lieu thereof: "forty-one"

Amend sec. 1, page 2, line 13, by striking out the words: "one member" and inserting in lieu thereof: "two members"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, were the amendments submitted by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Thompson, inserted in the bill?

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the amendments were agreed to be reconsidered.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the motion was to reconsider a vote which has just been taken, without any business of the House intervening, therefor is a point of order in order?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman state his question again?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I raised a question of parliamentary inquiry, and asked the Chair to rule whether a point of order was in order.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, a point of order can be raised at any time. In answer to the gentleman's question of parliamentary inquiry, no business has been transacted between the time the amendments were agreed to and the motion to reconsider was submitted.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his point of order.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I make the point of order that no business has been transacted between agreeing to the amendments and the motion to reconsider.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

The amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 10, by striking out the word: "twenty-one" and inserting in lieu thereof: "twenty-two"

Amend sec. 1, page 2, lines 14 and 15, by striking out the following: "nineteenth"

Amend sec. 1, page 3, by inserting between lines 21 and 22 the following: "The nineteenth ward shall constitute the twenty-second district and elect one member."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, providing my remarks should not make the gentleman from York bleed, I am going to raise a very valid question. The 19th Ward in the city of Philadelphia has been a separate and distinct Ward of the 12th Legislative district of the city of Philadelphia, and it has had two members. It has at the present time approximately 50,000 people in that one section, and I don't see any earthly reason why the Legislative Reapportionment Committee must take this one ward and add it to three others. Therefore, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to have the membership vote "aye" on this motion.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEVY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia have the figures of the 1930 census of the 19th ward of Philadelphia?

Mr. LEVY. No, I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to accept my word for it that it was slightly under 43,000 in 1930.

The next question is does the gentleman think that the 19th ward has had sufficient property torn down to reduce that about one-fifth?

Mr. LEVY. No. I do not, Mr. Speaker, and in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia I might add that the census of 1930 was a little over 43,000, and in addition to that the few properties that were ripped down in that ward in the last years are not very material. In fact we know in the 19th ward we have a greater population today than we have had or enjoyed for several years.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, would it make any difference if the 19th ward were connected with the 17th, 18th and 31st, and have two members instead of just one. What would be the advantage of having just one for the 19th instead of being a district having all the same type of people, which is an industrial district and which does not vary five percent in the type of people or the wealth of the people.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I might say that the gentleman from Philadelphia is not very well acquainted with the complex of the section from which I come if he makes such a statement. It remains true nevertheless that the 19th ward is immediately adjacent to the other three wards. Nevertheless the voting population, or the population of my particular district is in no way associated with the complex of the voting population or the population of the three other wards, and I defy the gentleman to say anything else.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the House I would like to make a statement. According to the census of 1930, the 19th ward of Philadelphia had 42,773 people. With this new hookup of the 17th, 18th, 19th and 31st wards you will have a practically balanced situation, so that two representatives from that district will be as close as you can come to having the right proportion. Therefore, I would ask the membership of the House to vote down the amendments.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I still insist, Mr. Speaker and members of this House, that I happen to come from that district; I know the people in my district, and I know their complex, and I want to assure you that I would not make any statement on this floor that I did not sincerely believe in. The people of my district are not as Mr. Tumelty has said, the same as the people from the district from which he comes. There is an entirely different complex; they have something very contrary, beliefs and other things and I believe that we from the 19th ward of the city of Philadelphia, having today as I have asserted, over the required population for one representative, I come before you with a very fair argument. We are enjoying at the present time a representation of two. I will admit that under the present circumstances the 19th ward is entirely too much represented, if that phrase may be expressed, but I say we want the 19th ward segregated and apart from others in the immediate district, and I say that that is fair enough. I call upon the membership of this House to vote "aye" on these amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Baker.

Mr. JOHN J. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Fitch.

Mr. FITCH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to oppose the proposition in the city of Philadelphia that will make any changes for the following reasons: In the 19th ward in particular they have two members up to the present time, in the Legislature. At the last election they had the magnificent number of 18,000 people voting, including Republicans and Democrats,—18,000 registered voters and the successful candidate received about 11,500 votes.

It seems to me that we have representatives from the city of Philadelphia who come to the Legislature with probably five thousand or less in their districts, and on the other hand we have other men in the city of Philadelphia who have to get 78,000 votes or 44,000 or 45,000 votes before they can become members of the Legislature. It seems to me so unfair and it seems to me that the people, after all, are the ones who should rule.

We as members of the Legislature foolishly for the last two hours have been trying our best to put a tenure bill through. Some of the members feel that the only duty of the Legislature is to see that they come back the next time. None of us are assured of that; and we are not sure that the Democratic party will be in power. The leaders, the Republican party have seen fit to allow the city of Philadelphia, the State of Pennsylvania to go by the boards for the simple reason that they felt that they had everything their own way. It seems to me that to the people back home, after all, we are not employes of the State,—we have no jobs only the jobs that the people give us. If the people of the city of Philadelphia or any other district of the State of Pennsylvania see fit to refuse to vote for you, you will not come back.

It seems to me in all the arguments we had this afternoon, that the sole purpose of the Legislature was to try to keep the members in their individual positions. Now, we have in the city of Philadelphia one district that for years has been continually filing petitions asking for redistricting, but the Republican party was in power in that particular district, and they wouldn't do it. It was a river ward, and that ward is now controlled by the Democratic Party, and they have had to assume the position that they would continue to control it. Now, it looks to me as far as the 19th ward is concerned that what we should do is not only vote these amendments down, but to vote down all amendments affecting the City of Philadelphia, for the following reasons: That this bill was talked about in the City of Philadelphia and they had a meeting, and they agreed to select one man to look after this thing. Every member of the Legislature, every member of the city committee and every member of any party had the privilege of going to this man and taking whatever stand he desired in reference to his district.

In 1935 I had a bill, and I was told at that time, on account of the Republican Senate it would be impossible to put it through, and I was advised to call it off for that session,—that is 1935, and that in 1937 we were sure of action, assured of its passage.

Now, it looks to me that everything went along nicely, the members have no kick coming up until the last hour, and then they decide what they are going to do. They are going to upset a promise that they made to the people of the State of Pennsylvania, that they would at least give equal representation.

I therefore ask the members of this House to vote this and any other amendment affecting Philadelphia down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LEWIS and Mr. LEVY and were as follows:

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the amendments of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Thompson, were placed in the bill be reconsidered.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I wish to find out from the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, why he wishes to have the vote reconsidered.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to have the motion reconsidered so that we can then vote on the amendments and defeat them.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman what is the purpose in trying to defeat the vote by which the amendments were adopted.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Our idea, Mr. Speaker, in defeating the amendments that have already been inserted by the gentleman from Philadelphia was ably explained to the membership of the House by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fitch. I do not think that there is any more crying need of legislative apportionment than exists in the City of Philadelphia, and to allow the amendments inserted by the gentleman from Philadelphia to remain in the bill would continue the inequitable apportionment in Philadelphia, and for that reason I ask the members of the House to reconsider the vote, so that those amendments can be defeated by the House and so that the City of Philadelphia can have an opportunity to have an equitable apportionment.

In further answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia I just wish to call attention to the fact that immediately after this session was convened, the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Philadelphia Record, and I think the Philadelphia Bulletin ran articles indicating that this legislative apportionment that now exists in Philadelphia needed correction, and it is our purpose to correct the abuses that have been allowed to exist in the legislative apportionment of that city.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank Mr. Cohen, the floor leader.

Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I do not believe that the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, or the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fitch are in position to speak on my district. I feel that at this time I might express myself and my belief that in certain districts in the City of Philadelphia there has been a constant shift of the population from one part of the city to the other, from one district to the other, and we are basing our argument today in this re-apportionment on the census of 1930. I say that the time is not now that we should re-apportion, and therefore that is one of the reasons why I offered my amendments.

We will lose one member in that district. I feel as a member of the House from that district that I should speak for the district and for my constituents in that district. We think that 1941 would be the proper time to do it, and if we do that in 1941 we would then know more about where the population is, and I feel on the basis of the injustice that will be done to the many representatives in this House that I should ask their cooperation on this amendment and vote for this amendment so that it may become a part of this bill.

I ask for a roll call, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from York know the district in Philadelphia from which Mr. Thompson comes?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, where does the district lie, in what part of Philadelphia?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the 13th district, which composes the 16th ward and the 20th ward.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, is that in the south, north, east or the west of Philadelphia?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I do know that the 13th district of the City of Philadelphia in the election of 1933 elected two notorious Republican representatives, Clinton Sowers and Louis Schwartz with a vote of eleven thousand each. I further see by referring to the Pennsylvania Manual that other districts elected membership with less representation than two, with a much larger vote. I can say in my own district in the City of York I have been elected with a vote approximating thirteen or fourteen thousand, with but one representative, and I notice that the 13th district in the city of Philadelphia elects two representatives with a vote of but eleven thousand.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask my colleague from Philadelphia to yield to me so that I might interrogate the gentleman from York Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Lewis yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Thompson.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from York as to whether the number of candidates for office is based on the number of votes that are cast, or whether the re-apportionment is on the basis of the number of votes cast for an elected officer, or whether it is based on the census.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, there is no question about the census, and in further answer to the gentleman, I see that the 16th and 20th wards, which make up the 13th legislative district, have a total population of 51,000. We heard the gentleman from Dauphin indicate that the City of Harrisburg has some 80,000 people, while the City of York which I represent has a census population according to the 1930 census of 65,000, and we elect but one representative from that section.

Mr. CLIFF S. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to cut off anybody in debate, but I think I could raise the point of order, that the gentlemen are discussing the bill and we are under a motion to reconsider.

The SPEAKER. The point of order would be well taken. The gentlemen have been discussing the merits of the bill. The question before the House is on the motion to reconsider.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, was being interrogated by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Thompson, and was giving his reasons why he was asking for a reconsideration of the vote by which these amendments have been placed in the bill, based on what he felt Philadelphia needed. I would like to know whether a discussion of that would be proper at this time. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw the question at this time.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THOMPSON and Mr. BROWN and were as follows:

YEAS—84.

Alexander,	Fitch,	Melchiorre,	Simon,

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Thompson?

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, inasmuch as the House is about to vote on what I deem to believe my political epitaph, as a member of the House I am also Mr. Thompson's running mate in that district, and I would like to have the privilege of addressing the members of the House for two or three minutes.

Mr. Speaker, my argument against re-apportionment at this time may be a rather nebulous argument. It so happens that a Philadelphia newspaper this morning quoted quite extensively a plan that I have had in mind for quite some time of what I think should be done in the City of Philadelphia, as a result of which we would get, I think, proper apportionment in Philadelphia. If it is true that we are only going to have forty representatives and that we are going to have a rather constant population, I think that the re-apportionment of Philadelphia should be postponed at this time, that we should wait until we have the new charter commission, that instead of having fifty-one wards we should have forty wards of equal size in each district, so that each will be his own legislative district. Each ward would have its own representative and no body would be stepping on somebody else's toes, I think with that set-up we would have equal representation in Philadelphia.

My second argument is this as my colleague, Mr. Thompson has stated, there is a constant shift in population. While it is true that in 1930 the census figures showed that we had 51,000 persons or more in that district, which is to call your attention to the fact that that time has long since passed, that the census takers have gone to their homes, have counted their shekels for having taken the census, and I think you ought to accept the statements of Mr. Thompson and myself who come from this district, that there has been a shift back to the district, and probably we have sufficient people at this time to warrant the election of both of us or any two at the next election. For that reason I ask that the district be left alone, as it is, and I ask you to vote for the amendments of Mr. Thompson.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I just wish to call the attention of the House to the fact that we have not had a legislative apportionment since 1921. The suggestion has been made at various times that we suspend re-apportionment until 1941. There is no doubt that any legislative re-apportionment is going to affect certain individuals and going to affect adversely, but I feel if we re-apportion now on the basis of 1930, that when we re-apportion in 1941 on the basis of the 1940 census the inequities which are then existing as a result of this action will be wiped out, will be susceptible of easier remedy by acting now than by waiting until 1941 to recitify the disproportionate representation. Therefore I ask the members of this House to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask the Republican members to vote "aye."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Thompson.

The SPEAKER declared the nays appeared to have it.

Whereupon a division was called for, forty members having voted in the affirmative and eighty-seven in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

The amendments offered by Mr. ROTHENBERGER were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 6, lines 1 to 3, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines, and inserting in lieu thereof:

The Boroughs of Birdsboro, Kenhorst, Mohnton, Mount Penn, Saint Lawrence, Shillington, Sinking Spring, West Lawn, West Reading, Wyomissing, Wyomissing Hills, and the townships of Amity, Brecknock, Caernarvon, Cumru, Douglass, Exeter, Lower Alsace, Robeson, Spring and Union, shall constitute the second district, and elect one member.

The Boroughs of Bernville, Centreport, Hamburg, Lenhartsville, Robesonia, Showmakersville, Strausstown, Wernersville, West Leesport and Womelsdorf, and the townships of Albany, Bern, Bethel, Centre, Greenwich, Heidelberg, Jefferson, Lower Heidelberg, Marion, North Heidelberg, Penn, Perry, South Heidelberg, Tilden, Tulpehocken, Upper Bern, Upper Tulpenhocken and Windsor, shall constitute the third district, and elect one member.

The Boroughs of Bally, Bechtelsville, Boyertown, Fleetwood, Kutztown, Laureldale, Lyons, Temple and Topton, and the townships of Alsace, Colebrookdale, District, Earl, Hereford, Longswamp, Maidencreek, Maxatawny, Muhlenberg, Oley, Ontelaunee, Pike, Richmond, Rockland, Ruscombmanor and Washington, shall constitute the fourth district and elect one member.

Amend sec. 1, page 5, line 27, by striking out the following: "two" and inserting in lieu thereof: "four"

Mr. ROTHENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I am very happy that the amendments at this time have not been lost. I will explain that later on. I intend to very briefly explain the purpose of the amendments and then the reason why I have submitted them. The amendments as read are rather lengthy, but what the amendments do is to re-apportion Berks County in the manner in which Berks County is now represented. In the re-apportionment of Berks County, the rural section of Berks County has been put into one district, the third and the rural members from Berks County will be elected from Berks at large. Berks is represented at present by three members, elected from the second, third and fourth legislative districts. Now the amendments which I have submitted simply amend this bill so that Berks County will be represented in the same manner as it is now being represented. I have received a number of requests from constituents in my district as well as in the third district, requesting that the manner of the re-apportionment be not changed. In order to do that I went about it in the proper way. I spoke to the sponsor of the bill, but he saw fit not to apportion Berks in the manner in which it is now apportioned, so I thought the next thing to do would be to submit the amendments to the Chairman of the committee, and here is where I come in, explaining why I am submitting the amendments at the present time. I would have been satisfied if the amendments had been considered by the committee, but inasmuch as the amendments are lost, I am submitting these amendments at this time.

A most peculiar thing happened, I handed the amendments to the Chairman of the Committee on Re-apportionment. He claimed that he handed the amendments to the chairman of a sub-committee. The sub-committee claims that it did not get the amendments. Somewhere along the line the amendments disappeared.

Now, before I came to Harrisburg I head about things like that being done in this Legislature, but I did not think that I would personally experience anything like that, and because of this rather unique experience I felt it only fair to the people of the legislative district which I represent, who have asked that they be represented in the same manner as before, that this amendment be now considered by the House.

This is going to re-apportion Berks County in the same manner that this House voted just awhile ago to re-apportion Delaware County. It is going to re-apportion Berks County, the rural portion of it, in the manner in which our floor leader, Mr. Cohen, says that York County is re-apportioned. It is not the number of representatives, it is the manner in which they shall be apportioned or elected, and what the amendments do which I have submitted is to re-apportion, or rather leave Berks County as it is.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I am not in favor of these amendments for two reasons. One reason is that they would destroy the equitable legislative apportionment, and second the amendments are so long that they would be too expensive to print. I might suggest to my colleague from Delaware that I ask the Democratic members to vote "no", and that he request the Republican members to vote "aye."

Mr. TURNER. Speak for yourself, John.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER declared the nays appeared to have it.

Whereupon a division was called for, forty members having voted in the affirmative and seventy-eight in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

Mr. ROTHENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, in all fairness, as our resourceful floor leader usually says, that vote looked rather different to me, so I think it would be proper to have a roll call, and I ask for a roll call.

The SPEAKER. There is no question before the House, the question has been decided. The gentleman's request comes too late.

The amendments offered by Mr. HARRY T. MATTHEWS were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1, page 10, lines 25 and 26, by striking out the words: "South Union"

Amend sec. 1, page 10, line 27, by striking out the following: "and the City of Uniontown"

Amend sec. 1, page 10, lines 28 and 29, by striking out the words: "two members" and inserting in lieu thereof: "one member"

Amend sec. 1, page 11, line 2, by inserting after the word: "Perry" the following: "South Union"

Amend sec. 1, page 11, line 6, by striking out the following: "City of Connellsville" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Cities of Connellsville and Uniontown"

Amend sec. 1, page 11, line 7, by striking out the word: "two" and inserting in lieu thereof: "three"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, at the request of my colleague Mr. Matthews, who has just been called from the floor of the House, I desire to have the amendments withdrawn.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman withdraws the amendments.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

The Clerk read the amendments offered by Mr. BLANK.

Amend sec. 1, page 3, line 17, after the word "forty-sixth" strike out the word "ward" and insert in lieu thereof the words: "and fortieth wards"

Amend sec. 1, page 3, line 18, after the word "elect" strike out the word "two" and insert in lieu thereof the word: "three"

Amend sec. 1, page 3, line 19, after the word "twenty-seventh" strike out the word "fortieth"

Amend sec. 1, page 3, line 21, after the word "elect" strike out the word "three" and insert thereof the word: "two"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. BLANK. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I regret exceedingly at this time that I have to offer amendments to this bill. I realize that the House is in a turbulent condition and that we are all anxious to go, but if you will just give me your patience for a minute or two I can explain the amendments which I have offered.

It so happens that the district that is represented by Representative Smith and myself gains three additional members, so that we have no complaint so far as anybody being removed from the Legislature is concerned. The only thing that we do object to is the division of a ward. In that district there are four wards, the 27th, 40th, 46th and the 51st. We desire that the 46th and 40th shall be together and retain three members, and that the other two wards shall receive the other two members. We do not ask for additional members, neither do we ask for any fewer members, and purely on the question of the population we feel that the request is fair.

In addition, my friend Mr. Smith and I have sat here and have been friends here for a long time, and we ask that the members of this House see that we remain together or go down to defeat together rather than being singled out. I do not think there is any objection to our request.—I have heard none mentioned. The only thing I know is that if we had been more diligent in pressing our request before the committee in Philadelphia, it would probably have been granted, but unfortunately we were occupied with other matters and the subject was not presented. The request is a fair one, and I know of no objections other than those offered on the floor of the House at this time, and I respectively request that the membership of the House grant our request and approve the amendments.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, some individuals in the course of life when they are attempting to administer justice, have difficult problems with which they are confronted. I have seen juries take babies from their fathers and give them to their mothers and I have seen husband and wife separated, and while I lament the fact that the loving friendship that exists between the two members from Philadelphia will be severed by this act, I am going to ask the membership of this House in an effort to do equity to all and malice to none, that they vote down the amendment.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. ROTHENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, May 24th at 9 p. m.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BLANK and Mr. JAMES A. SMITH and were as follows:

YEAS—31

Blank,	Falkenstein,	McKinney,	Smith, James A.,
Boose,	Hall,	O'Connor,	Stewart,
Boyer,	Kilroy,	Patterson, C. S.,	Strode,

Fiss,	Marino,	Shoemaker,	Furman,
Fitch,	McCullough,	Shugarts,

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know whether or not there are any other amendments to be acted on to this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has no further amendments on the desk.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the second reading postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his question of information.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, amendments have been offered which have been agreed to, or rather have been refused, but we have not as yet voted upon the section as amended?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, we have been in session for possibly four or five hours on this bill. Every dilatory tactic that the opposition to the enactment of a fair legislative apportionment bill could summon has been utilized, and at the present time we are still confronted with delay. I wish to personally thank the membership of the House for staying as long as they have stayed, and I assure the membership of the House that the vote—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not discussing the motion.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman is thanking the members of the House for staying in session. He is not even discussing the bill at this time. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the motion.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to withdraw my thanks to the membership of the House, and further impress upon the House that this is nothing more than another dilatory motion. It seems that the individuals who have been trying to prevent an equitable re-apportionment act are members who come from counties that must by necessity lose—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I again rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not discussing the motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled upon the point of order, and the gentleman will confine himself to the motion.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, my remarks are very pertinent, and I am calling to the attention of the House that this is a dilatory motion. The House has had at least ten or fifteen votes, some of them recorded and some not, and some in which a verification was requested.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I dislike to interrupt, but I have a motion before the House, and if Mr. Cohen wants to discuss the motion, I think it is perfectly proper, but I think to discuss another question at this time is out of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is entitled to discuss the propriety of a motion, and may proceed.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I just again wish to call attention of the House to the fact that this is still another dilatory motion, and the interruptions are dilatory, and all I want to do is to assure the membership of the House that if they continue to vote down the dilatory motions, this motion and any other motions that might be presented in the future, we will have done our work by giving to the people of the Commonwealth an equitable, fair re-apportionment.

I ask the members of the House, Republicans too, to vote down this motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I now move that this House adjourn. I do not think that that would be a dilatory motion at all—until Monday, May 24th at 9 o'clock p. m.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the sections as amended?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TURNER and Mr. SCHROCK and were as follows:

YEAS 103.

Achterman,	Falkenstein,	Mellott,	Shaw,
Alexander,	Fitch,	Moomaw,	Shoemaker,
Allen,	Flannery,	Mooney,	Shugarts,

Hall,	Royer,	VanAllsburg,	Yeakel,
Kline,	Schrock,	Watkins,

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the section as amended was agreed to.

The second, third and fourth sections and title were severally read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 The foregoing apportionment is based on the United States decennial census of one thousand nine hundred and thirty Any township borough or ward created since such census and not specifically provided for by this act shall form a part of the district to which the territory comprised within such township borough or ward is alloted by the provisions of this act according to the political division existing at the time of such census

Section 3 The first election under this act shall be held at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight

The Members of the House of Representatives now in office shall continue in such office until the expiration of their respective terms

Section 4 The act approved the tenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws 455) entitled "An act to fix the number of Representatives in the General Assembly of the State and to apportion the State into representative districts as provided by the Constitution" and its amendments is hereby repealed

All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

An Act to fix the number of Representatives in the General Assembly of the State and to apportion the State into representative districts as provided by the Constitution

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

SENATE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows

In the Senate, May 21, 1937.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That Senate Bill No. 104, Printer's No. 264, entitled: "An Act authorizing boroughs that have relying on invalid bond issues authorized by the electors entered into contracts whereby indebtedness exceeding the constitutional limitation has been incurred and where such contracts have been wholly or partially performed to provide for the payment of the reasonable value of such performance to contract for completion and to increase their indebtedness therefor and validating ordinances agreements increases of indebtedness and bonds heretofore adopted entered into issued or to be issued to accomplish such purposes" be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of further consideration.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 21, 1937.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 2055, Printer's No. 816, entitled "An Act authorizing any county of the second class and any city in any such county in which the county seat is within the limits of such city to agree upon the joint management and control of any or all city hospitals and institutions and any or all county hospitals and institutions within the city and providing for the appointment of a board of managers and for professional staffs and employes and for the apportionment of costs and expenses", be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1390 as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the General State Authority to defray the costs and expenses of the said Authority in connection with the organization administration and operation thereof

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of one million two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($1,250,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the General State Authority for the payment of all salaries and organization and general expenses of every description as provided by the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred fifty-two)

Section 2 Payments from the foregoing appropriation shall be made to the Treasurer of the General State Authority upon requisition by the Governor

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1618, entitled:

An Act providing for the establishment of a State Youth Commission and local Youth Commissions prescribing their powers and duties

The first section was read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That this Act shall be known as the State Youth Act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Tronzo.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TRONZO. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, as this appears to be an educational matter and it was not referred to the Educational Committee so that we could consider the bill as a committee, I would like to have the gentleman explain the bill for the benefit of the members of the House.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I would think that the time to explain the merits of the bill would be on third reading. All that the bill attempts to do is to create a State Youths' Commission with certain definite powers. There was an appropriation attached to the bill, but at the present time there is none.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, my purpose in interrogating the sponsor of the bill at this time is due to the fact that several of the opponents of the bill would like to consider offering amendments, and I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny if he would consider amendments to the bill. I do not propose to try to defeat the bill if we can amend it on page 2, line 16, to state that this project shall have or the commission shall have the cooperation of various organizations, and on that line it states, "together with other organizations, public and private and social agencies", and I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny if he would not consider the elimination of those five words on line 16.

Mr. TRONZO. I would not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny County inform the members of the House whether or not this measure would include, then, communistic, fascist organizations or organizations of similar character?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, this would include social organizations. I do not think we desire to go into political parties at the present time.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to be more specific and tell me just what he means by public and private social agencies. Just what agencies that would take into consideration.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman kindly repeat the question.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I request the gentleman to tell me just what he means, to be more specific in telling me just what agencies he intends to include in those five words, "public and private social agencies."

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I might say that that might include a Y. M. C. A. or even the American Legion.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Allegheny inform me whether or not this measure has the endorsement of the state pacifist organizations.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I really do not know, but it might have.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that this bill distinctly states that this commission is to conduct surveys throughout the State or to discover—note that word "discover", the needs of young people up to the age of twenty-five with respect to education, vocation and recreation, I do not believe that this bill belonged in the Committee on State Boards, but belonged to the Committee on Education. I could make a motion to send it to the Committee on Military Affairs, where it would never come out, but I do make a motion that this bill—I want to be fair and I make a motion that the bill be referred to the Committee on Education, the proper committee for further study and probable amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, a similar measure was introduced in the Senate by Senator Rodgers of Allegheny County. That measure passed the Senate and is now, I believe, in the Committee on State Boards. I see no reason, therefore, why this bill should be taken from the Committee on State Boards and recommitted to the Committee on Education or any other committee. I feel that the Committee on State Boards gave this bill due consideration, and that the Committee on Education could not add to the consideration given by the Committee on State Boards. I think that if the members of this House want to kill the bill, that the proper time to do that would be on third reading. I therefore ask the membership of this House to let this bill get on the third reading calendar, and then they can do as they please as far as voting on the measure is concerned.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, I rise just to correct the gentleman from Allegheny. The bill that came over from the Senate is in the Committee on State Government and not the Committee on State Boards.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appeared to have it,

Whereupon a division was called for, seventy-two members having voted in the affirmative and thirty-six in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1482, as follows:

A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Act No. 203) entitled "An act establishing certain township roads as State highways authorizing their construction maintenance and improvement under certain conditions and restrictions limiting the obligation of the Commonwealth in the construction of certain structures located on such highways conferring certain powers upon the Department of Highways and local authorities persons associations and corporations for sharing the cost of the maintenance and construction of such highways and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act" establishing an additional route in the Counties of Lackawanna and Wayne

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in addition to the township roads adopted as State highways in the Counties of Lackawanna and Wayne by the act to which this is a supplement the following section of township road in said counties is hereby adopted to be taken over and to be maintained and constructed at the expense of the Commonwealth upon the terms and conditions and subject to the limitations and conditions provided in the act to which this is a supplement

Route 35066 ,Beginning at a point on Route 35006 about 1 mile west of Cortez thence in a northeasterly direction through Jefferson Township Lackawanna County for about .6 of a mile to a point on Route 35048 beginning again on Route 35048 about .5 of a mile northwest of Cortez and extending in a general northeasterly and northerly direction through Jefferson Township Lackawanna County and South Canaan Township Wayne County to a point on Route 63018 about .2 of a mile east of the Lackawanna-Wayne County line a distance of about 4.8 miles

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agree to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 647

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 20, 1937.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed a Resolution of the House of Representatives and Senate, recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 647, Printer's No. 422, for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

GEORGE H. EARLE.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. JAMES W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. AUKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Patterson, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. JAMES W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Aukerman, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. AUKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. JAMES W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JAMES W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend page 1, line 12 of the title by inserting at the end of the line the following: "acquire property by eminent domain for limited dividend housing companies."

Amend section 2, page 3, line 25 by striking out at the end of the line the following: ["corpora-]"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 4, page 5, line 8 by striking out after the word "than" and before the word "years" the following: "[fifty (50)" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "thirty (30)"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The fifth, sixth and seventh sections, the preamble and the title were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 5 Upon the completion of the new Pennsylvania Industrial School and after the execution of a lease of the same by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania from The General State Authority the Department of Welfare shall transfer under the provisions of The Administrative Code of 1929 from the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon all persons who are then detained therein unless directed otherwise as provided by the Mental Health Act of July eleventh one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred ninety-eight) and all books papers records and documents in the possession of the said school and the board of trustees thereof Thereafter all commitments which were heretofore made by the courts of this Commonwealth to the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon shall be made to the new Pennsylvania Industrial School erected under the provisions of this act The Department of Welfare shall advise all of the courts of this Commonwealth of the date from and after which commitments shall be made to the new school

Section 6 In the management and operation of the new Pennsylvania Industrial School the Department of Welfare shall have all the powers conferred and perform all the duties imposed by the laws of this Commonwealth on the Board of Trustees of the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon All laws of this Commonwealth now relating to the care maintenance management safekeeping employment training and treatment pardon and parole of persons detained in the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon shall be deemed to apply to persons detained in and committed to the new Pennsylvania Industrial School

Section 7 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

Whereas The present Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon originally intended as a Middle State Penitentiary with its high walls and towers has all the aspects of a State Penitentiary and the addition of a medium security bloc has detracted little from its forbidding appearance and

Whereas The internal arrangement of the cell blocs with barred windows and double locked switches contradicts the idea that this institution is a school devoted to rehabilitation and

Whereas the erection of a new industrial school and the use of the present institution at Huntingdon for the detention of defective delinquents will accomplish one important step in the development of an adequate penal institution program for the Commonwealth and

Whereas It is the desire of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that The General State Authority construct such new industrial school and lease the same to the Commonwealth therefore

An Act providing for the erection construction and equipment of a new Pennsylvania Industrial School to take the place of the present Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon designating the manner of acquiring or setting aside of land for the erection and construction of the new school by The General State Authority authorizing the Commonwealth to lease the new school and its grounds from The General State Authority upon its completion and the Department of Welfare to manage and operate the same providing that the cost of maintaining inmates therein be borne by the Commonwealth and the counties to the extent and in the manner provided by law in the case of inmates maintained in the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon and conferring powers and imposing duties upon certain State departments boards commissions and officers

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, this is the General Appropriation Bill. There are a number of items in this bill which will have to await upon determination of legislation in the House before we can know exactly what appropriations should be made. However, the bill must be advanced, and with the understanding that we had in the Appropriations Committee, that either the bill would go to a conference between the House, or that the subcommittee of the Committee on Appropriations of the House would meet with the sub-committee of the Senate, I feel that we should go along and pass this bill tonight, so that it may be advanced. We cannot do much good by fighting over any of the details, if we do feel that there are certain details that should be changed, but at this time, as I said, we do not know what course the legislation will take; for instance, take the question of relief, mothers' assistance, the consolidation of the State Police and the State Highway Patrol and a number of other features that appear in the bill.

The Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations has been most fair with me in the consideration of all the problems, and I therefore am willing that the bill go ahead on the understanding, however that we may have comment and criticism on the bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman from Delaware. What he said is quite correct. The appropriation bill, as it appears on the members' desks at the present time by no means represents the General Appropriation Bill which will finally be enacted at the termination of this session. As the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, has indicated, there are a number of legislative acts that await completion before we can definitely know just what further appropriations will be necessary for the State government.

I wish to extend to the gentleman from Delaware my thanks, who for the second session has assisted me in the work of the Appropriations Committee. We have had numerous hearings with the various departments, at which times the gentleman from Delaware was present, as well as other members of the Appropriations Committee. Due to our labors and efforts, we have a much better picture of the operations of the government, and to no small degree is the success of the Appropriations Committee dependent upon the efforts of the gentleman from Delaware. I ask that this bill be given the approval of the membership of the House, and we will have an opportunity to see just how the departmental appropriations change when the bill comes back to the House for concurrence.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Session 1937. 132d of the General Assembly.

Vol. 21. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MAY 24, 1937. No. 64.

SENATE

MONDAY, May 24, 1937.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Thomas Kennedy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Rev. Mr. FRANK W. RUTH, offered the following prayer:

O Lord God our Father, at this the beginning of a new week we come to Thee. We admit we are weak and that we cannot do all things alone but that we must go hand in hand with Thee and Thou wilt guide us to do the things which shall bring the greatest blessings upon the people of this great State whom we represent, and when the sum total of our efforts is made up, it will show that we are of the mind and spirit and body of the poet who said:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road
Where the rest of world goes by,
The men who are good and the men who are bad
As good and as bad as I;
I would not sit in the scorner's seat
Nor hurl the cynic's ban;
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man." Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. KAHLE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

REPORT OF JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE BURDENS PLACED UPON INDUSTRIES IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, at this time I desire to make a report of the committee to investigate the facts concerning the coal question and other industries in the State of Pennsylvania as Chairman of the Tax Study Commission, I view with regret the current misconstruction of its third preliminary report, dated May 24th, on the part of individuals attempting to make political capital of the Chairman's findings.

Those findings admittedly were incomplete, and were submitted solely because of the imminent adjournment of the General Assembly. Since they have been subject to misconstruction, the Chairman deems it advisable to report immediately upon other phases of the problem, in order to correct any false impressions in the public mind, without waiting to complete its researches into these related questions having a direct bearing upon the general problem.

In its preliminary report the Chairman merely stated the fact that certain industries had moved from the State, and gave the reasons offered by those industries for such removal. The Commission had intended to reserve for future study and report those general trends in industrial activity which are responsible for the shifting of plant operations from State to State. We now deem it necessary to report upon these questions.

We have called attention to the fact that a number of textile establishments have left the State. In doing so we have merely stated a fact without discussing the many reasons involved.

It is a well known fact that the entire Northern textile industry has been steadily shifting to the South, in order to take advantage of lower wages and other inducements. The public press has reported from time to time that such inducements have included free plant construction from public funds, tax exemptions, misuse of Federal relief funds, and the use of convict labor in industry.

In this connection we present a statement given to the Commission by John Edelman, research director of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, as follows:

"The American Federation of Hosiery Workers has made extensive surveys of the entire economic background of the textile industry. In addition national research projects of the Works Progress Administration have covered the field thoroughly.

We find that the question of State taxation has never been raised by textile operators as an impediment to successful operations in Pennsylvania. The problem was entirely one of wages and hours of labor. In Philadelphia, for instance, the wage cost per dozen pairs of hose was $2.00 to $2.35, while in the South there was a differential of from 50 cents to $1.00 a dozen. Add to this the tax and other inducements, and it is easy to see why they moved.

The proof that State taxation was not responsible is seen in the fact that textile migration from Pennsylvania halted when NRA stablized labor conditions throughout the country. In fact one company moved back. After NRA the migration started again, but has since been halted by several factors. One is that the plants which did move have learned that the Southern field is not all that the Chamber of Commerce prospectus say it is, and the other is that the South's competitive advantage is being wiped out by the CIO drive in the southern area."

This statement by Mr. Edelmen is supported by testimony presented to Congress on behalf of the Ellenbogen Textile Bill. Impartial students of the textile industry, among them Mr. George Taylor of the Industrial Research Department, University of Pennsylvania, have recognized and called attention to these factors.

Therefore, while this Chairman is deeply concerned with the effect of State taxation upon industry, its researches to date indicate clearly that taxation has played a relatively small part, if any, in textile migration.

We wish to call attention to the statement of the Armstrong Cork Company, of Lancaster, which was included in our third preliminary report. This statement was presented at its face value, without comment. Lest there be any misunderstanding, however, the Chairman is obliged to point out that the company's figures of comparison with other States are not comparable. Its corporate income tax, for instance, is high because its profits are high, and the corporate loan tax is not chargeable against operation, since it is paid by the borrower.

The Chairman also reports with regret that the Armstrong Cork Company does not come before us with clean hands, inasmuch as it has been cited by the Department of Revenue for failing for two years to make a report on its capital stock tax and corporate loan tax, with the result that the Department of Justice was required to take legal action. Its statement must be considered in the light of this fact.

Any study of industrial removals from Pennsylvania must take into account the record of foreign corporations withdrawing and domestic corporations dissolving. This record the Department of Revenue keeps. The record shows the number of corporations which have been removed from the files of the Department as a result of withdrawals, dissolutions, mergers, and the filing of out-of-existance affidavits. These totaled 6308 in 1934, 4594 in 1935 and 2961 in 1936. It is apparent that the number of corporations withdrawing, dissolving, merging and going out of business in Pennsylvania has been declining steadily and rapidly since 1934.

It is universally agreed that the chief index of industrial activity is employment. Employment statistics prepared by the Department of Labor and Industry from this reports furnished by employers show steady employment increases through 1935, 1936 and the first month of 1937, as follows:

NUMBER OF WAGE EARNERS EMPLOYED

	1935	1936	1937
January	758,000	775,000	820,000
February	766,000	771,000	834,000
March	772,000	767,000	892,000
April	769,000	786,000
May	769,000	802,000
June	787,000	805,000
July	756,000	798,000
August	748,000	799,000
September	781,000	816,000
October	808,000	848,000
November	748,000	853,000
December	805,000	867,000

It is hardly necessary, in the light of these figures, to call attention to the fact that during the past few months many great corporations have expanded their facilities, at a cost of many millions of dollars, with the full intention of remaining in Pennsylvania despite labor and tax inducements offered by other States. The reason for this is simply that increased taxes have been infinitesmal in comparison with increased profits. For example, the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company has spent $100,000,000 for new plant facilities in the Pittsburgh district, and the Carnegie Illinois Steel Company, only the other day, broke ground for a $60,000,000 rolling mill.

I also consider it advisable to correct a mis-statement in the report, in which it was said that the Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia had obtained a site in Burlington County, New Jersey, and had made plans to move its plant there. The Curtis Publishing Company has not purchased a site in Burlington County, New Jersey. It has not made any plans to move its plant to New Jersey. In this case the Chairman acted in good faith upon false information, which it believed to be true.

The Chairman submits this additional data, not because it is definite or complete, but solely to clarify the situation resulting from unwarranted conclusions drawn by many persons from the Chairman's third preliminory report.

The PRESIDENT. The report will be made a matter of record in the appendix of the Journal.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STIEFEL from the Committee on City Government reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 943, entitled:

An Act authorizing and empowering any city, county, school district or other municipality, which shall have acquired a limited title to real estate for municipal purposes, to secure a title in fee simple to any such real estate; and providing and regulating the procedure in such cases.

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GILSON from the Committee on Judiciary General re-reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 309, entitled:

An Act to amend section three as amended of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred fifty-two) entitled, "An act to promote the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth, creating a General State Authority as a body corporate and politic with power to construct, improve and operate projects, and to lease the same, and to fix and collect fees, rentals, and charges for the use thereof; authorizing and regulating the issuance of bonds by said authority, and providing for the payment of such bonds, and the rights of the holders thereof; and to enter into agreements with the Government of the United States or any Federal agency, and authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to grant, assign, convey, or lease to the Authority lands of the Commonwealth and interests therein, and to acquire lands therefor; granting the right of eminent domain; and providing that no debt of the Commonwealth shall be incurred in the exercise of any of the powers granted by this act," changing the personnel.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to read a bill in place at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. RICE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1415, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the State Treasurer for the purpose of paying salaries of State officers and employes in the interim between the thirty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven, and such time as the funds provided by the General Appropriation Act become available.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I now call up for consideration Senate Bill No. 879, on page 2 of the calendar.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, if I am voting on this Goodrich bill, I would like to explain that I am not voting for this bill because it is a lump sum appropriation.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed consideration of Senate Bill No. 879, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of one hundred thirty-seven million one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($137,150,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated from the General Fund in the State Treasury to the Department of Public Assistance in the amounts hereinafter specified to provide assistance and for local administration expenses in the manner provided in the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven and for the payment of assistance and expenses incident thereto accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven

Dependent Children
Aged Persons
Blind Persons
Other Indigent Persons

Section 2 From time to time the Governor may and is hereby empowered to transfer from one allocation to any other allocation specified in section one such sums as may be needed

Section 3 Out of the moneys hereby appropriated the Department of Public Assistance shall allocate from time to time among the County Boards of Assistance the Boards of Trustees of the Mother's Assistance Fund and the Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind on the basis of need funds with which to provide assistance and administrative expenses in the manner provided in the Public Assistance Law including the administration expenses of the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department in auditing and disbursing said appropriation Allocations so made to a County Board of Assistance or a Board of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund or a Board of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind by the Department of Public Assistance shall be available for expenditure in that county for assistance and for administrative expenses in the manner provided by law

The Governor with the approval of the Auditor General and State Treasurer shall from time to time allocate to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department from the appropriations made by this act such sums as may be deemed necessary to pay the administration expenses of the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department in auditing and disbursing said appropriation

Section 4 This act shall become effective on the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—1

Woodward,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered that the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I call up at this time Senate Bill No. 1069, entitled:

An Act relating to and regulating the mining of antharcite coal; providing for the health, safety and welfare of persons employed in and about the anthracite coal mines, and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith; amending, consolidating, revising and changing the law relating thereto; and imposing penalties.

Agreeably to order.

The Senate resumed consideration of Senate Bill No. 1069, as follows:

An Act relating to and regulating the mining of anthracite coal providing for the health safety and welfare of persons employed in and about the anthracite coal mines and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith amending consolidating revising and changing the law relating thereto and imposing penalties

Section 604 The members of the several boards appointed under the provisions of this act to examine candidates for foremen's and assistant foremen's certificates shall be compensated at the rate of ten dollars ($10.00) per day for each day during which the said members shall be actually in attendance on the sessions of the board and mileage at the rate of five cents (5c) for each mile actually traveled going from the home of the member to the place of meeting of the board and returning from said place to said home.

Each of the said boards is hereby authorized to employ a clerk whose compensation and mileage shall be the same as that of a member of the board The mine inspector shall be chairman of the board.

Section 605 The members of the said boards shall on the final adjournment of their respective boards submit statements approved by the chairmen of their respective boards setting forth the number of days during which each member shall have been actually in attendance on the sessions of the board of which he is a member as well as the distance from the home of the member to the place of meeting of his board and the number of miles actually traveled by him and the clerks of said boards shall submit like statements and the Auditor General shall upon receipt of such statements draw his warrant upon the State Treasurer in favor of each of such members and clerks for such sums as shall appear to be properly due to each.

Section 606: Certificates of qualification to mine foremen and assitant mine foremen in the anthracite mines shall be issued by the Secretary of Mines to each applicant who has passed a successful examination and has given satisfactory evidence of having had at least five (5) years' practical experience in the anthracite mines of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and of good conduct capability and sobriety Applicants shall be citizens of the United States and residents of the Commonwealth and be at least twenty-five years of age certificates shall be in such manner and form as shall be prescribed by the Secretary of Mines and a record of all certificates granted shall be kept in the Department of Mines. Each certificate shall contain the full name, age, and place of birth of the applicant and also the length and nature of his previous service in the mines. Before the examination for certificates of qualification to mine foremen and assistant mine foremen in the anthracite mines each applicant shall pay a fee of two dollars ($2.00) and each successful applicant shall pay an additionl fee of three dollars ($3.00) before receiving a certificate. The money thus received from applicants shall be transmitted to the Secretary of Mines to be deposited in the State Treasury. In case of loss or destruction of a certificate the Secretary of Mines shall upon the presentation of satisfactory evidence of loss or destruction issue a copy of the certificate to the original possessor on the payment of the sum of one dollar ($1.00).

Section 607 The said examining boards shall before entering upon the duties of their office take and subscribe to an oath or affirmation before a duly qualified officer that they will to the best of their ability conduct such examinations according to law and that the credits given to an applicant's papers shall be according to merit only Such oaths or affirmations shall be made upon blanks furnished by the Department of Mines and they shall be returned to the department and kept on file as other records are kept Every applicant for a mine foremen's or assistant mine foremen's certificate must furnish the board with a statement of his experience in anthracite mines Such statement must show the class of work the applicant was engaged in together with the length of time at each class of work and be signed by the superintendent of the colliery or other responsible official.

Section 608 If any person or persons shall forge or counterfeit a certificate or knowingly make or cause to be made any false statement in any certificate under this act or in any official copy of the same or shall urge others to do so or shall alter or use any such forged or false certificate or unofficial copy thereof or shall make give alter produce or make use of any false declaration representation or statement in any such certificate or copy thereof or any document containing the same he or they shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined two hundred dollars ($200.00) or imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year or both at the discretion of the court trying the case.

Section 609 No mine shall be operated for a longer period than thirty (30) days without the supervision of a mine foreman In case any mine is worked a longer period than thirty (30) days without a mine foreman the owner operator or superintendent shall upon conviction thereof be subject to a penalty of twenty dollars ($20.00) per day for each day over the said thirty (30) days during which the said mine is operated

ARTICLE VII

DUTIES OF MINE FOREMEN AND ASSISTANT MINE FOREMEN

Section 701 It shall be the duty of every mine foreman on arrival at his office every morning without delay to make inquiry from his assistants as to the condition of the mine or part thereof under their charge and if any dangerous thing is reported to him by any assistant that may affect the safety of the workmen he shall have the same remedied without delay. If any dangerous condition is discovered by any assistant, he shall take immediate steps to correct the same and report the same to the Mine Foreman without delay.

Section 702 He shall examine every day all reports made of mine inspections and mine equipment If he finds anything reported as unsafe or dangerous he shall have such unsafe or dangerous thing remedied without delay and no person shall be allowed to work at or near an unsafe or dangerous thing except for the purpose of making it safe He shall sign all said reports after reading them as evidence of having done so

Section 703 Whenever a mine foreman cannot personally carry out the provisions of this act so far as they pertain to him the owner operator or superintendent shall authorize him to employ a sufficient number of competent persons to act as his assistants who shall be subject to his orders

Section 704 The mine foreman shall have charge of all matters pertaining to ventilation and the speed of the ventilators shall be particularly under his charge and direction and any superintendent who shall cause the mine foreman to disregard the provisions of this act shall be amenable in the same manner as themine foreman The mine foreman shall designate some competent person whose duty it shall be to start and stop all auxiliary and booster fans

Section 705 All accessible parts of an abandoned portion of a mine in which explosive gases have been found shall be carefully examined by the mine foreman or his assistants at least once a week and all danger found existing therein shall be immediately removed. A report of said examination shall be recorded in a book kept at the colliery for that purpose and signed by the person making the same

Section 706 In all gaseous (B and B Classes) mines which in the opinion of the local Inspector require inspection the Mine Foreman or his assistant or a competent person to be selected by the Mine Foreman who in the opinion of the Mine Foreman is qualified to make the necessary examination of a working place or places shall make a careful examination every morning of all working places and traveling roads and all other places which might endanger the safety of the workmen before the workmen shall enter the mine and such examination shall be made with a safety lamp within three (3) hours at most before time for commencing work and a workman shall not enter the mine or his working place until the said mine or part thereof and working place are reported to be safe Every report shall be recorded without delay in a book which shall be kept at the colliery for the purpose and shall be signed by the person making the examination Provided That in cases of emergency as from sickness or other causes the mine foreman may designate a competent person to make such examinations

Section 707 The person who makes said examination shall establish proof of the same by marking plainly the date thereof at the face of each working place and all other places examined

Section 708: It shall be the duty of the Mine Foreman to establish at the entrance to each Class B and C mines or at the entrance to such separate sections of such mines as may require it, a station or stations clearly barricaded and no workman shall pass beyond such barricade until the mine or that portion beyond such a clearly barricaded station has been inspected and reported to be safe.

Section 709 If at any time it is found by the person for the time being in charge of the mine or any part thereof that by reason of noxious gases prevailing in such mine or any part thereof or of any cause whatever the mine or the said part is dangerous every precaution shall be used to ensure the safety of the workmen and every workman except such persons as may be required to remove the danger shall be withdrawn from the mine or such part thereof as is so found dangerous until the said mine or said part thereof is examined by a competent person and reported by him to be safe

Section 710: The Mine Foreman or his assistant shall visit and examine every working place in the mine every working day and if safe and practicable, this visit and examination shall be made while the men of such place are or should be at work and shall direct that each and every working place is properly secured by props or timber and that safety in all respects is assured by directing that all loose coal or rock shall be pulled down or secured and that no person shall be permitted to work in an unsafe place unless it be for the purpose of making it secure. Provided, however, that if the mine is idle (forty-eight (48) hours or more) the mine foreman or his assistant shall examine every working place three (3) hours before operations are resumed

Section 711 The mine foreman or some other competent person or persons to be designated by hi mshall examine at least once every day all slopes shafts main roads traveling ways signal apparatus pulleys and timbering to see that they are in safe and efficient working condition

Section 712 In every shaft or slope in which provision is made in this act for lowering and hoisting persons a headman or footman shall be designated by the superintendent or foreman to be at their proper places at all times while men are underground Such headman and footman shall personally attend to the signals and see that the provisions of this act in respect to lowering and hoisting persons in shafts and slopes shall be complied with

Section 713 Whenever loss of life to a miner or other employe occurs in or about a colliery notice thereof shall be given promptly to the inspector of mines for the district in which the accident occurred by the mine foreman or outside foreman or other person having immediate charge of the work at the time of the accident and when death results from personal injury such notice shall be given promptly after the knowledge of the death comes to the said foreman or person in charge

Section 714 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman or his assistants in case of injury to any employe by explosion of gas or powder or by any cause while said miners are at work in said mines to at once visit the scene of accident see that the injured is carefully wrapped in woolen blankets and removed to the "medical room" and so treated with oils or other remedies as will add to the comfort and care of the patient After being treated with all the skill known to the foreman or his assistants the injured person shall be carefully wrapped up and sent to the surface to be taken in an ambulance or to the mining hospital as may be desired without expense to the injured person

Section 715 Where an accident to any employe involves injury to limbs or causes loss of blood the foreman or his assistants shall see that the bandages splints and linen shall be applied where necessary to prevent loss of blood and relieve pain The foreman shall in all cases see that the injured person is sent to the surface without delay He shall also keep a record showing the name of the person injured the nature of the injury the treatment and by whom treated at the time of the accident

Section 716 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman or his assistant to test by means of a flame safety lamp or with some other approved device the condition of the atmosphere in each section of his mine each day while the men are at work A report of such examination shall be recorded in a book kept at the colliery for that purpose The test shall show the extent to which gas was detected whether cap or an explosive mixture

EXAMINATION AND QUALIFICATION OF MINERS

Section 801 Hereafter no peron whatsoever shall be employed or engaged in the anthracite coal regions of this Commonwealth as a miner in any anthracite coal mine without having obtained a certificate of competency and qualification so to do from the Miners' Examining Board of the proper district and having been duly registered as provided by existing law

DUTIES OF MINERS AND OTHER WORKMEN

Section 901 Before commencing work and also after the firing of every blast the miner working a breast or any other place in a mine shall enter such breast or place to examine and ascertain its condition and his laborer or assistant must not go to the face of such breast or place until the miner has examined the same and found it to be safe

Section 902 A miner or other person who is about to explode a blast by the use of patent or other squibs or matches shall not shorten the match nor saturate it with mineral oil nor turn it down when placed in the hole nor ignite it except at its extreme end nor do anything to shorten the time the match will burn

If a miner or other person uses a fuse to explode a blast such fuse shall be of sufficient length to protrude at least six (6) inches from the mouth of the hole and in no case shall the total length of the fuse be less than eighteen (18) inches

A place shall be stopped for at least thirty (30) minutes after a squib misses fire Where fuses (straight and time fuses) are used and a missed shot occurs the working place shall be stopped for at least twelve (12) hours If a misfire occurs where electric blasting caps are used an interval of at least thirty (30) minutes must elapse before workmen shall return to such working face

Section 903 A miner or other workman shall not withdraw a charge of powder or other explosive in coal slate or rock which has missed fire nor shall the hole be reopened

Section 904 When a miner or other workman is about to fire a blast he shall be careful to notify all persons who may be in danger therefrom and shall give sufficient alarm before firing any blast by any means whatsoever so that any person or persons who may be approaching shall be warned of the danger

Section 905 Any miner or other person having charge of a working place in any mine shall keep the roof and sides thereof properly secured by timber or otherwise so as to prevent such roof and sides from falling and he shall not do any work or permit any work to be done under loose or dangerous material except for the purpose of securing the same

Section 906 Any miner or other workman who shall discover anything wrong with the ventilating current or with the condition of the roof side timber or roadway or with any other part of the mine in general such as would lead him to suspect danger to himself or his fellow workmen or to the property of his employer shall immediately report the same to the mine foreman or other person for the time being in charge of that portion of the mine

Section 907 Any miner or other workman shall not be allowed to store gunpowder or any other explosive in a mine He shall not have at any one time in any one place more than one keg or box containing twenty-five (25) pounds unless more is necessary for a person to accomplish one day's work

Section 908 Any miner or other workman who has gunpowder or other explosive in a mine shall keep it in a wooden box securely locked and such box shall be kept at least ten (10) feet from the tracks in all cases

Section 909 Whenever a miner or other workman shall open a box containing explosives or while in any manner handling the same he shall first place his open lamp not less than five (5) feet from such explosives and in such position that the air current cannot convey sparks to it and a workman shall not approach nearer than five (5) feet to an open box containing powder with a lamp lighted pipe or anything containing fire

Section 910 In charging holes for blasting in coal slate or rock no miner or other workman in any mine shall use an iron or steel pointed needle The end of any metal tamping bar must be tipped with at least six (6) inches of copper or other soft metal The hole must be large enough to admit freely the cartridge containing the explosive and in no case shall a tight cartridge be rammed into a hole

Section 911 When gas is ignited by blast or otherwise the miner or other person igniting the same shall immediately extinguish it if possible and notify the mine foreman or his assistant of the fact and workmen must see that no gas blowers are left burning upon leaving their working places

Section 912 Not more than five blasts shall be fired at the working face of a low coal seam within a period of one hour except by permission from the mine foreman or his assistant and each hole when charged and fired shall constitute a blast This section shall not pertain to cracked gangways

Section 913 No miner or laborer shall run cars out of any breast or chamber or on any gravity road unless he is a suitable person designated by the mine foreman for that particular work and no person under the age of eighteen (18) years shall be designated by any mine foreman to perform such work

Section 914 No workman or other person shall ride upon or against any loaded car cage or gun-boat in any shaft slope or plane in or about a mine or colliery

Section 915 When any person is about to descend or ascend a shaft or slope the headman or footman as the sase may be shall inform the engineer by signal or otherwise of the fact and the negineer shall return a signal before moving or starting the engine In the absence of a headman or footman the person about to descend or ascend shall give and receive signals in the same manner

Section 916 No person shall couple or uncouple loaded or empty cars while the same are in motion Provided however That this shall not apply to the top or bottom men of slopes planes or shafts

Section 917 No person except the man giving the signal shall jump on a car cage or gun-boat after the signal has been given and if any person shall enter a car cage or gun-boat in excess of the lawful number the headman or footman shall notify him of the fact and request hi mto get off which request must be immediately complied with Any violation of this rule must be promptly reported to the mine foreman

Section 918 No workman shall pass a fenced off place, a fenced off traveling way, or a designated danger station unless accompanied by a colliery official or unless he has been directed by a colliery official to pass such place, fenced off traveling way, or such designated danger station, for the purpose of making such place or places safe.

ARTICLE X

MAPS AND PLANS

Section 1001 The owner operator or superintendent of every coal mine or colliery shall make or cause to be made an accurate map or plan of the working or excavations of such coal mine or colliery on a scale of one hundred feet to the inch which map or plan shall exhibit the working or excavations in each and every seam of coal and the tunnels and asspages connected with such workings or excavations It shall state in degrees the general inclination of the strata with any material deflection therein in said workings or excavations and shall also state the tidal elevations of the bottom of each and every shaft slope tunnel and gangway and any other point in the mine or on the surface where such elevation shall be deemed necessary by the inspector

The map or plan shall show the number of the last survey station and date of each survey on the gangways or the most advanced workings

It shall also accurately show the boundary lines of the lands of the said coal mine or colliery and the proximity of the workings thereto and in case any mine contains any water damned up in any part thereof it shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent to cause the true location of the said dam to be accurately marked on said map or plan together with the tidal elevation inclination of strata and area of said workings containing water and whenever any workings or excavations are approaching the workings where such dam or water is contained or situated the owner operator or superintendent shall notify the inspector of the same without delay

Whenever a mine fire is sealed an outline of the sealed area must be plainly shown on the mine map together with such data as the mine inspector may request pertaining to the same

nish the inspector with any additional information regarding bore holes upon his request

The said owner operator or superintendent shall deposit a true copy of such map or plan with the inspector of mines for the district in which the said coal mine or colliery is situated showing the workings of each seam if so desired by the inspector on a separate sheet of tracing muslin One copy of said map or plan shall be kept at the colliery

Section 1002 The said owner operator or superintendent shall as often as once in every six months place or cause to be placed on the said inspector's map or plan of said coal mine or colliery the plan of the extensions made in such coal mine or colliery during the preceding six months The said extensions shall be placed on the inspector's map and the map returned to the inspector within two months from the date of the last survey

Section 1003 When any coal mine or colliery is worked out preparatory to being abandoned or when any lift thereof is about to be abandoned the owner operator or superintendent of such coal mine or colliery shall have the maps or plans thereof extended to include all excavations as far as practicable and such portions thereof as have been worked to the boundary lines of adjoining properties Any part or parts of the workings which are intended to be allowed to fill with water must be surveyed in duplicate and such surveys must practically agree They shall be certified to by the owner operator or superintendent and shall be filed with the inspector of the district in which the mines are situated

Section 1004 Whenever the owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine or colliery shall neglect or refuse or from any cause not satisfactory to the inspector shall fail for a period of three months to furnish to the inspector the map or plan of said colliery or of the extensions thereto as provided for in this Article the inspector is hereby authorized to cause an accurate map or plan of such coal mine or colliery to be made at the expense of the owner thereof which cost shall be recoverable from said owner as other debts are by law recoverable

Section 1005 If the inspector finds or has reason to believe that any map or plan of any coal mine or colliery furnished under the provisions of this article is materially inaccurate it shall be his duty to make application to the Court of Common Pleas of the county in which such colliery is situated for an order to have an accuratet map or plan of said colliery prepared and if such survey shall prove that the map furnished was materially inaccurate or imperfect suc howner operator or superintendent shall be liable for the expense incurred in making the same

Section 1006 If it shall be found that the map or plan furnished by the owner operator or superintendent was not materially inaccurate or imperfect the Commonwealth shall be held liable for the expense incurred in making said test survey

Section 1007 If it shall be shown that the said owner operator or superintendent has knowingly or designedly caused or allowed such map or plan when finished to be incorrect or false such owner operator or superintendent thus offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment not exceeding three (3) months at the discretion of the court

Section 1008 The maps or plans of the several coal mines or collieries in each district and which are placed in the custody of the inspector shall be the property of the Commonwealth and shall remain in the care of inspector of the district in which the said collieries are situated to be transferred by him to his successor in office and in no case shall a copy of the same be made without the consent of the owner operator or superintendent

Section 1009 The inspector's map or plan of any particular colliery shall be open for inspection in the presence of the inspector to any miner or miners of that colliery whenever said miner or miners shall have cause to fear that his or their working place or places are becoming dangerous by reason of their proximity to other workings which may be supposed to contain water or dangerous gases Said map shall also be open to the inspection and examination of any citizen interested during business hours

Section 1010 It shall be obligatory on the owners of adjoining coal properties to leave or cause to be left a pillar of coal in each seam or vein of coal worked by them along the line of adjoining property of such width that taken in connection with the pillar to be left by the adjoining property owner will be a sufficient barrier for the safety of the employes of either mine in case the other should be abandoned and allowed to fill with water such width of pillar to be determined by the engineers of the adjoining property owners together with the inspector of the district in which the mine is situated Such width of pillar as shall have been agreed upon by the adjoining property owners and the mine inspector of the district shall be placed on the inspector's map without delay

The surveys of the face of the workings along such pillar shall be made in duplicate and must practically agree A copy of such duplicate surveys certified to must be filed with the owners of the adjoining properties and with the inspector of the district in which the mine or property is situated

Section 1011 A. the request of the mine inspector the owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine shall furnish him with a geological cross section of such coal seams in such mine as he may require

SHAFTS SLOPES OPENINGS AND OUTLETS

Section 1101 It shall not be lawful for the owner operator or superintendent of any mine to employ any person or persons in such mine or permit any person or persons to be in such mine for the purpose of working therein unless there are in connection with every seam of coal and from every lift thereof worked in such mine not less than two openings or outlets separated by a stratum of not less than sixty (60) feet in breadth underground and one hundred and fifty (150) feet in breadth at the surface at which openings or outlets safe and distinct means of ingress or egress are at all times available for the person or persons employed in said mine This section shall not apply to opening of a new mine or to opening any new lift of a mine while being worked for the purpose of making a connection between said two outlets so long as not more than twenty (20) persons are employed at one time in such mine or new lift of a mine At least half of this number must be employed at making the second outlet Neither shall this section apply to any mine or part of a mine in which the second outlet has been rendered unavailable by reason of the final robbing of pillars previous to abandonment so long as not more than twenty (20) persons are employed therein at any one time The cage or cages and other means of egress shall at all times be available for the persons employed where there is no second outlet.

Section 1102 The owner operator or superintendent of any mine to which there is only one shaft slope or outlet may petition the Court of Common Pleas in and for the county in which said mine is situated which said court is hereby empowered to act in the premises settting forth that in consequence of intervening lands between the working of his mine and the only practicable point at which to makee or bring to the surface from the working of his mine he is unable to make an additional shaft slope or outlet in accordance with the requirements of this act whereupon the court may make an order of reference and appoint three disinterested persons residents of a county viewers one or more of whom shall be a practical mining engineer all of whom after being sworn to a faithful discharge of their duties shall view and examine the premises and determir as to whether the owner should have the provilege of making an additional outlet through or upon any intervening lands as the case may require and report in writing to the court which report shall be entered and filed of record.

Section 1103 If the finding of the viewers or any two of them is in favor of the owner of such coal mine or colliery he may make an additional shaft slope or outlet under through or upon intervening lands as may be determined upon and provided for by the award If the finding of the viewers is against the owner or if no award be made by reason of any default or neglect on the part of the owner he shall be bound to comply with the provisions of this act in the same manner as if this section had not been enacted In case the said owner operator or superintendent desires to and claims that he ought to make an additional opening under through or upon any adjoining or intervening lands to meet the requirements of this act for the ingress and egress of the men employed in his or their mine he or they shall make a statement of the facts in the petition with a survey setting forth the point of commencement and the point of termination of the proposed outlet which he or they their engineers agents or employes may enter upon said intervening lands and survey and mark as he or they shall find it proper to adopt for such additional outlet doing as little damage as possible to the property explored and the viewers shall state in their report what damage will be sustained by the owner or owners of the intervening lands by the opening construction and use of the outlet and if the report is not appealed from it shall be confirmed or rejected by said court as to right and justice shall appertain and any further and all proceedings in relation thereto shall be in conformity with like proceedings as in the case of a lateral railroad across or under intervening lands under the act in relation to lateral railroads approved the fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred thirty-two (Pamphlet Laws five hundred one) and the supplements thereto so far as the provisions of the same are applicable hereto and the notices to the owner of intervening lands of the intention to apply for the privilege of making an outlet and meeting of the viewers shall be given and the costs of the case shall be paid as provided in the said act of May fifth Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred thirty-two (Pamphlet Laws five hundred one) and the supplements thereto.

Section 1104 The main escapement shafts or slopes shall be fitted with safe and available appliances by which persons employed in the mine may readily escape in case an accident occurs deranging the hoisting machinery at the main outlets.

Section 1105 In all slopes where the angle of inclination is fifteen (15) degrees or less there must be provided a separate traveling way which shall be maintained in a safe condition for travel and kept free from steam and dangerous gases.

Section 1106 The top of each slope if dangerous or any intermediate lift thereof shall be securely fenced off by railing or by verticle or flat gates.

Section 1107 Every abandoned slope shaft airhole and drift shall be properly fenced around or across its entrance.

Section 1108 All underground entrances to any places not in actual course of working or extension shall be properly fenced across the whole width of such entrances so as to prevent persons from inadvertently entering the same.

Section 1109 The owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine or colliery which is worked by shaft or slope shall provide and maintain a telephone or suitable appliance by or through which conversation can be held by and between persons at the bottom and at the top of the shaft or slope and also an efficient means of signaling from the bottom of such shaft or slope to the engineer in charge of the hoisting engines The owner operator or superintendent of every coal mine or colliery shall provide and maintain a telephone by or through which conversations can be had between persons on the outside of the mines and the principal centers of operations in the mines.

Section 1110 The owner operator or superintendent of all mines shall see that the surface landing and all other landings of shafts are provided with gates so hung and adjusted that they will close automatically It shall be unlawful for any man employed as a footman at a shaft in which coal or other material is hoisted to work at this occupation unless he has provided himself with a safety headgear or helmet of a design approved by the Department of Mines which headgear or helmet must be worn by him at all times while on duty.

Section 1111 Every cage or gun-boat used for lowering or hoisting persons in any shaft or slope shall be provided with handrails safety catches and a proper protector so constructed that persons while on such cage or gun-boat shall not be struck by anything which may fall or roll down said shaft or slope

Section 1112 Over all shafts which are being sunk or shall hereafter be sunk a safe and substantial structure shall be erected to sustain the sheaves or pulleys at a height of not less than twenty (20) feet above the tipping place and the top of such shaft shall be arranged in such manner that no material can fall into the shaft while the bucket is being emptied

Section 1113 The said structure shall be erected as soon as a substantial foundation is obtained and in no case shall a shaft be sunk to a depth of more than fifty (50) feet without such structure

Section 1114 If provision is made to land the bucket upon a truck the said truck shall be constructed in such manner that the material cannot fall into the shaft All rock and coal from shafts as they are being sunk shall not be raised except in a bucket or on a cage and such bucket or cage must be connected to the rope or chain by a safety hook or clevis or other safe attachment

Section 1115 Such shafts shall be provided with such guides and guide attachments applied in such manner as to prevent the bucket from swinging while descending or ascending therein and such guides and guide attachments shall be maintained at a distance of not more than seventy-five (75) feet from the bottom of such shaft until its sinking shall have been completed but this section shall not apply to shafts one hundred (100) feet or less in depth.

Section 1116. Where the strata are not safe every shaft shall be securely cased lined or otherwise made secure

Section 1117 The following rules shall be observed as far as practicable in every shaft to which this act applies

First After each and every blast the chargeman must see that all loose material is swept down from the timbers before the workmen descend to their work.

Second After a suspension of work and also after firing a blast in a shaft where explosive gases are evolved the person in charge must have the said shaft examined and tested with a safety lamp before the workmen are allowed to descend.

Third Not more than four persons shall be lowered or hoisted in any shaft on a bucket at the same time and no person shall ride on a loaded bucket

Fourth Whenever persons are employed on platforms in shafts the person in charge must see that the said platforms are properly and safely constructed.

Fifth While shafts are being sunk all blasts therein must be exploded by an electric battery.

VENTILATION

Section 1201 The owner operator or superintendent of every mine shall provide and maintain a constant and adequate supply of pure air for the same as hereinafter provided.

Section 1202 It shall not be lawful to use a furnace for the purpose of ventilating any mine wherein explosive gases are generated.

Section 1203 The quantities of air in circulation shall be ascertained with an anemometer or other efficient instrument Such measurements shall be made by the inside foreman or his assistant once every week at the and outlet airways also at or near the face of each gangway and at the nearest cross-heading to the face of the inside and outside chambeer or breast where men are employed Such air measurements shall be entered in the colliery report book Cross-headings between chambers or breasts shall not be driven more than sixty (60) feet from the face of each chamber or breast A report of these air measurements shall be sent to the inspector befor the twelfth day of each month for the preceding month together with a statement of the number of persons employed in each district.

Section 1204 The minimum quantity of air produced shall not be less than two hundred (200) cubic feet per minute for each and every person employed in any mine and as much more as the circumstances may require.

Section 1205 The ventilating currents shall be conducted and circulated to and along the face of each and every working place throughout the entire mine in sufficient quantities to dilute render harmless and sweep away smoke and noxious or dangerous gases to such an extent that all working places and traveling roads shall be in a safe and fit state to work and travel therein.

Section 1206 All worked-out or abandoned parts of a mine in operation so far as practicable shall be kept free of dangerous bodies of gases or water and if found impracticable to keep the entire mine free from an accumulation of gases or water the mine imspector must be immediately notified.

All accessible parts of an abandoned portion of a mine in which explosive gases have been found shall be carefully examined by the mine foreman or his assistants at least once a week and any dangerous condition found existing therein shall be immediately removed A report of said examination shall be recorded in a book kept at the colliery for that purpose and signed by the person making the same

Section 1207 Every mine employing more than seventy-five (75) persons must be divided into two or more districts Each district shall be provided with a separate split of pure air and the ventilation shall be so arranged that not more than seventy-five (75) persons shall be employed at the same time in any one current or split of air

The inlet and return air passages for any particular district must be separated by a pillar of coal or stone if the thickness and dip of the vein wil permit except where it is necessary to cut through said dividing pillar for the purpose of ventilation traffic or drainage.

Section 1208 All air passages shall be of sufficient area to allow the free passage of not less than two hundred (200) cubic feet of air per minute for every person working the rein and in no case in mines generating explosive gases shall the velocity exceed four hundred and fifty (450) lineal feet per minute in any opening through which the air currents pass if gauze safety lamps are used except in the main inlet or outlet airways.

Section 1209 Al cross-cuts connecting the main inlet and outlet air passages of every district when it becomes necessary to close them permanently shal be substantially closed with brick or other suitable building material laid in mortar or cement whenever practicable

Section 1210 All doors used in assisting or in any way affecting the ventilation shall be so hung and adjusted that they will close automatically

Section 1211 All main doors shall have an attendant whose constant duty it shall be to open them for transportation and travel and prevent them from standing open longer than is necessary for persons or cars to pass through unless a self-acting door is used which is approved by the inspector of the district.

Section 1212 All main doors shall be so placed that when one door is open another which has the same effect upon the same current shall be and remain closed and thus prevent any temporary stoppage of the air current

Section 1213 An extra main door shall be so placed and kept standing open as to be out of reach of accident and so fixed that is can be at once closed in the event of an accident to the doors in use.

Section 1214 The frame work of such main doors shall be substantially secured in stone or brick laid in mortar or cement unless otherwise permitted in writing by the inspector.

Section 1215 All permanent air bridges shall be substantially built of fireproof material and of such strength as the circumstances may require Temporary air bridges or overcasts may be built of other suitable material upon permission from the mine inspector.

Section 1216 All ventilators used at mines shall be provided with recording instruments by which the speed of the ventilators or the ventilating pressure shall be registered for each hour and such data shall be preserved at the colliery for future references for a period of three months.

Section 1217 An accumulation of gas in mines shall not be removed by brushing When such accumulations occur they must be removed by sufficient air currents only

Section 1218: No auxiliary or booster fan shall be allowed in any Class C mine unless a request in writing be made by the superintendent of such mine to the mine inspector of the district and permission granted by him to install such fan.

Section 1219 Auxiliary fans driven by electric power shall not be used in gaseous mines (C class) unless the motors of such fans are enclosed in explosion proof casings approved by the United States Bureau of Mines All such fans must be located so that there shall be maintained at all times a positive separation of inlet and outlet air currents.

Section 1220 All main fans used to ventilate gaseous mines shall be operated continuously when necessary for the safety of the men employed therein and when the Mine Inspector so orders During any period in which repairs are being made to any such fan or fans or for any reason any such fans are stopped no person or persons shal be allowed in any gaseous part of said mine except for the purpose of making examinations and observations of gaseous conditions All such examinations shall be made with an approved safety lamp

Section 1221 Whenever a mine suspends operations temporarily and is being maintained in readiness for operation the mine shall be examined at least once a week in the same manner as if in operation and a report of such examination shall be made in the colliery report book and signed by the person making the examination.

Section 1222: When non-gaseous (Class A) mines in which mining has been suspended and fans stopped during such idle periods, before such mine or mines resume mining, all such fans shall be put in operation at least twelve (12) hours before work is resumed. An examination of all working places, haulage roads, traveling roads, etc., shall be made before the men are allowed to enter the mine.

Section 1223 When any main ventilating fans have been stopped they shall prior to the resumption of work in the mine be operated a sufficient length of time to provide a supply of air adequate enough to dilute render harmless and sweep away all smoke and noxious gases and an examination shall be made of all haulage roads traveling roads working places and other places in which accumulations of gas or smoke might endanger the safety of the workmen before the men are allowed to enter the mine.

Section 1224 All inlet and outlet airways shall be kept free from all obstructions and in fit state to be traveled and inspected at all times.

Section 1225 Any person or persons who shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or who shall make any false report in regard to air measurements shall be guilty of an offense against this act.

ARTICLE XIII

UNDERGROUND BUILDINGS

Section 1301 All buildings inside of any anthracite coal mine in Pennsylvania including engine-houses pumphouses stables et cetera shall be constructed of incombustible material and no temporary buildings of any character in any mine shall be constructed unless they are constructed of incombustible material.

Section 1302 Any owner operator or superintendent of a coal mine failing to comply with this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of one hundred dollars ($100.-00) or undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a period of ten (10) days or both at the discretion of the court.

CLASSIFICATION OF MINES OR SECTIONS THEREOF WITH REFERENCE TO COMBUSTIBLE GAS

Section 1401 All anthracite mines or sections thereof shall be classed as A B or C as hereinafter provided.

Section 1402 A Class A mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which seven one-hundredths (7/100) o fone per cent of combustible gas or less is found Such mine or section thereof shall be considered non-gaseous.

Section 1403 A Class B mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which more than seven one-hundredths (7/100) of one per cent and less than five-tenths (5/10) of one per cent of combustible gas is found.

Section 1404 A Class C mine or section thereof shall be considered one in which five-tenths (5/10) of one per cent or more of combustible gas is found.

Section 1405 Examinations to determine the classification of mines or sections thereof shall be made by the operator or his representative every six months at the faces of the first and last working place on a split and the average of the tests shall be the determining factor Tests shal be made by use of a methane detector approved by the United States Bureau of Mines or by chemical analyses.

Section 1406 The ventilation must have been stopped or short-circuited for at least fifteen minutes when the aforesaid examinations are made and the results recorded and a copy of the same shall be sent to the inspector of the district within ten days after such examination.

Section 1407 The classification of a section of a mine as "A" "B" or "C" does not of necessity place the whole mine in that class

Section 1408 If one-fourth (1/4) of an inch gas cap can be seen on the flame of an approved safety lamp it shall be assumed that the air contains at least one and one-half (1 1/2) per cent of combustible gas.

Section 1409 No mine or section thereof shall be considered as belonging to a less hazardous class than the one to which it formerly belonged without permission from the inspector of the district.

USE OF ELECTRICITY

Section 1501 All electrical apparatus and conductors shall be so installed and protected as to reduce danger from shock or fire to a minimum.

Section 1502 No higher voltage than medium (650) shall be taken underground except for transmission or for application to transformers or other apparatus in which the whole of the high voltage circuit is stationery.

Section 1503 When high voltage cables are taken into the mine through bore holes shafts slopes and other traveling ways to an underground station from which point low or medium voltage may be conveyed said cables shall be so constructed as to reduce the hazards of accidental shock to a minimum.

Section 1504 In gaseous mines (C class) high voltage transmission cables shall be installed in the intake airways or in bore holes provided such bore holes are in or connected to intake airways unless specific permission to install high voltage cables has been given by the Inspector in writing and in response to a specific written request

High voltage motors and transformers if used in a mine shall be installed only in underground stations ventilated by intake air which has not passed through a gaseous district.

Section 1505 Gloves and mats of rubber or other suitable insulating material shall be provided and used by persons when making repairs to live parts of any electrical apparatus or when live parts of electrical apparatus have to be handled for the purpose of adjustment Provided That this section shall not apply to electric signal circuits.

Section 1506 Instructions shall be posted in every generating transforming and motor room containing directions as to the restoration of persons suffering from electric shock

Section 1507 In underground stations where switchboards are installed there shall be a passageway in front of the switchboard not less than three (3) feet in the clear. The rear of said switchboard must be fenced off so that there is no passageway in the rear, or if this be impracticable any such passageway must be three (3) feet in the clear.

When medium voltage is used insulating floors or mats shall be provided where live metal work is on the front of the board. When high voltage is used, unless installed in a locked room to which only authorized persons are admitted, all live metal parts on the front of the main switchboard within seven (7) feet of the floor or platform shall be guarded so as to prevent persons from coming in contact with such live parts. The floor back of the board shall be made of incombustible material. Provided, however, that this section does not apply to switchboards now in service or extensions thereof.

Section 1508 Fire buckets filled with clear dry sand or other standard extinguishers for electrical fires shall be kept in underground stations ready for immediate use in extinguishing fires.

Section 1509 Medium or low pressure conductors may be bare except in gaseous portions (C class) of the mines This rule is not to include trolley wire except where hereinafter provided.

Section 1510 At all landings and partings where men are required to work regularly or pass under trolley or other bare power wires which are placed less than six and one-half (6½) feet above the top of the rail a suitable protection shall be provided This protection may be afforded by channeling the roof placing boards along the wires which shall extend below them or the use of other approved devices that afford protection.

Section 1511 All underground power wires and cables in hoisting shafts or manway compartments shall be highly insulated and substantially fixed in position On main haulage roads all cables and other wires except trolley wires and D C feeder wires when mounted on the same supports shall be kept at least twelve (12) inches away from any part of the mine car or locomotive.

Section 1512 Trailing cables in use shall be examined daily by the machine operator for abrasions and other defects and he shall report any defect to the mine foreman or his assistant and it shall be immediately remedied or the cable put out of service.

Section 1513 All points at which a circuit other than a signal circuit has to be made or broken shall be provided with proper switches The use of hooks or other makeshifts are prohibited except that connection for gathering locomotives or locomotives and machines used in driving headings or chambers may be made to the trolley wire by means of suitable hooks.

Section 1514 In any gaseous portion of a mine (B and C class) a coal-cutting machine shall not be brought beyond the last cross-cut next the working face until the machine man shall have made an inspection for gas or until such examination shall have been made by some other competent person If any explosive gas is found in the place the machine shall not be taken in.

Section 1515 No coal-cutting machine shall be continued in operation in a gaseous portion of a mine (C class) for a longer period than half an hour without an examination being made for gas and if gas is found the current shall at once be switched off and the machine and the trailing cable shall forthwith be disconnected from the power supply.

Section 1516 The person in charge of a coal-cutting machine loading machine or drilling machine shall not leave the machine while it is working and shall before leaving the working place see that the current is cut off from the trailing cables In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) if an electric spark or arc be produced by the cable or rails the defect shall be immediately reported to the mine foreman or his assistant and the condition remedied without delay.

Section 1517 In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) any gangway airway or other working which is served by cars being pushed to the face of it must not have any trolley wire therein closer than one hundred and fifty (150) feet from its face No modification of this rule shall be allowed unless the mine inspector of the district be first consulted and his permission obtained to make such modification A trailing cable is permitted in all such cases.

No electric haulage motor shall be taken to the face of any working place in any gaseous portion of a mine (B or C class) in the absence of the men working in such place until it is first examined by a competent person and found to be safe.

Section 1518 In no case shall the potential used in the trolley system be higher than low voltage Provided That this section shall not apply to trolley systems now in service or extensions thereof.

Section 1519 No electrical equipment shall be operated in that part of any mine in which more than one and one-half (1½) per cent of combustible gas can be detected and all work must be stopped except such as may be necessary to reduce the percentage content to one and one-half or less

Section 1520 In gaseous mines (B class) open lights and electric lamps are permissible provided a flame safety lamp approved by the Department of Mines is used for testing purposes Such safety lamps shall be as far as practicable kept near the roof of the working face

It shal not be assumed that a mine or portion thereof is gaseous because of the partial or exclusive use of electric cap lamps

Section 1521 In each part of all gaseous mines (C class) no light other than a locked safety lamp or a locked safety lamp and electric cap lamp both of a type which shall be first approved by the Departmnet of Mines shall be allowed or used in such part Whenever safety lamps or electric cap lamps are required in any mine or part thereof they shall be the property of the owner of said mine and a competent person who shall be appointed for the purpose shall examine every safety lamp and electric cap lamp before it is taken into the workings for use and he shal ascertain that al safety lamps are clean safe and securely locked and safety lamps and electric cap lamps shall not be used until they have been so examined and found safe and in the case of safety lamps clean and securely locked

Section 1522 No one except a duly authorized person shall have in his possession a key or any other contrivance for the purpose of unlocking any safety lamp in any gaseous mine where locked safety lamps or electric cap lamps are used It shall be unlawful for any person or persons working in gaseous mines (C class) or portion of a gaseous mine (C class) which is worked by locked safety lamps or locked safety lamps and electric cap lamps to carry into the mine mtaches smakers' articles or any other material or articles which may cause fire To prevent such articles being carried into a dangerous mine or section thereof the mine foreman when he see fit shall cause a search of the men for such articles

Section 1523 In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) except such parts as are ventilated by pure intake air incandescent lamps shall be protected by gas tight fittings of strong glass

Section 1524 All shot firing in gaseous mines or sections of mines (C class) shall be done by the use of an electric battery approved by the Secretary of Mines and furnished free of charge by the owner or operator of such mine No black powders shall be used in such mines

Section 1525 No shot firing unit shall be connected to the shot firing leads until all other connections preparatory to the firing of shots have been completed and all persons have moved to a place of safety

Section 1526 In any gaseous portion of a mine (C class) the potential used for signaling purposes shall not exceed twenty-four (24) volts and bare wires shall not be used for signal circuits except in intake air currents

Section 1527: Where electric transformers are located on the outside and mounted on steel structures there shall be provided proper walkways or platforms so that examinations or inspections of the same can be made. All transformers within eight (8) feet of the ground shall be protected by fencing, such fencing to be of a height that will prevent persons from inadvertently coming in contact with same.

Section 1528 At all surface plants of collieries and in all mines where electric power is used adequate switches shal be provided at the points where it may be necessary to turn power on or off Such switches except high voltage air break and disconnecting switches and those on D C feeder or on trolley circuits shall be so arranged that they can be operated only from and without the box when the latter is completely closed

Section 1529 Any person or persons failing to comply with the provisions of this article shall be guilty of an offense against this act and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) or undergo imprisonment for thirty (30) days in the county jail or both at the discretion of the court

Inquests

Section 1601 If whenever death occurs from an accident in or about an anthracite coal mine of this Commonwealth and after an examination of such accident the mine inspector finds an inquest should be held he shall notify the coroner to hold such inquest without delay and if no inquest be held by the coroner within forty-eight (48) hours after such notice the inspector shall institute a further and fuller examination of such accident and for this purpose he shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses at such examination and to administer oaths and affirmations to persons testifying thereat The inspector shall make a record of all such investigations and accidents which record shall be preserved in his office The cost of such investigations shall be paid by the Department of Mines in like manner as other costs are now paid

Section 1602 An inquest held by the coroner upon the body of a person killed by explosion or other accident shall be adjourned by the coroner if the inspector of mines be not present to watch the proceedings and the coroner in such case shall notify the inspector in writing of such adjournment inquest and the time and place of holding the same at least three (3) days previous thereto

Section 1603 Due notice of an intended inquest to be held by the coroner shall be given by the coroner to the inspector and at any such inquest the mine inspector and any representative of a party in interest shall have the right to examine witnesses and read the law governing thecase to the coroner's jury

Section 1604 If at any inquest over the body or bodies of persons whose death was caused by an accident in or about a mine or colliery the inspector cannot be present to watch the proceedings the coroner may proceed with such inquest and if it is shown by the evidence given at the inquest that the accident was caused by neglect or by any defect in or about the mine or colliery which in the judgment of the jury requires a remedy the coroner shall send notice in writing to said inspector of such neglect or default

Section 1605 No person who is interested personally nor a person employed in the mine or at a colliery in or at which loss of life has occurred by accident shall be qualified to serve on a jury empaneled on the inquest and a constable or other officer shall not summon such a person so disqualified as a juror but the coroner shall empanel a majority of the jury from miners who are qualified to judge the nature of the accident

Medical Rooms and First Aid Treatment

Section 1701 It shall be unlawful to operate any anthracite mine in the State of Pennsylvania employing more than five persons unless said mine is provided with a sufficient quantity of medical supplies bandages linens splints woolen and waterproof blankets The mine foreman or his assistant shall keep a record showing the required articles on hand Said articles shal be stored in rooms erected at a convenient place in the mine and on the surface which rooms shall not be less than eight by twelve feet and sufficiently furnished lighted clean and ventilated so that therein medical treatment may be given injured employes in case of emergency The furnishings shall be sufficient to accommodate two or more persons in reclining and sitting posture. In the mines where five (5) men or less are employed there shall be kept at such mines first aid kits so that first aid to the injured may be rendered in case of necessity

Section 1702 The neglect or refusal to perform the duties required to be performed by this article or the violation of any of the requirements hereof shall be deemed a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof in the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county wherein the misdemeanor was committed be punishable by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding six months (6) or both at the discretion of the court

Regulating Weights of Explosives

Section 1801 On and after the passage of this act each and every keg or box of explosives used manufactured or sold in or around the anthracite coal mines of this Commonwealth shall have clearly stamped upon it the name of the person firm or corporation manufacturing said explosives the percentage strength of such explosives and also the number of pounds of explosives contained in said keg or box Said explosives must at all times be contained in a metal keg or wooden box

Section 1802 Any manufacturer or dealer in said explosives making or selling or causing to be made or sold any keg or box of said explosives containing less weight than shall be shown as stamped upon the keg or box shal be subject to a penalty of five dollars ($5.00) for each and every keg or box of said explosives manufactured or sold which does not contain the respective weights as set forth in the foregoing section

Section 1803 It shall not be lawful for any other person firm or corporation except the person firm or corporation whose name shall be stamped on said keg or box to use any such stamped keg or box for the purpose of containing explosives

Section 1804 Any person firm or corporation violating the provisions of section one thousand eight hundred three of this article shall be subject to a fine of not less than five hundred dollars ($500.00) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000.00)

ARTICLE XIX

RECOVERY OF BODIES OF ENTOMBED WORKMEN

Section 1901 Whenever any workman or workmen shall heretofore have been or shall hereafter be enclosed entombed or buried in any anthracite coal mine in this Commonwealth it shall be the duty of the court sitting in equity in the county wherein such workman or workmen are enclosed entombed or buried upon the petition of any of the relatives of those enclosed entombed or buried to make an order of court for the petitioner to take testimony in order that the court may ascertain whether such workman or workmen or the body or bodies of such workman or workmen can be recovered or taken out of said mine

Section 1902 If after full hearing it shall appear to the court that such undertaking is feasible or practicable said court may forthwith issue a peremptory mandamus to the owner or owners lessee or lessees operator or operators of such coal company to forthwith proceed to work for and recover and take out the body or bodies of such workman or workmen and said court shall have full authority to enforce such peremptory mandamus in the manner already provided for the enforcement of such process

RECORDS OF COAL LOADED BY MINERS

Section 2001 At every anthracite coal mine in this Commonwealth where coal is mined and paid for by the car a record of all cars of coal mined shall be kept at the miners' chutes or at the most convenient and practical of said chutes where said coal is loaded in cars which record shall be the final basis of computing the miners' earnings per car without any deduction for any slate or other refuse that may be loaded on said car or cars in the usual and natural course of mining and loading coal and which record shall be open at all times for the inspection of all miners

Section 2002 Any individual firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of section two thousand one shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall for each offense be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty ($50.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) Provided That nothing contained in this article shall affect any existing contract

Section 2003 Any person who wilfully shall from any loaded coal car in or about any mine breaker or yard in this Commonwealth take remove sever carry away obliterate or destroy any ticket card tin-slip or other device or sign used to indicate or identify the person or persons to whom credit or pay is or shall be due for the mining of the coal in said car or for the loading of said car for the purpose of depriving such person or persons from getting credit or pay for said car or for the purpose of defrauding such person in any manner shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100.00) or to undergo imprisonment not exceeding one (1) year either or both at the discretion of the court and the jury trying the case may infer such intent from the fact of taking removing carrying away severing obliterating or destroying in any manner of such tickets card tin-slip or other device or sign as aforesaid

WASH HOUSES

Section 2101 It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of each mine or colliery at the request in writing of twenty (20) or more men employed in any of the mines to provide a suitable building not an engine or boiler house which shall be convenient to the principal entrance of such mine for the use of the persons employed therein for the purpose of washing themselves and changing their clothes when entering the mine and returning therefrom The said building shall be maintained in good order be properly lighted and heated and supplied with pure cold and warm water and shall be provided with facilities for persons to wash It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of each mine or colliery to maintain proper attendants continuously at each and every wash house in order to maintain the wash house in a clean and sanitary condition at all times If any person or persons shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or maliciously injure or destroy or cause to be injured or destroyed the said building or any part thereof or any of the appliances or fittings used for suplying light heat and water therein or any act tending to the injury or destruction thereof he or they shall be deemed guilty of an offense against this act

AMBULANCES AND STRETCHERS

Section 2201 The owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery except as hereinafter provided shall provide and keep at such mine or colliery a motor ambulance and also at least two (2) stretchers for the purpose of conveying to their places of abode any person or persons who may be injured while in the discharge of his or their work at such mine or colliery

Section 2202 The said motor ambulance shall be constructed upon good substantial and easy springs It shall be covered and closed and shall have windows on the sides or ends It shall be of sufficient size to convey at least two (2) injured persons with two (2) attendants at one time and shall be provided with spring mattresses or other comfortable bedding to be placed on roller frames together with sufficient covering and protection for the convenient movement of the injured It shall also be provided with seats for the attendants The stretchers shall be constructed in such manner as to afford the greatest ease and comfort in the carriage of injured persons The motor ambulance shall at all times be properly heated

Section 2203 Whenever any person or persons employed in or about a mine or colliery shall receive such injury by accident or otherwise while so employed as would render him or them unable to walk to his or their place of abode the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or colliery shall immediately cause such person or persons to be removed in said motor ambulance to his or their place of abode or to a hospital as the case may require Provided however That where two or more mines or collieries are located within four miles of each other or a motor ambulance is located within four miles of each colliery but one motor ambulance as aforesaid shall be required if said mines or collieries have ready and quick means of communication one with the other by telegraph or telephone

Section 2204 A motor ambulance as aforesaid shall not be required at any mine or colliery at which less than twenty (20) persons are employed

Section 2205 In case the distance from any mine or colliery to the place of abode of the person injured is such as to permit his conveyance to his home or to a hospital more quickly and conveniently by railway such mode of conveyance shall be permitted but in such case the conveyance must be under cover and the comfort of the injured person must be provided for

Section 2206 There shall be furnished free of charge by the State Highway Department a registration certificate and two number tags for every such motor ambulance

ARTICLE XXIII

EMPLOYMENT OF BOYS AND FEMALES

Section 2301 No woman or girl of any age shall be employed or permitted to be in any mine for the purpose of employment therein nor shall a woman or girl of any age be employed or permitted to be in or about the outside structures or workings of a mine or colliery for the purpose of employment Provided however That this prohibition shall not affect the employment of a female of not less than sixteen (16) years of age in an office or in the performance of clerical work at a colliery

Section 2302 No minor under sixteen (16) years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in about or in connection with any breaker or any outside part of any mine or colliery No minor under eighteen (18) years of age shall be employed to be permitted to work inside any coal mine No minor under eighteen (18) years of age shall be employed or permitted to work about or in connection with the outside part of any mine or colliery in the operation of hoisting machines at oiling or cleaning machinery in motion at switch-tending and gate-tending at track repairing or in any other dangerous occupation

Section 2303 Before any person under twenty-one (21) years of age shall be permitted to work in or about any mine or colliery he shall first file with the employer a statement properly sworn to before a magistrate or other proper officer setting forth the date and place of birth and post office address Such statements shall be filed in the colliery office and they shall be available at all times for inspection by the mine inspector of the district or other authorized inspectors or officers charged with the enforcement of this act

Section 2304 Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than two hundred dollars ($200.00) or to undergo an imprisonment of not more than ten (10) days or both at the discretion of the court

SOLICITING MONEY OR OTHER VALUABLES FROM EMPLOYES

Section 2401 On and after the passage of this act and mine superintendent mine foreman or assistant foreman or any other person or persons who shall receive or solicit any sum of money or other valuable consideration from any of his or their employes for the purpose of continuing in his or their employ or for the purpose of procuring employment shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be subject to a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than three hundred dollars ($300.00) or undergo an imprisonment of not less than six (6) months or both at the discretion of the court

DUTIES OF OUTSIDE FOREMEN

Section 2501 The owner operator or superintendent of a colliery shall place a competent person to be called an "outside foreman" in charge of the breaker and outside work of such colliery who shall direct and see that the provisions of this act are complied with in respect to the breaker outside machinery ropes cages and all other things pertaining to the outside work unless otherwise provided for in this act

Section 2502 Whenever an outside foreman cannot personally carry out the provisions of this act so far as they pertain to him the owner operator or superintendent shall authorize him to employ a sufficient number of competent persons to act as his assistants who shall be subject to his orders

Section 2503 In all coal breakers where the coal dust is so dense as to be injurious to the health of persons employed therein the owner operator or superintendent of said breaker shall upon the request of the inspector immediately adopt measures for the removal of the dust

Section 2504 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman of a colliery or his assistant to inspect and examine personally all machinery in breakers and in all other places where machinery is used for the preparation or storage of coal He shall see that all dangerous machinery rolls pulleys screens belts walks etc are properly protected by coverings railings or fencing so as to prevent persons from inadvertently walking against or falling upon the same

Section 2505 All hoisting ropes safety catches main links and chains shall be carefully examined each day they are used by a competent person delegated by the outside foreman to make such examination A record of any defects found therein by which life or limb may be endangered shall be made in a book and signed by the person making it and said book shall be kept in the colliery office where it shall be available for inspection by the inspector of the district

Section 2506 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have all iron hoisting chains main links sockets and slope couplings that are used to lower men into and hoist them from the mines annealed at least once every four (4) months and as much oftener as may be found necessary A record of such annealment shall be kept in a book and signed by the person in charge of the work Provided That this shall not apply to hoisting chains main links sockets and slope couplings that are made of modern heat treated steel

Section 2507 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have the motor ambulance kept in good working condition and to this end he shall have it inspected by a competent mechanic once every month and any defects found shall be immediately remedied A record of such motor ambulance inspection together with its condition shall be made in a book and signed by the person making the inspection

Section 2508 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to keep in the colliery office all employment certificates of minors at which place they shall be open for inspection by the mine inspector of the district or by any other person authorized by law to inspect such certificates

Section 2509 It shall be the duty of the outside foreman to have all cages by which persons are hoisted or lowered in shafts tested for safety as often as once every three (3) months Whenever such test shows that a cage drops nine (9) inches or more or that other dangerous defects exist such cage shall not be further used until all defects therein found have been remedied

Section 2510 If at any time it is found by an employe that any part of the machinery in any breaker or about any colliery has become dangerous he shall immediately notify the foreman whose duty it shall be to have such defect or dangerous condition remedied without delay

Section 2511 The outside foreman shall see that a suitable safety device is installed on the railroad tracks that lead to the breaker and maintained in good working order to protect the loaders who may be loading railroad cars from the coal pockets All railroad car runners shall be provided with safety belts to prevent their falling off such cars

Section 2512 The outside foreman shall before the tenth day of each month send to the mine inspector of the district for the preceding month a report of the condition of all hoisting cages safety catches ropes main links chains breaker machinery motor ambulances or other machinery designating the condition of each by using the words "good" "fair" or "bad" as the case may be This report shall be signed by the outside foreman Such reports shall be made on forms furnished by the Department of Mines

BREAKERS AND MACHINERY

Section 2601 No inflammable structure shall be located over the entrance of any mine opening connecting the surface with the underground workings and no breaker or other inflammable structure for the preparation or storage of coal shall be located nearer than two hundred (200) feet to any mine opening provided that this section shall not apply to breakers and other structures that are now erected

Section 2602 The sides of stairs trestles and dangerous plank walls in and around the collieries shall be provided with hand and guard railings to prevent persons from falling over their sides This section shall not forbid the temporary removal of a fence guard rail or covering for the purpose of repairs or other operations if proper precautions are used and the fence guard rail or covering is replaced immediately thereafter

Section 2603 All persons employed to operate machinery in and about the breaker other than that used to lower and hoist persons into and out of the mines shall be sober and competent persons not less than eighteen (18) years of age

Section 2604 A signal apparatus shall be established at important points in every breaker so that in case of an accident the engineer can be promptly notified to stop the machinery

Section 2605 No person under eighteen (18) years of age shall be appointed to oil the machinery and no person shall oil dangerous parts of such machinery while it is in motion

Section 2606 No person shall play with loiter around or interfere with any machinery in or about any mine or colliery

Section 2607 The main link of the chain connecting the rope to the cage gun-boat or car in any shaft or slope shall be made of the best quality of iron or of heat treated steel Bridle chains made of the same quality of iron or heat treated steel shall be attached to the main link rope or rope socket from the cross head of the cage gun-boat or car when persons are being lowered or hoisted thereon

Section 2608 An efficient brake shall be attached to every drum that is used for lowering or hoisting persons or material in any mine

Section 2609 Flanges or horns of sufficient dimensions to prevent the rope from slipping off the said drums shall be provided and properly attached to the drum and all machines used for lowering or hoisting persons in mines shall be provided with an indicator to show the position of the cage car or gun-boat in the shaft or slope

Section 2610 It shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent of any or all coal breakers to have them properly heated and lighted in order to prevent injury to the health of persons employed therein

Section 2611 Failure to comply with any of the provisions of this article shall be deemed an offense against this act

ARTICLE XXVII

HOISTING ENGINEERS

Section 2701 No person engaged as hoisting engineer at or about the anthracite coal mines of this Commonwealth part of whose duties it is to lower men and boys into and hoist them and coal from the said mines shall be engaged for a longer period than eight (8) hours out of each day of twenty-four (24) hours

Section 2702 An engineer placed in charge of an engine whereby persons are hoisted or lowered in any mine shall be a sober and competent person of not less than twenty-one (21) years of age

Section 2703 Every engineer shall work his engine slowly and with great care when any person is being lowered or hoisted in a shaft or slope and no one shall interfere with him while in the performance of this duty

Section 2704 An engineer who has charge of the hoisting machinery by which persons are lowered or hoisted in a mine shall be in constant attendance for that purpose during the whole time any person or persons are below ground

Section 2705 Any person persons firm partnership corporation or their agents managers or superintendents violating any of the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00)

ARTICLE XXVIII

Section 2801 All boilers used for generating steam in and about mines and collieries shall be kept in good order and the owner operator or superintendent shall have them examined and inspected by a qualified person as often as once in six (6) months and oftener if necessary The result of such examination under oath shall be certified in writing to the inspector for the district within thirty (30) days thereafter

Section 2802 It shall not be lawful to place any boiler or boilers for the purpose of generating steam under or nearer than one hundred (100) feet to any coal breaker or other structure in which persons are employed in the preparation of coal Provided That this section shall not apply to boilers or breakers already erected or to boilers used for heating purposes only

Section 2803 Each nest of boilers shall be provided with a safety valve of sufficient area for the steam to escape and with weights or springs properly adjusted

Section 2804 Every boiler house shall be provided with a steam gauge properly connected with the boilers to indicate the steam pressure and another steam gauge shall be attached to the steam pipe in the engine house and they shall be placed in such position that the engineer or fireman can readily examine them and see what pressure is carried Such steam gauges shall be kept in good order tested and adjusted as often as once in every six (6) months and their condition reported to the inspector in the same manner as the report of boiler inspection

Section 2805 Every fireman in charge of a boiler or boilers for the generation of steam shall keep constant watch over the same He shall see that the steam pressure does not at any time exceed the limit allowed by the outside foreman or superintendent He shall frequently try the safety valve and shall not increase the weight on the same He shall maintain a proper depth of water in each boiler and if anything should happen to prevent this he shall report the same without delay to the foreman for the time being in charge and take such other action as may under the particular circumstances be necessary for the protection of life and preservation of property.

PROPS AND TIMBERS

Section 2901: It shall be the duty of the owner, operator, superintendent or mine foreman of every mine to furnish to the miners all props, ties, rails and timbers necessary for the safe mining of coal and for the protection of the lives of the workmen. Such props, ties, rails, and timbers shall be suitably prepared and shall be delivered to the workmen as near to their working places as they can be conveyed in ordinary mine cars free of charge.

Section 2902 Every workman in want of props ties rails or timbers shall notify the mine foreman or his assistant of the fact at least one day in advance giving the length of the props or timber required and in case of danger from loose roof or sides he shall not continue to cut or load coal until the said props and timber have been properly furnished and the place made secure

Section 2903 No person or persons working in any coal mine or colliery shall cut any props or timbers while the same are in position to support the roof or sides When it becomes necessary to remove any of the said props or timbers for any purpose it may be done by using prop or post pullers or by blasting

RETURNS AND NOTICES

Section 3001 Notices of death or serious injuries resulting from accidents in or about mines or collieries shall be made to the inspector of mines in writing and shall specify the name age occupation of the person killed or injured and also the nature and character of the accident and of the injury caused thereby

Section 3002 The owner operator or superintendent of a mine or colliery shall without delay give notice in writing to the inspector of the district in which said mine or colliery is situated in any or all of the following cases

First Where any working is commenced for the purpose of opening a new slope or mine to which this act applies

Second Where any mine is abandoned or the workings thereof discontinued

Third Where the working of any mine is recommenced after any abandonment or discontinuance for a period exceeding two (2) months

Fourth Before any new coal breaker is completed and work commenced therein for the purpose of preparing coal for market

Fifth Where the pillars of a mine are to be removed or robbed

Sixth Where a squeeze or crush or any other cause or change may seem to affect the safety of persons employed in any mine or where fire occurs or a dangerous body of gas is found in any mine

Section 3003 On or before the second day of each month the owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery shall send to the mine inspector of the district for the preceding month an estimate of the number of days worked tons produced and the number of men employed

Section 3004 On or before the first day of February in each year the owner operator or superintendent of every mine or colliery shall send to the inspector of the district a correct report specifying with respect to the year ending December thirty-first previously the name of the operator and officials of the mine with their postoffice addresses the quantity of coal mined the amount of powder or other explosives consumed and the number of persons employed above and below ground in or about such colliery classifying the persons so employed The report shall be in such form as may be from time to time prescribed by the Secretary of Mines Blank forms for such reports shall be furnished by the Commonwealth

GENERAL RULES

Section 3101 The owner operator and superintendent of a mine or colliery shall use every precaution to insure the safety of the workmen in all cases whether provided for in this act or not and shall have supervision direction and control of the mine foreman and all other mine employes

Section 3102 Whenever a place is likely to contain a dangerous accumulation of water the working approaching such place shall not exceed twelve (12) feet in width and there shall be constantly kept at a distance of not less than twenty (20) feet in advance at least one (1) bore hole near the center of the working and sufficient flank bore holes on each side

Section 3103 Not more than ten (10) persons shall be hoisted or lowered at any one time in any shaft or slope and whenever five (5) persons shall arrive at the bottom of any shaft or slope in which persons are regularly hoisted or lowered they shall be furnished with an empty car or cage and be hoisted except however in mines where there is provided a traveling way having an average pitch of fifteen (15) degrees or less and not more than one thousand (1000) feet in length This however shall not prohibit the hoisting or lowering of twenty (20) persons at one time on slopes where two (2) or more loaded cars are regularly hoisted Provided That not less than thirty (30) workmen working therein make such a request in writing to the inspector of the district and if in his judgment the hoisting appliances in every respect are of sufficient strength he may comply with the request of the workmen And provided further That in any coal mine or colliery where the hoisting appliances are not of sufficient strength to hoist or lower the number of persons named he shall have the power to reduce the number of persons to be hoisted or lowered

Section 3104 When high explosives other than gunpowder are used in any mine the manner of storing keeping moving charging and firing or in any manner using such explosives shall be in accordance with special rules as furnished by the manufacturers of the same The said rules shall be endorsed with his or their official signatures and shall be approved by the owner operator or superintendent of the mine in which such explosives are used

Section 3105 Every passageway used by persons in any mine and also used for transportation of coal or other material shall be made of sufficient width to permit persons to pass moving cars with safety but if found impracticable to make any passageway of sufficient width then holes of ample dimensions and not more than one hundred and fifty (150) feet apart shall be made on one side of said passageway The said passageway and safety holes shall be kept free from obstructions and shall be well drained the roof and sides of the same shall be made secure

Section 3106 When locomotives are used in haulage ways in any mine their speed shall not exceed six (6) miles per hour and a red light shall be provided and attached to the front end of every train of cars pushed by the locomotive in any such haulage ways No locomotive shall be permitted to be used in any mine or colliery unless it is manned by two or more men There shall also be provided a red light to be attached to the rear of every train of cars that is pulled by a locomotive in the main haulage ways of any mine

Section 3107 Any person or persons who shall knowingly or wilfully damage or without proper authority remove or render useless any fencing means of signaling apparatus instrument or machine or shall throw open or obstruct any airway or open a ventilating door and not have the same closed or enter a place in or about a mine against caution or handle without proper authority or disturb any machinery or cars or do any other act or thing whereby the lives or health of persons or the security of the property in or about a mine or colliery is endangered shall be guilty of an offense against this act

Section 3108 When cars are run on gravity roads by brakes or sprags the runner shall ride only on the rear end of the last car and when said cars are run by sprags a space of not less than two (2) feet from the body of the car shall be made on one or both sides of the track wherever it may be necessary for the runner to pass along the side of the moving car or cars and said space or passageway shall always be kept free from obstructions

Section 3109 Safety holes shall be made at the bottom of all slopes and planese and be kept free from obstruction to enable the footman to escape readily in case of danger Such safety holes shall be properly heated in cold weather

Section 3110 Safety blocks or some other device for the purpose of preventing cars from falling into a shaft or running away on a slope plane or all other inclined tracks on which it may be necessary to block cars shall be placed at or near the head of every shaft slope plane or inclined track and said safety blocks or other device must be maintained in good working order

Section 3111 No person shall travel on any gravity plane while cars are being hoisted or lowered thereon Whenever ten (10) persons arrive at the bottom or top of any plane on which it is necessary for men to travel traffic thereon shall be suspended for a period of time long enough to permit them to reach the top or bottom of said plane

Section 3112 No mine cars shall be used in any mine unless the bumpers are of sufficient length and width to keep the bodies of said cars separated by not less than twelve (12) inches when the cars stand on a straight level road and the bumpers touch each other

Section 3113 For the purpose of making known the rules and the provisions of this act to all persons employed in or about such mine or colliery to which this act applies an abstract of the act and rules shall be posted up in legible characters in some conspicuous place or places at or near the mine or colliery where they may be conveniently read by the persons employed and so often as the same become obliterated or destroyed the owner operator or superintendent shall cause them to be renewed with all reasonable dispatch Any person who pulls down injures or defaces such abstract of the act or rules when posted up in pursuance of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of an offense against this act

Section 3114 Holes drilled for blasting purposes shall be stemmed to the mouth of the hole and in case of a misfire no stemming or charge shall be removed from such hole but another hole shall be drilled at least eighteen (18) inches from and parallel to the original hole Provided however That where an efficient sealing device is used stemming to the mouth of the hole shall not be necessary and in case of misfire in such sealed holes a second charge may be inserted to explode or destroy the original charge

Section 3115 A gangway or other working place from which chambers are driven or long wall mining is done in a law coal seam shall have a traveling way on one side of same at least three (3) feet wide and five (5) feet high Chambers or other places driven from such gangways shall not be more than two hundred and fifty (250) feet long unless provided with a traveling way at least three (3) feet wide and three and one-half (3½) feet high

Section 3116 It shall not be lawful for any mine foreman or superintendent of any mine or colliery to employ any person who is not competent to understand the regulations of any mine evolving combustible gas Provided That this rule shall not apply to a section of a mine free from combustible gas

Section 3117 Any superintendent or mine foreman who prevents the footman from giving an empty car or cage to the number of men designated in section three thousand one hundred three shall be guilty of an offense against the provisions of this article and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars ($50.00) for each offense An empty trip shall be hoisted in any shaft or slope where the engine has been standing idle for one hour or more before men are hoisted or lowered in said shafts or slopes and no person or persons shall ascend any shaft or slope when working on the night turn until one trip shall first be hoisted therein

Section 3118 When compressed air lines are located in close proximity to electric currents there shall be placed in such air lines at suitable places a safety section of rubber hose of not less than twelve (12) inches in length and of sufficient strength to withstand the air pressure contained in the pipe line Such safety device must be approved by the inspector of the district

Section 3119 In all stropping work which may be in connection with other sections of a mine and in which large charges of high explosives are being used sufficient warning must be given to the mine officials so that all men in the mine may be removed from the danger zone before such blasts are fired in any such strippings

DEFINITION OF TERMS

Section 3201 In this act unless the context otherwise requires the term "anthracite coal mine or colliery" includes every operation and work both under ground and above ground used or to be used for the purpose of mining and preparing coal and not included in the bituminous boundaries

Section 3202 The term "workings" includes all the excavated parts of a mine those abandoned as well as the places actually at work

Section 3203 The term "mine" includes all underground workings and excavations and shafts tunnels and other ways and openings also all such shafts slopes tunnels and other openings in course of being sunk or driven together with all roads appliances machinery and material connected with the same below the surface

Section 3204 The term "shaft" means a vertical opening through the strata and which is or may be used for the purpose of ventilation or drainage or for hoisting men or material in connection with the mining of coal

Section 3205 The term "slope" means any inclined way or opening used for the same purpose as a shaft

Section 3206 The term "breaker" means the structure containing the machinery used for the preparation of coal

Section 3207 The term "coal stripping" means an open type of mine from which the soil and all other material overlying the coal seam has been removed Any seam of coal whose thickness is less than three and one-half (3½) feet shall be considered a low coal seam

Section 3208 The terms "owner" and "operator" mean any person or body corporate who is the immediate proprietor or lessee or occupier of any coal mine or colliery or any part thereof The term "owner" does not include a person or body corporate which merely receives a royalty rent or fine from a coal mine or colliery or part thereof or is merely the proprietor of the mine subject to any lease grant or license for the working or operating thereof or is merely the owner of the soil and not interested in the minerals of the mine or any part thereof But any "contractor" for the working of a mine or colliery or part or district thereof shall be subject to this act as an operator or owner in like manner as if he were the owner

Section 3209 The term "superintendent" means the person who shall have on behalf of the owner general supervision of one or more mines or collieries

Section 3210 The term "mine foreman" means the person who shall have on behalf of the owner operator or superintendent charge of a mine with regard to the ventilation mining timbering and transportation of coal and the safety of the persons employed in the mine

Section 3211 The term "coal miner" means a person qualified by law to act as such and who cuts or blasts coal or rock at the face of a gangway airway breast or pillar or other working place in a mine and performs such other work as may be necessary in such working place for the extraction of coal

Section 3212 The term "booster fan" means a fan used to deliver the entire volume of one or more splits of air into the workings of the high resistance circuits

Section 3213 The term "auxiliary fan" means a fan used to deliver only a portion of the volume of the air in a split to the working face through tubing of some type

Section 3214 The term "non-gaseous mine or section thereof" means one in which not more than seven one-hundredths (7/100) of one percent of combustible gas can be found in the manner described in article fourteen of this act

Section 3215 The term "section of a mine" means any portion of such a mine that is being ventilated by one split of air

Section 3216 The term "person" means and includes any individual partnership association or corporation and any employe agent director or officer thereof

Definition of Electrical Terms

Section 3217 (a) Potential The terms "potential" and "voltage" are synonymous and mean electrical pressure

(b) Difference of Potential Term "difference of potential" means the difference of electrical pressure existing between any two points of an electrical system or between any piece of electrical apparatus and the earth as determined by a voltmeter

(c) Where the conditions of supply of electricity are such that normally the difference in potential between any points of the circuit cannot exceed three hundred and twenty-five (325) volts the supply shall be deemed a low voltage

(d) Where the conditions of the supply of electricity are such that the difference of potential between any two points in the circuit may at any time exceed three hundred and twenty-five (325) volts but cannot exceed six hundred and fifty (650) volts the supply shall be deemed a medium voltage

(e) Where the conditions of supply of electricity are such that the difference of potential between any two points in the circuit at any time exceeds six hundred and fifty (650) volts the supply shall be deemed a high voltage

(f) Grounding Grounding any part of an electrical system shall consist of so connecting such part to the earth as will insure at all times a proper path for the immediate discharge of electrical energy

(g) Underground stations as herein considered are places where electrical machinery including transformers are permanently installed

ARTICLE XXXIII

Arbitration

Section 3301 Whenever an inspector finds any mine or colliery or part thereof or any matter thing or practice connected with such mine which in any respect thereof is not covered or provided against by any provision of this act or by any rule to be dangerous or defective or which in his judgment tends to bodily injure a person he shall give notice thereof in writing to the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or colliery stating in such notice the particular matter or defect requiring remedy and may demand that the same be remedied but the owner operator or superintendent of said mine or colliery shall have the right to refer the demand of the inspector to a board of arbitration and the matter shall then be arbitrated within forty-eight (48) hours of the time such complaint or demand is made and the party against whom the award is given shall pay all costs attending the case The said board of arbitration shall be composed of three (3) persons one of whom shall be chosen by the inspector one by the said owner operator or superintendent and a third by the two thus selected and the decision of a majority of such board shall be final and binding in the matter

Injunctions

Section 3401 Upon application of the inspector of mines of the proper district acting in behalf of the Commonwealth any of the courts of law or equity having jurisdiction where the mine or colliery proceeded against is situated whether any proceedings have or have not been taken shall prohibit by injunction or otherwise the working of any mine or colliery in which any person is employed or is permitted to be for the purpose of working in contravention of the provisions of this act and may award such costs in the matter of the injunction or other proceedings as the court may think just but this section shall be without prejudice to any other remedy permitted by law for enforcing the provisions of this act Written notice of the intention to apply for such injunction in respect to any mine or colliery shall be made to the owner operator or superintendent of such mine or colliery not less than twenty-four (24) hours before the application is made

Penalties

Section 3501 Any person or persons who shall neglect or fail to comply with any of the provisions of articles five (V) seven (VII) nine (IX) ten (X) eleven (XI) twelve (XII) fourteen (XIV) fifteen (XV) sixteen (XVI) twenty-one (XXI) twenty-two (XXII) twenty-five (XXV) twenty-six (XXVI) twenty-eight (XXVIII) twenty-nine (XXIX) thirty (XXX) or thirty-one (XXXI) of this act shall be guilty of an offense against this act

Such offenses against this act are declared to be misdemeanors

Section 3502 Any judge of the Court of Quarter Sessions of the peace of the county in which a mine or colliery at which an offense against this act as hereinafter stated has occurred is situated is hereby authorized and required upon the presentation to him of the affidavit of any citizen of the Commonwealth setting forth that the owner operator or superintendent or any other person employed in or about such mine or colliery has been negligently guilty of an offense against the provisions of this act whereby a dangerous accident has resulted or might have resulted to any person or persons employed in such mine or colliery to issue a warrant to the sheriff of said county directing him to cause such person or persons to be arrested and brought before said judge who shall hear and determine the guilt or innocence of the person or persons so charged and if convicted he or they shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500.00) in all cases not otherwise provided for in this act or to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding three (3) months or both at the discretion of the court Provided That any defendant may waive trial before a judge as herein provided and at any time at or before the time of such trial demand a trial by a jury in the Court of Quarter Sessions in which case he may enter into a recognizance before said judge with such surety or sureties and in such sum as said judge may approve conditioned for his appearance at the next Court of Quarter Sessions to answer the charge against him and abide the orders of the court in the premises meanwhile to be of good behavior and keep the peace or in default of such recognizance to be committed to the county jail to await such trial

Section 3503 If any person shall feel himself aggrieved by such conviction and sentenced before a judge as aforesaid he may appeal therefrom subject to the following conditions namely the appellant shall within seven (7) days after the decree has been made give notice to the prosecutor of his intention to appeal and within the same time enter into a recognizance with such surety or sureties and in such sum as shall be approved by said judge conditioned to appear and try such appeal before the next Court of Quarter Sessions of the peace and to abide the judgment of the court thereon and to pay all such costs and penalties as may be there awarded and upon compliance with such conditions the judge shall release the appellant from custody pending the appeal

Section 3504 Nothing in this act shall prevent any person from being indicted or liable under any other act to any higher penalty or punishment than is herein provided and if the court before which any such proceeding is had shall be of the opinion that proceedings ought to be taken against such persons under any other act or otherwise it may adjourn the case to enable such proceedings to be taken

Section 3505 All fines imposed under this act shall be paid into the county treasury for the use of the county

Section 3506 No conviction or acquittal under this act in any complaint shall be received in evidence upon the trial of any action for damages arising from the negligence of any owner operator or superintendent or employe of any mine or colliery

Section 3507 For any violation of duty by the mine inspector prescribed by this act he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than three hundred dollars ($300.00) or be imprisoned for a period not exceeding three (3) months either or both at the discretion of the court

Section 3508 The mine foreman and assistant mine foreman and any person placed in charge of the works or any part thereof shall be the agents of the owners and operators and such owners and operators shall employ them and discharge them at will

Effective Date

Section 3601 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment Provided however That a period of six (6) months shall be allowed for mine owners operators or superintendents to adopt their mines to comply with the changes made in the existing law by this act and that this time may be extended by the Secretary of Mines for a further period not exceeding six (6) months upon sufficient cause being shown by the owners operators or superintendents of their inability to comply with the provisions of this act within the time herein specified

ARTICLE XXXVII

Repealer

Section 3701 Repeals The following acts and parts of acts of assembly are hereby repealed as respectively indicated

The act approved the ninth of May one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one hundred fifty-four) entitled "An act to provide for the recovery of the bodies of workment enclosed buried or entombed in coal mines" insofar as it relates to anthracite mines

The act approved the second day of June one thousand eight hundred ninety-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith" and its amendments

The act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws one hundred fifty-seven) entitled "An act for the better protection of employes in and about the coal mines by preventing mine superintendents mine foremen and assistants from receiving or soliciting any sums of money or other valuable consideration from men while in their employ and providing a penalty for violation of the same" insofar as it relates to anthracite mines

The act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred one (Pamphlet Laws three hundred forty-two) entitled "An act relating to anthracite mines and providing for the care and life and attention of employes injured in and about said mines" and its amendments

The act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seventy) entitled "An act making the removing obliterating or destroying tickets cards tin-slip or other device used to indicate or to identify persons loading coal in cars from mine-cars a misdemeanor and providing penalty therefor" insofar as it relates to anthracite mines

The act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws one hundred two) entitled "An act to provide for the safety of persons employed in and about the arnthracite coal-mines of this Commonwealth and to limit the hours of labor of hoisting-engineers emlpoyed at or about the same and fixing a penalty for the violation of this act"

The act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred seventy-nine) entitled "An act to safeguard life in the coal mines of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to protect and preserve the property connected therewith by providing that al inside buildings shall be constructed of incombustible material and pr viding penalties for failure to comply with the terms of this act and making a violation thereof by mine superintendents a misdemeanor" insofar as it relates to anthracite mines

The act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand thirty-eight) entitled "An act requiring any invididual firm or corporation mining anthracite coal in this Commonwealth where coal is mined and paid for by the car to keep a record of all coal mined at the miners' chutes where said coal is loaded in cars providing that said record shall be the final basis in computing the miners' earnings per car without any deduction for any slate or refuse that may be loaded in said car or cars in the usual and natural course of mining coal providing further that said record shall be open for the inspection of all miners and providing penalties for failure to comply with the provisions of this act"

The act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act providing for the appointment of a board of examiners to examine applicants for the office of inspector for the anthracite mines of this Commonwealth prescribing the qualifications defining the powers and duties and fixing the compensation of such examiners providing for the appointment and removal of inspectors of anthracite mines prescribing their qualifications and regulating their salaries and term of office and abolishing the terms of office of the present mine inspectors of the anthracite mines"

All other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I now call up for consideration Senate Bill No. 341, on page 7 of the calendar.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, before that motion is put I would like to make some explanation. The last printer's numbers for these three bills are 744, 745 and 746, and they apparently are not yet on the desk, and I would ask the Senator from Adams, Mr. Rice, to withhold his motion until the last printer's number is put on the desk, so that all of the members may know just what kind of a bill they are sending back to committee.

The PRESIDENT. That is not necessary, you can recommit a bill without the bill being on the desk, that is another parliamentary usage.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I feel that I am compelled to vote against this motion to recommit. There are three principal points in controversy over these bills at the present time, all of which can be studied by action on strike-out amendments on the floor of this Senate. They are the question of importation of beer, the question of sale of beer, with this and its two companion bills, and the question of Civil Service. Personally, I see no adequate reason for sending these bills back to committee at this date, and I will be compelled to vote against the motion.

BILLS RECOMMITTED

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 341, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on State Boards, for the purpose of further amendment.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 342, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on State Boards, for the purpose of further amendment,

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 343, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on State Boards, for the purpose of further amendment,

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I now call up for consideration Senate Bill No. 876, on page 14 of the calendar.

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I object.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 876, entitled:

An Act creating in each county (except of the first class) as a separate corporation and in each city of the first and second class as a part of the city government an institution district for the care and maintenance of certain indigent persons prescribing the powers and duties of county commissioners county treasurers city departments of public welfare the State Department of Welfare and the State Department of Public Assistance in respect thereto abolishing certain poor districts and terminating the terms of directors overseers guardians and managers of the poor and poor district auditors and providing for the temporary employment of certain of them providing for the transfer vesting sale and disposition of the property of poor districts and the payment of their obligations revising amending changing and consolidating the law relating to the care of the poor and repealing existing laws.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I intend to vote against this bill because I firmly believe that relief should be handled by the local community. Now, under this bill in the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, this form of assistance is still to be handled through the local activities, as I understand it, through the respective departments of Welfare. Now, in the other counties it is to be handled through the County Commissioners. Under this bill the County Commissioners, could in addition to the taxes now levied by the various counties, under a law, levy an additional tax of ten mills on the dollar, and in addition to that a bonding service tax of two additional mills. I call the Senate's attention to this fact whether or not it will be utilized by the local commissioners so as to raise the county tax in the event that dependents becomes so numerous that more taxes must be levied. Under this bill the county commissioners are given the power to look after dependents as defined in this bill, and in the preliminary provision, "Article, 1", there was in the original bill a definition of "care": "Care means to care for and maintain in an institution as herein defined". Now, that was stricken out by a later Senate amendment, and the question arises whether that was taken out to permit the county commissioners to look after not only cases that might be committed to an institution, but to take care of any floating dependents who might happen to be in the county and not taken care of by the relief activities under one of the other bills. If that is true, then that situation is worse than what it is today, because under our system today, those people who are not taken care of by the relief investigators are promptly taken care of by the poor directors. Now, if that clause is taken out for the purpose of throwing back on the County Commissioners those who will not be taken care of by the relief investigators, through failure to qualify to some rule, then I say that if this provision would increase the local taxes to ten mills, this situation, as far as the taxpayers are concerned, might result in greater hardship than we have today.

Now, there is another provision that I would like to call to the Senate's attention, as found in Article, 4, under "Powers and Duties of Institution Districts", section 402. "Care of persons referred by the Department of Public Assistance: The local authorities shall have power to care for any dependent or other indigent person in the county or city who is referred to them by the Department of Public Assistance, or by a local board under it's supervision pending the determination of such persons—." Now, if that means that the county commissioners must take care of those persons who for the time have no local settlement, then I can see how the burden upon the local authorities might become very great, and by such deeds must force the county commissioners to use this ten mill tax that is provided in this bill.

Now the question recurs, will this bill take better care of the dependents in the various counties of this State? Will it take better care of the dependents in your county? Will it take better care of the defendents in my county? Under the present system, in my county, I have no complaint to make against our poor directors. On many occasions I have known of those who were out on the street, and because they could not qualify with some artificial rule set up by the relief administration, they were forced to being taken care of by the county local authorities, and on many occasions I have seen the local poor directors go immediately on an hour's call to some home and take care of some person who was in a very serious condition due to want. Now will this situation make those conditions better?

The second proposition is the question that is near to every person's heart, that is the question of taxation. Under this bill, will burden of taxation be lifted from the people in the various counties? If, as under this bill, those who are not cared for under the relief setup are not provided for in one of the companion bills, it, therefore, becomes necessary for the county commissioners to take care of all those cases, then, I repeat, under this bill, the county commissioners will be compelled to use up that ten mill tax, an authority which is provided for in this bill, and it is no doubt true that those who drafted this bill had in mind such a contingency, and provided for that situation in giving the county commissioners, in addition to the power already given, the power to levy county taxes, this additional power to levy a ten mill tax, and that is the sole simple purpose. As I said in the beginning, I have always been in favor of local self-government. I believe that this bill will take that away from our counties and I am speaking of the rural counties, that phase of local self-government. I believe that the people in my district who are in want and need protection, under the present system will be protected even better than under this new system, and on that account, Mr. President, I propose to vote against this bill.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I merely wish to add a few more of these reasons why this bill should be defeated. As you recall, on the floor of this Senate, in defense of the bills that created a new Department of Public Assistance, the Senators who arose in defense of that system stated, and used as one of their basic arguments that since the Federal Government and the State Government were to furnish the funds, that this new department of Public Assistance would administer, that it was altogether just and proper that the State should have complete supervision over the administration of these funds down in local communities. Now, I say that that is a sound and logical argument, and I now ask those same gentlemen to apply that same argument here on this bill. This bill abolishes the poor directors, but does not at all abolish the poor house, merely changes its name to county institutions but the poor house still remains. It abolishes the poor directors and places the administration of the poor houses under a different name and in the hands of the county commissioners.

Then the bill goes further and confers upon the county commissioners, as was ably stated by the Senator from Washington, the power to impose taxation in order to maintain and conduct the affairs of the poor house under a different name. Now, there is nowhere in this bill, nor anywhere provided in any other bill, where the State or Federal Government is going to provide a single red cent for the maintenance or upkeep of those county institutions, but those county institutions, as stated, and I wish to emphasize, must be maintained solely by the taxation on our homes and farms in the county. Now, I ask these gentlemen who have so loyally and ably sponsored and defended the bill that created the Department of Public Assistance, if they will not stand on that same argument tonight, and say that the State and Federal Government, which contributes no money whatsoever to the maintenance and upkeep of these county institutions, "should we, who own homes and farms and who are going to maintain them by taxation"—whether they will not yield to say that they will not need the assistance of the Administration and that they will not leave the institutions in the hands of the people down below and not pass this bill that abolishes the poor boards, but at the same time leave the administration of the institutions completely in the hands of the local authorities, the county commissioners.

I am telling you, gentlemen of the Senate, that I have no hesitation to vote for this bill, but we cannot, we who come from those counties, who have reputable poor directors and satisfactory poor board administration, and who understand our county commissioners, we cannot stand by and see our big brothers in the cities, by their voices here in these assembly halls, wipe out all this vestige of our local home rule in our rural communities, and I challenge my friends, the sponsors of these bills, or any one who wishes to defend them, to deny the fact that this bill provides that the county commissioners must administer these county institutions under the rules and regulations and standards established by the Department of Welfare. I challenge them, I challenge any member of this Senate, to point to this bill and say that it does not, and in these specific words, it provides, on page 8 under "Powers and Duties as to County Institutions Districts, Property, as a function of the institution district and with its funds, the commissioners of each county shall have the power, it shall be their duty, with the approval of the Department of Welfare, to acquire by purchase or the right of eminent domain, lands and buildings for the care of dependents and for farms taking title in the name of the county institution district"

Now, my friends, are we going to stand for that? The funds to buy and maintain these institutions are going to be levied in taxes by the county commissioners, yet this bill subjects them to the rules and regulations of the Department of Welfare here in Harrisburg. Not only in that particular section, but the bill farther on interlocks with this Poor Board bill, or with the bill that, as it was stated to the members of the Senate when passed here last week, the bills creating the Public Assistance Board, that if we passed those bills, the other bills that were to come out were so interlocked with the first bill that it would cause chaos on the other legislation, and here it is pointed out by the Senator from Washington, that we have these provisions in this bill that refer to the Department of Public Assistance, that we in the counties we must raise these funds by taxation, and then we must accept in the county institutions the people referred to it by the board in this Public Assistance Department; not only that, but the county commissioners are also subject to the supervision of the Department of Internal Affairs.

Mr. President, I trust that the members of this Senate will hearken unto us who come from these rural districts, and who have yielded more than once on the floor of this Senate to the members of this Senate who come from the city districts, and that they tonight yield to the wishes of the rural Senators and help us retain our home rule in this matter.

There is another provision here that I wish to call your attention; this bill is intended to economize, yes, on page 7, section 303,—I do not know why they single out the counties of the sixth and seventh classes, probably there may be senators here, members of this body who represent counties of the sixth, seventh and eighth classes and who want their county commissioners' salaries increased, and this bill increases their salaries, and that salary must be paid out of the funds from taxes levied upon the homes and the farms, not of the city dweller, but of the people who live in those poor communities.

Mr. President, I want also to call the attention of this honorable body to the fact that there are people outside of this assembly hall who are taking cognizance of the road which we are traveling on the matter of this subject. We have heard on the floors of the Federal Congress, where Representative Joseph Gray referred to racketeering in relief, as he told the House of a scheme in Pennsylvania to take relief out of control of local authorities and centralize it in Harrisburg. "This relief business is getting to be a racket," Gray asserted. He explained he did not place all relief work in that category, but asserted that he knew of cases in Pennsylvania where the people on relief were inducing persons to stay out of work and keep on relief, or to go on relief in preference to working on Government projects or industries. This subject has been discussed on the floor of the United States Congress, and I plead with the members of the Senate to defeat this bill in order to comply with your arguments, the arguments of the sponsors of the public assistance bill, that where the State and Federal Government furnishes the money, then we will submit to State and Federal supervision, and where the local communities raise the fund with taxes on our homes and on our farms, for God's sake let us administer our own institutions and spend our own money.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, should be complimented for his sincerity of purpose and the work which he has put into the study of this problem, and it is with no intent to challenge his motive that I suggest to the Senate that there are some important factors in this situation which requires refuel in order that we may properly understand the subject. Now I should be very glad to help these smaller rural communities in any way that I can with my vote, but at the same time I must approach this properly with the information of those who have made a careful study of this subject in a disinterested way, and with the thought in mind that what we are doing here is planting something for the future which may save a considerable amount of money, and which in my opinion is only incidental, and yet at the same time make better conditions for those dependent upon others for their existance, but we cannot ignore certain facts that have come to our attention. In the first place, with the development of federal aid to the states, not only in relief, but in other forms of assistance..pensions for the blind, mother's assistance, and old age assistance....activities of every other states, the amount for their assistance has increased signally, to the number of persons who have lived by those activities.

The public poor houses, where the functions of the poor houses cover a number of the added functions which the State has taken over by way of assistance, for instance, old age pensions, which enable a great many people to stay in their own homes if they want to support themselves by means of state-aid in their homes or the homes of others, this was taken over by the state-aid and by the Federal Government and relieved the poor houses of another function.

I am not thoroughly familiar with the prerogative of the poor house system and the poor districts, but it is my general impression that they levy taxes to support their activities, and I was amazed in the study of one of these bills, the poor house bill, to find that a poor board which is supposed to levy taxes merely for the purpose of covering actual expenses, has had in its possession funds aggregating $300,000. I am not unfamiliar with the great City of Philadelphia in the management of its poor house, but the information that developed in a committee which was investigating other activities shows scandalous abuses o- the powers conferred upon them, and when I understand that the creation of this new assistance department and the reaching out of the functions in taking care of those who have heretofore been taken care of in poor houses, I realize that the taxes levied upon every poor district must of necessity be decreased because of the fact that its activities will be decreased, as shown on the report of the Goodrich Committee on page 13, with the outdoor relief persons covered by poor boards to the number of 97,000, which does not include the 13,500 persons in alms houses. If you will refer to page 19 of that report, you will find this significant statement: that specific appropriations made to the State Department of Assistance, and an additional appropriation be made to the reserved funds by the State Department of Assistance which can be allocated to anyone of these funds, if necessary, for additional services, or to the Boards of Assistance in accordance with the law, and, that is, at the present time to the poor boards in the counties which are spending approximately $18,000,000 annually that is raised by a state tax primarily. In addition, the counties are paying approximately one-third of the total expense spent for the mothers' assistance and old age assistance, and up to 6% of the cost of administering old age assistance funds. Participation of the counties in these two state aided programs, which cost the counties approximately two and a half million dollars during the past year, and in view of the burdens of the tax and of the tax collections, the committee believes that it is wise and just for the state to assume the full financial responsibility of public assistance and services in which the state participates. This will represent a saving of approximately $10,000,000 in local taxation.

Now, many of us here still remember that in the last Session of the Legislature there were at least seven counties that were unable to participate in the mother's assistance, because of their inability to make this one-third contribution required of them by law, and you will also remember the difficulty which arose from the necessity of passing legislation making our laws to conform with the Federal laws so that we could be able to get assistance, and one of the requisites is that contributions should be state-wide, and that every locality should contribute its proportionate share, and because of the fact that many of the counties were unable to contribute at that time enough money to perform their functions in the assistance, we must consider that in connection with the suggestion that there might be some burden placed upon the other counties and we must remember that in a general statement there will be a saving throughout the state of $10,000,000, in local taxation, but that is merely a generality, that is, the privilege to tax $10,000,000 for the purposes of supporting these decreased activities of the county commissioners, and it will enable them to assist these poor house institutions without an increase of local taxes. If the local county boards cannot control their county commissioners to the extent of confining their taxation to the actual necessities, then, of course, the legislature can take care of it through a unified program such as we have inaugurated.

We have passed here Senate Bills 873 and 877, which established the Board of Assistance, and the establishment of this board amends the administration code of 1929 so that there may be included in our code a procedure for administrative boards, and it seems to me absolutely essential that we should make this one effort to do away with the administration of the certain functions which are to be taken over by the State as a whole. I agree with the Senator from Fayette that there should be local control more than is contemplated by the bill presented to us, and I suggest to the Senator that if he will look at the bill which deals with the functions of the State Assistance Board and the local boards in the counties, he will find that the Welfare Committee, in spite of the great deal of pressure that has been and is being brought against them, I suggest that the local boards shall have some authority and shall be more than a mere rubber stamp. I am not so sure that the method of appointing this committee is the best method, it is an experiment, but it is necessary and it is well worth trying. When we have control of the local boards and make our local boards be more than a rubber stamp, as I think these bills have accomplished, I think we can afford to take a chance and allow these poor boards to be managed, and in that respect I disagree with my friend from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, in the measure of some of the poor directors and officers in the localities themselves.

As I read this bill, it takes nothing away from the localities, it merely transfers the management from one branch to another in the county. The county commissioner gets the institution in the county instead of the poor boards, and are given the management and control of the institution, and their functions, according to this bill, is to attempt to restore people who require institutional care, that is, who are sick mentally and physically. I understand it will be difficult in some cases to get these old people who have been accustomed to being in poor houses for a large part of their lives, to be put in new surroundings, and to adjust themselves to the conditions created by this act. That may be true in individual cases, but as a general proposition, these people in a large majority of the cases, who are approaching old age, when they will be assured of an income for the rest of their lives, will prefer to find themselves in a home with other members of their families, or in other homes, and not in the poor house; and I agree with the Governor of this Commonwealth when he says in his platform that this administration will abolish the poor house. I never liked the term,—it seemed to me to be the last step before the final day, and it seemed to me that persons being supported through life in those places, though living, felt that they were dead; and when we take these people out of the poor houses and put them in homes, and let them associate with friends and neighbors, instead of placing them altogether in one category in uniforms, I think we will be doing something for them mentally as well as physically.

I am not concerned much about the control in the local communities, and I think the framers of this bill should be commended for the fairness with which it deals with this problem, and I think we ought to make this effort to try out this system. Some of us will be back here in two years from now, and certainly if this situation may be unpleasant and undesirable in some locality, it certainly will not be in all localities—and then the funds that come from the state-wide and uniform control and management that you get under this bill, are due to efforts of these people involved in this program and with all due respect to the gentleman from Fayette, and to his opinion of this bill, I feel we ought to vote for its passage.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask for one minute and a half. This is an appropriation bill, the bill is Senate Bill No. 876. I simply want to remind the Senate that they do not appropriate lump sums of money to the Department of Welfare, and I hope that we have retained our birthright to specify our appropriations to our state institutions. Therefore, I object to this method of doing business because I do not believe in giving them $137,000,000 in a lump sum.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I am surprised somewhat as to the discussion of not only the proponents but the opponents of this bill, that they should talk so much tonight about poor houses. I think it is a term that should be avoided, in the first place, and in another place, I want to say, Mr. President, and members of this Senate, that we have not had a poor house in Bucks County since the beginning of this century. We have a county home and dispensary and it is a place where these people go to reside and they are well taken care of there. They are to be complimented on the care given these people and it has never been intended as a poor house, but to run it as a county home. My public do not hear that term poor house, it is always referred to as a home.

I intend to vote against this bill for the reason that it takes away every vestige of home rule in reference to the care of our unfortunates or indigent people, and I shall also vote against the bill because it brings all control to Harrisburg, and takes away our home rule, taken in taxes from our own people in our own districts.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, as a matter of information to the Senate, as the members of this Senate have expressed their desire to have an opportunity to study the list of salaries of the State Emergency Relief Board, I rise to the question of parliamentary inquiry to ask whether or not the mimeographed copies of the list of salaries of the State Emergency Relief Board, that has been promised to us last Tuesday has not yet been furnished?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, will state his point of order.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, my point of order is this that the discussion is not on the merits of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that the point of order is not being well taken, it does relate to the bill, and the copies are available, the mimeographed copies are now available.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, in view of the statements just made, that the copies are available, and since they have not yet been placed on the desks of the Senators, nor have the Senators had an opportunity to examine this list, I ask that this bill go over in its order until we have had a chance to examine the list of salaries.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. Objection is made

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, last week when the other bills of the Goodrich Committee were before us, a request was made that these mimeographed copies be submitted by the Department of Relief, and it was then said that before the bill that would abolish the poor boards would be called up for passage, that these copies would be furnished to each member of this Senate. I think it is unfair for them to call this bill up out of its order and force it through for passage before these lists are submitted.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has no recollection of any remarks being made that copies would be furnished to the Senators before this bill was taken up. The Chair has no recollection of any such remarks.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I do not recall who made the statement, but I recall it being made.

The PRESIDENT. Individual Senators may have made the statement.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Center, Mr. Thompson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the statement has been made by the Senator from Washington County, that an additional ten-mill tax could be assessed by the county commissioners under this act. Is that correct?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, this bill has no connection with the taxing power conferred upon the institutional directors. It parallels exactly the power of the present poor directors with the respect to levying taxation. The taxing power of the poor districts today is limited to a tax rate of ten mills. The maximum limit of taxation in this Act, Mr. President is ten mills, and that limit must be held by the county commissioners.

Naturally enough, the bill must provide for debt service, in the event that the institutional district created purchases property or builds an institution. That power is identical of the power of the poor boards today, namely, that if the necessity arises for erecting a building or providing for a capital investment, the county commissioners, under this bill, have that power within their constitutional limitations now, to fix the millage and which will not be altered by this bill, and to incur a bonded indebtedness and levy taxes for debt reduction purposes. Does that answer your question?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, then what I would like to know is this, the whole purpose of the Act is to eliminate the poor directors and the provisions of this bill now give the county commissioners the same taxing powers that the poor director now hold. Is that true?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, the purpose of the Act is a little broader than that, and naturally, the question of the Senator from Westmoreland prompts its own answer. Under this Act, the power of levying taxes is the same that is now enjoyed by our present poor directors.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, then if the County Commissioners so desire, the expense of levying is the same under this act as it is at the present time under the poor directors.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, that does not necessarily follow. What does follow is that the expenses of the poor district as compared with the expenses of the districts of the newly created constitutional districts, under the terms of this Act, will be what the county commissioners make them, within the limits provided by the Act.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is it also true that there is to be a consolidation of the poor districts?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, in some seven or eight counties we have innumerable poor districts. These counties follow the plan of assessing for the poor districts. I know of at least one county with a population of 150,000 that has in the neighborhood of forty-five poor districts. These poor districts in that area will be consolidated into one county unit.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in a county such as mine, which has three poor districts, where the poor directors are elected for terms of four years at $1,500 per year, the expense of their salaries would be $4,500 per year for four years. Is there anything in this act that will provide that the running of the poor districts will not cost more than $4,500 a year?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, as provided by this Act, during the incumbency of the present poor directors, for the balance of their terms the county commissioners must pay these gentlemen for services to be rendered to th county commissioners, under the theory that they should help the county commissioners in taking over this work. That, naturally, as far as their terms are concerned, at the present time will incur an expense of $1,500 a year or $4,500 for the term of the present incumbents.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask the Senator if it is not true that under the provisions of this Act the County Commissioners may be ordered by the Department of Assistance, which is to be created by the Department of Welfare, is it not true that they may order the County Commissioners to their men and women in charge of the poor districts?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I would ask that the gentleman read the Act.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is there anything in the Act that prohibits such action by the Department of Welfare or the Department of Assistance?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, under this act the county Commissioners will be in control of the administration of the affairs of this district, and will be under no obligation to employ any person that they do not so desire.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is it not true that under the regulations they may recall any appointments of any person in the personnel that the county commissioners may see fit to employ?

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I think that the gentleman from Westmoreland is taking the wrong interpretation of the rules and regulations as referred to by the previous speaker. One of the previous speakers spoke of the rules and regulations provided for in the act, which referred to the purchase of lands for the use of the district and the erection of buildings, and that the same must be with the permission of the Department of Welfare. I call the attention of the Senate, Mr. President, to the fact that these regulations are exactly the same as now hold true in existing laws, and that our present poor directors are practically under the same identical regulations.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I thank the Senator, and I am perfectly satisfied to see any system that is going to reduce local taxation on the homes and farms of our people and provide for this necessary evil in our United States; however, during the past year, we have seen so many times where some local person has been taken off the job and some person sent in by the so called relief agencies at a salary that is so much greater than what we have been paying. Now, I am not so sure that they are not going to saddle on the local communities these well trained, efficiently trained persons whose job it is to see that there are sufficient number of persons on relief in order that their jobs may be maintained.

I am perfectly satisfied, however, to vote for this bill or any other bill that is going to cut down this expense to the local taxing public. However, I can readily see now where some persons may come in with a new set-up that takes the place of the poor directors in our counties, and while they start keeping efficient records, and so forth, I do not see in this bill where it says that the regulation only covers the buying of land, and so forth, for the districts, but if the gentleman who sponsored this Act says that is all it does, I will take his word for it, but if it does not turn out that way, I want to say this, if God allows me to come back here at the next Session of this Senate, I will institute a bill to regulate all this work that we are doing here now, that is, if it turns out that they are going to foist upon the people in my county the putting on of an additional group of payrollers that are going to take money from our local residents.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, for the benefit of the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, who said he has not not studied this bill, and also directing the attention of the other Senators to pages 8 and 9 of the bill, I want to read Section 307, under the subject of "Taxation". "Taxation for the purposes of the institution districts and for the payment of the obligation of the predecessor poor districts, the commissioners of each county will have the power to levy and collect on real estate, trades, occupations and professions, in the same manner and at the same time as county taxes, an annual tax to pay the current expense of the institution district not exceeding 10 mills on the dollar of the last adjusted assessed valuation for county purposes. The commissioners may also levy such annual special taxes as may be needed to pay interest and sinking fund charges on bond issues, to pay for the purchase of land or buildings or for the erection and equipment of buildings, or for the payment of such for the institution districts. Such taxes shall be levied at the same time as the county tax and shall be collected in the same manner and subject to the same discount and penalties as the county tax."

Now, in addition to that, in Section 308, there is a proviso that gives the county commissioners power to issue and negotiate bonds of the institution district to raise funds for the acquisition of real estate and for the erection and equipment of buildings, etc.

Now, Mr. President, and for the benefit of the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, as I read this section there are four taxes that are provided to be levied on real estate in institution districts: First, a county tax which is now provided under the law; in addition to that we have a ten-mill tax on the dollar of the last adjusted assessed valuation for county purposes; then in addition to that, they may levy such annual special taxes as may be needed to pay the interest on sinking fund charges, and then, lastly, the taxation in the form of borrowing on bonds. Now, there are four items of taxation that will be created under this bill. The question is whether under this system here you will have more taxation on local real estate than you have now. I maintain, and I believe that the future will bear me out, that under this system there will be more taxes created on local real estate in our districts than we have today.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, sometime ago my county consolidated the poor districts by a vote of the people, and they placed the poor district and county unit in the hands of the county commissioners, and I notice, in looking through the manual, that the Senator from Bucks County, Mr. Buckman, comes from a county that has a total population of approximately 96,000 people, and it has three poor directors, each of whom receive a salary of $500.00 a year, and, in addition to that, if he will look at the audit of Bucks County, he will find that any one of these men spent for his expenses anywhere from $800.00 to $1500.00 apiece, and the same thing applies to Somerset County, Senator Ealy's county, with a population of 80,000. In my county, the county commissioners receive a salary of $3000.00, the same as they do in Bucks County, and they look after the poor district, and we save in that county, on that basis, approximately $4000 or $5000 a year. Now, if this bill does not do anything else, it certainly will save Senator Buckman's County at least $5000 a year in that one item.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I do not like to unduly protract this discussion, I just want to make a few brief remarks in connection with this question of taxation and the selection of employees of the districts supposed to be created by this Act. Section 306 in this Act, and by referring to it, anyone in the Senate to find it readily—the entire power of appointment or removal, and of compensation is entirely with the county commissioners. If we would just stop to think of the taxing privilege of this Act, and just stop to think of the taxing situation as it is today, we can comprehend readily that it makes no change in the system, no matter whether you have a local unit or whether you have a county unit, or where you have separate poor directors in the county unit, we will have the same tax limitation of ten mills. Now, if you take the section it says, it is to apply to the payment of the obligation of the predecessors poor districts. If the predecessor poor district continue you will still have the same ten mills tax levied, from which its obligations must be liquidated, and if the same poor district is to continue you would still have them in power with a maximum of tax limitation of ten mills, from which they must liquidate future obligations. If the present poor districts continues, it must continue to levy whatever taxes that are now necessary for its present debt service, and if it increases future capital indebtedness, it again must levy additional taxes to answer the necessities of this service purposes in the future. So you see as far as tax limitations go, the bill substantially, is not in fact exactly identical with the present existing law.

Someone in speaking about this bill has forced some difficulties in their own conception as to the powers of the districts to be created relative to the problem of what we know generally. If we will again refer to the Act, we will find that these are powers to be created. If we will refer to the next Act, to the County Supplement Act, we will find that the provisions relative to settlement of property of transients or all other persons in that class, are exactly the same as they are under the existing laws, so that they cannot force on the newly created districts a class of people for whom they must care if they are not already charged with the care of those people at the present time, and we find at the same time that those county commissioners will be the sole judges of whom they will care for and whom they will not care for.

These Acts are calculated, Mr. President, to reduce our institution primarily to the homes for the mentally and physically infirmed. That has been the ambition of the Democratic Party, that still remains the ambition of the Party. We submit perhaps these bills may not be perfect in all respects, naturally not. There is bound to be some provision of the bill which may not be ideal. We submit the bill is as good perhaps as possible, we do not believe—we feel confident that the obligations of counties would be lessened if any thing, and certainly not to be increased.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the Senator from Lawrence has advanced a strange argument that by centralizing this relief system, you can save money. Anyone who knows anything about bureaucracy knows that that is not true, and especially is it not true with this State Emergency Relief Board. Under the first Talbot Act, when the administration of relief was in the hands of the local poor boards, there was spent in the last month in which they operated the sum of $1,062,000. In this administration relief was centralized and put into the hands of the State Emergency Relief Board. In one month, the month of April, 1935, there was spent of state and federal funds the sum of $18,000,000 and no one knows now how much is being spent at the present time. These papers which were handed to us just now indicate by their bulk the vast number of employees that are now in the State Emergency Relief system. When you build up a bureau here in Harrisburg and give it additional power, you are not saving any money. Now it has been said that the poor boards have been guilty of misconduct, of graft, and of certain faults, and that has been true in some cases, but those faults were usually found promptly and were corrected and there is something that must be said for a system where you can point out faults and correct them. Under this undercover relief system that we have now, you cannot do that, they will not even permit themselves to be investigated, and to take this little remaining power away from the local communities where it can be observed and corrected is to simply make more flagrant the violations which have occurred. I cannot understand why this administration would want to under this district, assume the responsibility for administration of relief. Instead of centralize, if the plans were to be decentralized and put back into the local poor boards with their one function for administering relief with a board combined with the poor boards to exercise jointly the two provisionally for Mother's Relief and Mother's Assistance and the other functions of those boards, you would have a system of which every citizen of the Commonwealth would have some responsibility. I cannot for the life of me see why the administration would want to take unto itself this additional responsibility.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I want to bring another phase of this problem to the attention of the Members of this Senate and that problem is this: I agree fully with my colleague to the left here that it was the Democratic Campaign Slogan that we were going to eliminate what we refer to as the poor houses, that we were going to consolidate in many of these districts and I say that pledge did not go so far as to consolidate functions of the districts. We have in our State, in all sixty-seven counties, but because Philadelphia County has joined with the City of Philadelphia, there is no Philadelphia County, and that is taken up into the City Government and the sixty-six other counties. In Allegheny County they will take two poor districts, the one administered in the City, a city of the second class, and one in the county. Now I say if this Democratic Administration had merely gone as far as to consolidate and wipe out a lot of these little districts we would have done sufficient at this Session. In other words, if it would have created merely sixty-seven poor districts in our counties, or institutional districts, we would have fulfilled our pledge to our constituents back home. In counties where the poor districts is coterminus with the counties those poor districts would remain at that size, and in other counties where there is more than one poor district we could have passed this Act here consolidating those districts, and saving the people of those counties the duplicate administration costs, but no, we have attached to that idea another idea and that is the idea of centralization here at Harrisburg. The administration of those poor districts, we have gone beyond our duty to consolidate and eliminate these unnecessary poor districts, and this centralizing here in Harrisburg goes a step farther, it is a yielding to a new provisional of our Commonwealth, and that is the Social Welfare Worker, that not only are we going to consolidate, not only are we going to centralize in Harrisburg, but we are going to turn over, as I said last week, to a house of petite debutantes, who go about with fur coats and powdered faces and painted lips, the care of our indigent people in those rural counties, and I say it is absolutely wrong. I did not as a Democrat pledge myself to any such thing, but my pledge did go far enough that we would consolidate necessary districts and if this bill had done that, had consolidated the small districts in some of the counties to one district, and we have only 67 districts in this State, I say that the people of this county would have been repaid the pledge that we have made to them and not turned over all this state to this new professional group that is daily being augmented and created in our midst.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, the argument has been made that this new method about to be established, in which more centralization will occur in Harrisburg is in the interest of the Commonwealth. I cannot help but call the Senate's attention to this data that has just been placed on the desk within the hour, to show how reckless that argument is. This record shows that there are employed in the State Emergency Relief Office today 3,848 people. Why, the list of employees of this State Emergency Relief Board looks life the relief roll itself. There are 335 employees in the regional offices around this State, and 350 employees right here in Harrisburg in this office. Then they talk about economy in more centralization here in Harrisburg. Let me read a few of these salaries in Harrisburg: $225 a month; $416 a month; $135 a month; $300 a month; $275 a month; $550 a month. These are not annual salaries, they are monthly salaries, $180 a month; $265 a month; and so the list goes, $300 a month. Is this money that we are appropriating that we are taking out of the taxpayers of Pennsylvania, that is derived from industry, is that money going to be continued to be paid to give the big salaries of these office holders, or are we going to give it to the people that need relief? That is the question here, that has been the question for the last few years, since this relief system was established in Pennsylvania. We hear two years ago, realizing the fact that the money was not going to the people that needed relief, but was going to these office holders that want to perpetuate this system. Put a limitation on the salaries and what happens? Why they cried, they yelled, until they had a special session and removed that limitation so that they could give them all the salaries they wanted. And so it goes on, and they furnish us a list after fighting for six weeks to get it, they bring it in the last week of the Session and it is so big you can hardly carry it, the list of the employees in these offices, and now that is to be continued and we are to pay the money that they raise from the taxpayers of Pennsylvania instead of giving it to the poor people of this Commonwealth, we are to perpetuate that system, we are to set up that system in our own counties. we are to take the money paid by the taxpayers the real estate owners and farmers and turn that over for administrative response and pay these fat salaries. Mr. President, this list is not all the employees of the State Emergency Relief Board, but in order to cover up they had a WPA project that furnishes some employees, it is known as project No. SSW107, and that is a WPA gives them some more employees that they use in this system. For instance, I understand that there is a regional comptroller who has a special accounting representative, an assisting disbursing officer, and is listed on here at $1,000 a year, and he is getting $4,000 a year from some other agency and the taxpayers are footing the bill. Now that is the system that these bills want to perpetuate this Commonwealth and I do not suppose what I say here on this floor will change one vote of this Senate, but I do say this, that every man in this Senate that votes on this bill ought to understand that this is a system that he proposes to perpetuate when he puts this system in force and forces it on the counties of this Commonwealth.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I have done very little talking, I crave the privilege of defending myself, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Lawrence, Mr. Eroe.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lawrence, Mr. Eroe, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Lawrence, in what class county, the counties that he represents are?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, sixth class county, the one I referred to as 97,000 population.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator from Lawrence what the tax is in that county?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, five mills poor tax .

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I am speaking about tax for all party purposes, do they have a five mill tax?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, the county I represent is a sixth class county likewise, and for all our county purposes we have a tax rate of four mills only, and I do not believe the Senator from Lawrence would say that those men are over paid when they are getting $500 a year, or when they extend as much as $800 a year for expenses. I want to say again and to this Senate, that these men travel all over the county and have done this outdoor relief themselves. They do not have a whole big list of employees, such as we have had submitted here to us tonight, they did the work themselves, and I venture to say that there is not an employee who travels all over this state that does not spend more than $800 a year's expenses.

Mr. President, I was looking after the Court from Dr. De Schweinitz I see we have 381 families on relief as of May 15th, and I want to say to you, Mr. President, and to this whole Senate, as far as this relief problem is concerned in our county we do not need any state relief, we can take care of our own unfortunates, and no one has ever starved yet in my county, and I do not believe anyone ever will starve or suffer in any way for eats, shelter, clothing or any of the other things that go for relief, and all of this has been done, Mr. President for the past five yeas on the entire tax rate four mills, and there is not another sixth class county in the State of Pennsylvania that can equal the Government of that county.

I was interested in what the Senator from Tioga said about the WPA. We have some of those projects in our county, and taking up that sewing circle, I was told by, a good woman who visited there to become familiar with the work only last week, but she asked a colored woman who was knitting a dress how long it would take her to finish the work, and she said that she thought she would be through in about three weeks and she also said that the dress is for me. This woman was going to work three or four weeks on that dress at $15 a week and then after she had finished it was to be her dress.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I am delighted that the Senator from Tioga talks that way, that there are 3500 people on the payroll of the State Emergency Relief Board at the present time during the Earle Administration and I just want to call the attention of this Senate to the fact that when the Earle administration took over the administration of relief and in January 1935, there was an excess of 12,000 employees on the Pinchot payroll of the State Emergency Relief Board, and if, Mr. President, Governor Pinchot had ever attached a list of his State Emergency Relief employees. I don't believe our desks would be big enough to take care of a package of that size.

Mr. President, there has been definite progress made in this matter of relief and social security in the Earle administration, there has been definite progress made in the economy of its administration, there has been amazing progress made in the efficiency of the administration, and I say to you, Mr. President, when anybody makes a comparison between this administration and the preceding administration, it is amazing to me how anyone can stand up and make such a comparison when this administration has cut the payroll more than half in the cost of administration in the handling of this relief problem.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, the thing that puzzles me about this bill is why it exceeds the recommendation of the Goodrich Committee. I have in my hands the book published by that committee and with reference to Poor Directors it reads as follows "The Poor Boards may be abolished and powers, duties, rights, and privileges with respect to outdoor relief and the care of dependent children be transferred to the County Board and their powers, duties, rights and privileges with respect to alms houses and other institutional care be transferred to the County Commissioners of the several counties" and so forth.

There is nothing said that the Poor Boards shall make reports to the Board of Welfare, there is nothing said about reports to different state departments here. As the Senator from Fayette has so well put it, they ask for consolidation in the interest of economy. You have gone further, you have consolidated and now you are going to reigment and that, like the Senator from Fayette, is what I object to. I do not object to economies in these Poor Boards but I do object to those Poor Boards being regimented under any State Bureau. I think this bill should go over and the recommendation in accordance with the suggestion of the gentlemman who has spent a year putting it before us.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I merely want to note from the record that I take from this mimeograph booklet of the relief divisions, that I see on this list the name of John B. George, of Uniontown, Pa., at eighty dollars a month. That boy has been in the WPA and working in the WPA for the last two years.

And the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Barthold,	Haluska,	Law,	Rodgers,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence,

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1072 on third reading.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1072. entitled:

An Act to fix the number of Senators in the General Assembly of the State to apportion the State into senatorial districts as provided by the Constitution and to regulate the election of and the terms of office of the present and future elected Senators

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend page 2, line 8, section 1, by inserting after the word "twenty-seventh" and before the word "fortieth" the following: thirty-fourth; amend page 2, section 1, line 15, by striking out after the word "twenty-ninth" the following: thirty-; amend page 2, section 1, line 16, by striking out the first word "fourth"

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. PYTKO. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President I ask unanimous consent to amend sec. 1, page 2, line 3, by strking out the following: "twenty-first" and inserting in lieu thereof: forty-ninth; amend sec. 1, page 2, line 13, by striking out the following "forty-ninth" and inserting in lieu thereof: twenty-first

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I object.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed second reading.

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was not agreed to.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McCREESH, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, last week when this bill appeared on the calendar I intended to vote for it as it was then but since that time our good Senator from Philadelphia has made some amendments which changed the bill completely all around. Now, the consensus of opinion was that all amendments were to be voted down and I am inquiring why one Senator has the right to offer amendments and all other amendments are voted down.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the senator from Philadelphia that any Senator has the right to offer amendments, but all Senators do not have to vote for them, but evidently they did.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I would also like to know what will happen in this district where it is now left without a State Senator for the next three years.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia is asking the Chair? The Chair cannot answer the question.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, it might be a good thing to ask the very wise Senator from Philadelphia what he intends to do with the district for the next three years and where will the people of that district go when they need help.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, this bill, Senate Bill No. 1072, is what is known as the Senatorial Reapportionment Bill. I am not interested especially in the different wards of the City of Philadelphia, but I am interested in the Tenth Senatorial District, which I have had the honor to represent in this body for the past twenty-eight years. I have represented a County which is one of the very original counties in this State and always, up to this time it has had the privilege of being represented in the Senate of Pennsylvania by a Senator. By this bill it is now thought to wed us with Lehigh County. I have nothing against Lehigh County, we rather like Lehigh County but we are unwilling to have the Senate of Pennsylvania compel us to enter into a military wedding. This bill has been originated, probably more than for any other purpose, in order to take away from me my Senatorial District. I say to the men who had any such thought that they are about twenty-eight years too late, for I have represented that district during that time and do not intend to be a candidate for re-election, but I am, Mr. President, interested in the district and I feel that the motive behind this bill is entirely political. I know of no reason why we should not be a Senatorial District, nor do I know of any reason why Lehigh County should be deprived of its representation in this body. It is true that there are in this Senate some counties who have increased the population to such an extent that according to the Constitution they may be entitled to another Senator, but I say to you, Mr. President, and to this Senate, that if you will consider the caliber of the citizens of my County and of Lehigh County, you will find them second to none in the whole State, and I ask the members of this Senate to stand by me and help me to preserve this district, not for myself, but for my successor.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, due to the fact that this bill is not on the desks and perhaps not printed yet, and perhaps maybe lost, I move that this bill go over in order until we find the printed bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is advised that loose copies were placed on the desks of the Senators by the Sergeant-at-Arms and the implication is that the bills have been removed. If the bills are not on the desks of the Senators it should go over in order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am informed that the bills are now on the desks of the Senators.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, will state his point of order.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, my point of order is that the bill under consideration is not on my desk, nor on any of the desks of the Senators within the immediate vicinity of my desk and I insist that under the Constitution and rules of this Senate that the bill go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order is sustained.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I ask, in view of the fact that the bills are being distributed at present, I ask that this bill go over in order for the present.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the bill will go over temporarily.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, may I suggest that the statement made by the Chair, possibly by someone else, that there was an implication that the bills had been taken from the desks of the Senators be removed from the records, in view of the fact that the bills are now being placed on the desks.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is advised that the Sergeant-at-Arms reiterated that the bills were distributed.

Some of the Senators, I am advised, have read the bill on their desks.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, will state his point of order.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, my point of order is that this bill should be stricken from the calendar for the reason that the bill was not on the Senators' desks when we started to consider the calendar.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order is not well taken. The bill has gone over in order temporarily. There was no objection to its going over and the point of order is not sustained.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, the bill now being on the desks of the Senators, I call up Senate Bill No. 1072.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator will state his reason for his objection.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, this bill is not so necessary.

The PRESIDENT. It is not a question whether the bill is necessary, it is a question of whether the bill is on the desks.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, my reason for objection is that the rules provide that the calendar should be taken up in its order and when the Senator calls up this bill out of order, it is really, in effect, a motion that we proceed with the consideration of a Senate bill and it cannot be done except by unanimous consent of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair thinks the point of order is not well taken. The bill was under consideration and went over temporarily in order without objection and is now called up.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1072.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BUCKMAN and Mr. GELDER, and were as follows, viz:

Barthold,	Henney,	Lanius,	Rice,
Dando,	Howell,	Law,	Rodgers,
Dent,	Huffman,	McGinnis,	Ruth,
DiSilvestro,	Jacobs,	Mundy,	Shapiro,
Eroe,	Jaspan,	Pytko,	Sipe,
Frey,	Kahle,	Rankin,	Stiefel,
Gilson,	Kilgallen,	Reed,	Thompson
Haluska,	Kunkel,

NAYS—19

Bean,	Ealy,	McCreesh,	Scarlett,
Buckman,	Gelder,	Owlett,	Sones,
Cavalcante,	Heyburn,	Pierson,	Wolfenden,
Chapman,	Homsher,	Rupp,	Woodward,
Deitrick,	Mallery,	Salus,

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks will state his point of order.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, this is a suspension of the rules and requires a two-thirds vote of all the Senators present.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair does not understand that it is a suspension of the rules and the point of order is not sustained.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1072, entitled:

An Act to fix the number of Senators in the General Assembly of the State; to apportion the State into senatorial districts, as provided by the Constitution; and to regulate the election of, and the terms of office of, the present and future elected Senators.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Barthold,	Haluska,	Kunkel,	Rice,

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title of the bill was read as follows and agreed to.

An Act to protect the public health and welfare by regulating employment in this Commonwealth with respect to hours and conditions of employment providing for certain exceptions imposing duties liabilities and conditions on employers defining the powers and duties of the Department of Labor and Industry and its officers and representatives and providing penalties

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1078, (House Bill No. 1200), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation out of the Motor License Fund to the Department of Highways for expenditure in the various second-class townships of the Commonwealth for the maintenance of township roads and bridges during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight and one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine; permitting the use of any surplus funds for construction and reconstruction of township roads and bridges, requiring townships to exclude provisions for maintenance of roads and bridges from their annual budget and tax levy for road and street purposes for said years, authorizing the Department of Highways to rent road building machinery and equipment belonging to such townships in carrying out the purposes of this act and lapsing the unexpended or unencumbered balance of the appropriation remaining on January first, one thousand nine hundred forty.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend title, page 1, line 2 of title, by striking out the words "expenditure in" and inserting in lieu thereof: "allocation to"; amend title, page 1, line 3 of title, by striking out the words: "second-class" and inserting in lieu thereof: "cities, boroughs, incorporated towns and"; amend title, page 1, lines 7 to 12 of title, both inclusive, by striking out: "all of said lines"; amend title, page 2, lines 1 to 8 of title, both inclusive, by striking out: "all of said lines, and inserting in lieu thereof: "and requiring such political sub-divisions to reduce their budgets and tax levies for road, street and bridge purposes"; amend sec. 1, page 2, lines 8 and 9, by striking out the following: "expenditure in the various townships of the second class" and inserting in lieu thereof: "allocation to the various cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, and townships"; amend sec. 1, page 2, lines 9 to 11, by striking out the following: "in the" in line 9 and all of lines 10 and 11, and inserting in lieu thereof: "in proportion that the number of miles of roads and streets under the jurisdiction of any of said political subdivisions and not maintained

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objections.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed second reading.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would like to ask for a roll call of this motion. Before the roll call is taken I desire to explain what these amendments do. This bill, House Bill No. 1200, (Senate Bill No. 1078), appropriates $8,500,000 to the State Highway Department for the maintenance of township roads. The amount of the appropriation is less than has heretofore been appropriated for the same purpose. Secretary Van Dyke, in a hearing in 1934 in reference to the appropriation, which was $3,000,000 more than this appropriation, stated as follows: "As this turned out, the appropriation was not enough to build new roads, or was not enough to maintain them properly. There was no provision for shoveling snow and this work fell on the supervisors."

Mr. President, this bill as it now reads. allocates this fund on a county basis. It makes no provision for the allocation of this fund to townships or boroughs on the basis of the mileage in those respective localities. It is allocated solely on the basis of the amount of money spent in 1932. In other words, Mr. President, in that year of depression any township, which was frugal, who saved its money on account of the economic conditions, did not spend money on its highways. This act as it now reads provides for the State control of township roads. It attempts to continue township responsibilities. Mr. President, I think you and the members of this Senate will agree that if we are to have any such thing in this State as home rule, this bill in its present form cannot pass and should not pass. It leaves the responsibility on the townships.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, will state his point of order.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, my point of order is that the gentleman from Tioga is not confining himself to an explanation of the amendment.

The PRESIDENT. Technically speaking, the point is well taken. The Senator will confine himself to the question.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I am explaining this bill in order to explain the amendment that I have offered to the bill.

The PRESIDENT. You are putting it in reverse English.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, if this bill in its present form would permit road tax levy for everything except maintenance, and I would like to ask this Senate what lawyer, or what engineer, can define where maintenance stops and road construction or reconstruction begins. Now the amendment that I offered, Mr. President, provides that this money shall be divided between the different boroughs and townships in accordance with their mileage. It provides, Mr. President, that those different localities must reduce their real estate tax by the amount of money so distributed among them. Mr. President, take the allocation of this money to the township and boroughs and cities on the basis of mileage, it does not leave it to the Highway Department to say whether they would spend in one township all the money allocated to that county and let all the others go without any improved roads or any road making. These amendments will restore home rule in this bill. It will give the citizens of boroughs and townships their proportionate share of this money, to be spent by the local authorities. Now I would like to ask this Senate why the boroughs, the cities and townships are not entitled to have the money go to the upkeep of these roads distributed so we know we are going to get it. In other words, as I said before, these amendments restore home rule. Under this act I decreed it is entirely in the discretion of the Superintendent of Highways whether they spend a nickel in any townships or in any of this State. I want to call the attention of the members of this Senate that if you believe in home rule, if you believe that in your own district this money should be allocated on the basis of the roads in those communities, and if you believe that the cities, boroughs and townships should share in that money from the State Highway funds that is appropriated under this act for maintenance of the State roads, you will vote for these amendments. Your vote on these amendments will determine whether you believe in home rule and whether you believe in the allocation of these funds under these conditions.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. OWLETT and Mr. BUCKMAN.

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, This Bill, Senate Bill No. 815, was up for passage last week and defeated. It is a bill of vital importance, it is a bill asked for by the dealers, the second hand motor vehicle dealers of Pennsylvania, and the bill was drawn up for their benefit. Now, there are two sides to this bill; there are purchasers who were never given any consideration in the drawing up of this bill, they have had no say whatever. I come from a rural district in which this will affect the dealers of my district vitally. It will also affect the purchasers vitally and I feel that it is my duty to speak here in behalf of the people of my district whom I represent.

Now, when this bill was introduced there was a public hearing given. There were many second-hand automobile dealers there from all over the State, and they came here before the Committee expressing their desire for the bill and confessing to the Committee that they were not competent to transact their own business they came before this Committee and a bill is brought before the Legislature asking that we pass special legislation in behalf of these second-hand dealers. There were some in favor and some against it. I remember one man from Philadelphia at the close of that hearing making a statement like this: He said, "I am a second-hand dealer from Philadelphia, with three salesmen. Last year I sold over 1600 second-hand cars and," he said, "we do not need a bill of this kind;" he said, "I object to it." He said, "if a man is competent to run his own business, he does not want the industry tied up, as it will be under this bill." Just think of it! Today in the up-state districts, the people have established, and the dealers have established an industry whereby they can trade in horses, cattle etc., and the farmer that has an old car can barter and trade and he can get what he thinks is the best price and they will make a deal. This bill will prohibit them from trading in cattle, horses, or what not, if he wishes to do so, and the dealer wishes to do it. The manufacturers in the automobile industry want this bill because this is what it will do: If this bill passes, then the dealers can say, after the price is fixed, and the farmer goes to a dealer and says, "I would like to trade my car in," he looks at the car and he says I do not want your car, the price is too high, I will sell you a new car. The farmer goes to another dealer and says, "I would like to trade my car in on a new car." The next dealer also tells him that the price is too high, "I do not want your car." What is going to happen? It is going to compel the farmer to go back and run his old car, fix it up and run it longer—either that or run it back of the barn and lose what little value there is in that car.

If this bill passes, you will see many men along the border line going over into the different states where they can deal and barter and trade without any trouble, and without any restriction. Last week the Senate voted down the price-fixing of a haircut and so on, that the barbers had requested. Now they come along and want to fix the price of second-hand automobiles, and they want the dealers protected because they are not competent and are not able to go out into the competitive world and run their own business. I know what it is to be in the automobile business. I got my fingers burnt once, and when I looked over the thing, it was due to my own carelessness. I trusted the man who was running my business and he, in slang phrases, he gypped me, and when I found out that I was being "gypped" I got out of the business. If a man finds that his business is not being run as it should be, he had better look for another manager. Are we going to permit a bill of this kind to be passed? And not only that, it will require the dealer to take out a license. A board will be created, five men will be upon that board, who will be paid $25 a day for their services, and they will set up such restrictions as they see fit. That will require a dealer and it will require a salesman to take an examination. Now, this bill does not state what that examination will be. but it states they must take an examination that is set up by the board. They can have a lot of power when you grant them the privilege of setting up requirements without this Senate knowing what those requirements will be. Not only that, but the penalty that is placed upon them in the bill and to go further, a man, if they found that they do not like him, they can revoke his license and they can bring charges against him if he has made one trade that they find is not just as they say it should be. I think that we should protect the producers of our country. The up-state people,—give them the privilege to carry on the industry as they have, give them the privilege, if they have a market, to continue that market as they have in the past.

I would like to see the Senators from the up-state districts. or from the up-state counties, give this due consideration and realize what we are voting on. Are you going to take away all those rights? Are you going to build a fence around a few second-hand dealers without the producers having any say whatever in this contract, and let them go ahead and run the industry of a second-hand automobile dealers?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I understood that the Senator from Clarion did not object to a price fixing bill when it came to milk. It was allright to fix the price of milk, when the farmers are now making double what they did before we had a milk bill. I heard the Senator say the other day that the NRA had saved the oil industry in this country, that the oil industry was going to smash, that it was sick, and the NRA came along and fixed the price of oil, and from that day until this the oil business has improved. This is a temporary measure; the amendment provides that it shall expire in two years. These automobile dealers come down here, not for a subsidy, like the farmers did to the Federal Government under the AAA, to help them out of their sickness and distress, but these dealers have lived for a year under NRA, and now all of these dire results that Senator Kahle talks about did not happen under the NRA. These dealers come down here and say to us they do not want any subsidy, we do not ask the State of Pennsylvania to pay out a cent, we know what we want, we are in distress." The average earnings of a salesman last year was only a $1000. in Pennsylvania. Twenty-five percent of the dealers failed. There were dealers who had sold as high as $300,000 worth of cars last year, and they only made a couple thousand dollars for themselves. Now, they come here and say, "here is a bill that we want to try out for two years; we tried it once under NRA for a year, and we want to try it for two years more, and it will not cost the State of Pennsylvania one penny; we are willing to pay for that." I say to you that the dealers of Pennsylvania that have sold cars to owners of Pennsylvania, and those owners now pay the Federal Government and the State over one hundred million dollars a year in taxes, that the men who have sold those cars and made that industry, come here and ask this legislature, as I said before, not for a subsidy, not for any favors, not for any taxes, but they say that "we want this and are willing to pay for it," and I think we owe it to them.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, who has just spoken.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis if this is an administration measure?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, it is not, it is not a political measure, there is no politics whatever in it, This is a bill that 90% of the dealers of Pennsylvania have asked for.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, if the dealers who came down here are the lobbyists that the Governor was speaking about tonight?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, these gentlemen came here to a hearing in this Chamber, and I want to say to you, Mr. President, that it was the best hearing, the largest hearing that I have ever listened to or have seen in this Senate. There was only one dealer who stood up here—two dealers, one from Philadelphia, and one from Tioga County, to oppose this bill.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I do not quite understand the Senator from Allegheny, whether or not he said we are in distress or were in distress.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, the automobile dealers?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, they are in distress and have been in distress.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I can hardly comprehend that, because even I have been almost pursuaded to believe that " happy days are here again," and basing my opinion on the party in power to the left, there would not be any need of any special inducement. I just wanted to make certain however, as to whether we are or were in distress.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, the automobile dealers are.

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, I am surprised at our good Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis. I agree with him that when we were in distress when our nation was at a stand-still, the smoke from the furnaces were no longer gushing forth, everything was down, something had to be done, and the NRA was established, and today the Government has lifted that ban, they no longer think that it is necessary that we should have an NRA, and they abolished the same. Today our factories are running, every man has money and every man should have a job along the line of industry. True we have relief, but do we want to go back? Are we going to take a step backwards or are we going to go ahead according to the good judgment of our government officials? To pass a law of this kind is going to compel the dealers to give a bond and hold them under certain restrictions to curb them? I have talked to many dealers since this bill came up, especially during last week, and their business is so great today that they claim they are doing a greater business in the automobile industry than they have in several years. Now after all if they cannot get new cars enough to carry on the business successfully, while the people are waiting they are buying second-hand cars when they cannot get a new car.

As far as the safety measure is concerned, that they preach about in this bill, we have in our state a safety measure set up. Our state requires every automobile that goes on the road, travels the road, to pass inspection every so often. I cannot see why this is going to be a safety measure. It is going to be a safety measure as far as the dealers pocket-books are concerned and no further. I think it is a wrong thing that we should go back, a step backwards; in other words if we pass this bill (the NRA was set up when everybody was in distress) and grant the second-hand dealers in this State of Pennsylvania the right to be protected by class legislation, which this is, and will drive many, many dealers along the border lines from the State of Pennsylvania, and who will benefit by it? The surrounding states. It will not be our state, we will be the losers.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 10 All acts and parts of acts general local or special inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed but this act shall not be construed to repeal or modify the act approved the eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Act No. 64) entitled "An act providing for the appropriation of certain waters of the Commonwealth to the Commonwealth for the benefit of the people thereof declaring void certain condemnations and appropriations of waters by municipalities corporations copartnerships or persons providing for ascertainment of the validity and the filing of the records of certain condemnations and appropriations of water by municipalities corporations copartnerships or persons and appeals therefrom conferring jurisdiction on the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County in relation thereto providing for future condemnations and appropriations of waters by and allocation of waters to municipalities corporations copartnerships or persons and for compensation for waters hereafter to be taken for public water supply purposes and conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Water and Power Resources Board" and it is the legislative intent that the power herein given so far as it relates to condemnation of streams rivers and lakes shall be exercised in subordination thereto

Section 11 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I do not care to speak on this bill, but I desire to call the attention of the Chair and the officers at the desks to the fact that a great many Senators are not voting, and are being marked up and recorded as voting "aye." I do not want to ask for a verification of the roll, but I do insist that unless Senators vote, that they shall not be recorded by the Clerk.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 117, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand three hundred and one of the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws five hundred nineteen) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" as amended establishing a compulsory tax levy for fire protection

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 117 and the following bill, No. 118, are bills taking away from the boroughs and townships home rule. This bill provides for the levying of taxes for the protection, whether or not the supervisors of the townships or the councilmen of the boroughs see fit to do so. I submit that this is very poor legislation, and both this bill and the following bills should be voted down.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, we have 130,000 men in Pennsylvania, volunteer firemen, who have banded themselves together and so far have been compelled to raise money, to furnish protection for every taxpayer in the State, by slot machines and things of that kind. There is not a taxpayer in the township or borough who does not demand the protection of the firemen. Whenever there is any occasion, the fireman has gone out in every instance, leaving his work, his bed at night, in time of storm, risking his life to save property, and in order to maintain the apparatus to do that they are required to, they put in slot machines, which are against the law, or use questionable means for raising funds. Under the present law, the council in the boroughs, and in the townships, or class of supervisors are permitted to levy a millage of two mills. Under this bill they are required to levy an additional one-half mill for that purpose. One-half mill in the average township or borough will furnish just sufficient money to maintain the apparatus in gasoline and tires and necessary equipment for fighting fires. Now, the question is simply this, whether we want to continue to force these volunteers to give their services and raise that money by gambling devices, or whether we are willing to require every taxpayer to pay at least something towards the services that he expects of these men. That is the single question, there is no matter of home rule feeling whatever.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth, whether the levy is to be made though adequate fire protection is given in a borough for less than one-half a mill?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, the present township and borough code provides exactly how this money is to be spent. That is the only answer I can give. I do not think there is any borough or township where the fire protection costs less than a one-half mill tax.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Reverend gentlemen from Berks.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Berks, if this tax is not compulsory?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, one-half mill is compulsory and a two-mill tax is permissible.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask if the township supervisors and borough councils are not now permitted to levy those taxes?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, the two-mills tax.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, what is the need then for making this Act compulsory?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, simply because many of the supervisors and borough councilmen do not see fit to levy this tax. There are some boroughs and some townships that do, others do not, yet they expect the services of these men.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I desire to ask the sponsor whether the amount that the borough may levy for fire protection is at present limited to two mills?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, they may levy a tax up to two mills, they can appropriate whatever the borough council may see fit.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, may not the borough do that now?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, they may not, not for fire purposes, that is in your borough code.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, this bill limits the levy to not more than two mills. That seems to me a new part of the bill.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, the present borough code and township code permits the borough council and supervisors to levy two mills; this bill would make one-half mill compulsory and give them permission to levy two mills.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would like to ask the sponsor just one question on these bills.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would like to ask if this requires second-class townships to levy this tax?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, it does, one-half of one mill.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, second class townships?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I do not konw of a second-class township in my district that has any fire fighting force or any fire fighting equipment at all. Now this bill would compel those townships to levy one-half mill tax, and they have no organizations, they have no fire fighting equipment at all. As to boroughs, I think there is hardly a borough in the Commonwealth that does not spend at least one-half a mill on fire fighting equipment. Why we should compel, a township, when we are trying to relieve real estate from taxation, to levy a tax for a purpose for which they have no organization at all? I venture to say a majority of second-class townships in Pennsylvania have no fire fighting equipment at all.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, the second bill is the one with respect to townships, wherever in any township they have fire equipment they have assured protection; where they have no fire protection we feel they should have it.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, will the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth state whether under the provisions of this bill it would be possible for a township to spend this money and make payments for fire protection to some adjacent borough that had a fire department?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, that is the present law of 1935, where a borough or township might make a contact with an adjacent borough for a fire company to take care of their property.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 534, entitled:

An Act to amend section thirteen of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 208), entitled "An act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs, and providing penalties for the violation thereof; defining the words 'drug' and 'poison'; and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law, and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law; and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality, strength, and purity," as amended naming medical agents which may be sold by storekeepers, and removing intestinal enzymes and all liver products from the exception to the provisions which prohibits the sale of medicines containing substances of glandular origin except by registered pharmacists and assistant pharmacists.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, this is a bill that comes up every two years. Ever since I have been in Harrisburg that bill has been brought up. It is a bill that has to do with regulating and fixing the price of drugs, you might say, of patent medicines in the little country stores. If this bill is passed as it is now, while there are a lot of things named therein that it would be impossible for the country people to go to the country stores and buy a bottle of paregoric or an aspirin tablet, or a headache tablet, and many drugs of that kind I could enumerate. I think that it will be very unjust to the people of the rural districts if that is to be prohibited in the country. The druggists, under this bill, want restrictions on the stores prohibiting that, yet at the same time if you go into a drug store, they have people who are selling everything from hardware down, and yet they want a fence built around this industry to prohibit the little groceryman from selling a few patent medicines. Are we going to tell these people in the country to run to a drug store possibly ten, fifteen or twenty miles away every time they want aspirin tablets, headache powders, paregoric or something of that kind? I think it is an unjust act, I think we should give this due consideration before we vote in favor of it.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 534, as amended, omits the sale, on page 3, of every drug that they felt it would be safe to sell under the Federal Act relating to drugs. They have included in this list of amendments every drug which we feel that the average country storekeeper could sell with a degree of safety. We are perfectly willing to accept any amendments, even on third reading, for any additional articles which the members of the Senate feel it is safe to sell in the drug store.

Senator Kahle spoke on the sale of paregoric. Paregoric has been prohibited for at least within the last ten years. We do believe that sales which contain quite a dose of acetanilid as its base should not be sold in country stores. We do believe that aspirin, as such, is not exactly a safe drug to be peddled out without some curb to it. Our idea is not to disturb the sales in central drug stores, not to interfere with their business, but we do believe that we have a right to safeguard human life in prohibiting the sale of dangerous drugs. I think anybody who is fair can look over this list of amendments put in by the committee, and will see that we have been very liberal in granting sales to those drug stores of the articles which are necessary for emergency, and bromo-seltzer is a dangerous drug, whether or not there is any provision made to prevent anyone but druggists from selling it to people.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have received requests from the people of my district to vote for and against this bill, and I cannot do both, and I would like to have the benefit of my own judgment, therefore, I would like to ask the Senator whether aspirin and bromo-seltzer, are dangerous drugs, whether drug stores are restricted in their sales of these drugs?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I would say that the drugs should be sold by either a pharmacy or—

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, what is in the drug bill now that prevents a druggist who is selling me as much aspirin as I want if I had the price to pay for it?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, there is a law that drugs shall not be dispensed at a drug store except by a pharmacist.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, if I go into a drug store I can buy aspirin without a prescription, and if that is right, I do not see, seriously speaking, that this bill accomplished anything. If that were a bill to prevent druggists from selling drugs, whether a dangerous drug or otherwise I might have some sympathy for the bill, but I am told by learned doctors that aspirin is a dangerous drug, and bromo-seltzer similarly dangerous, and I see nothing in the bill which regulates the sale of either of these two dangerous drugs in a drug store. I can walk into a drug store, as this bill reads, as I have done before, after the passage of this Act, and buy two or three tins of aspirin and take five or six doses of bromo-seltzer if I could stand it, and there is nothing in the Act to prevent me. What is the purpose of passing a bill of this kind, if it is supposed to be a health measure? I see no safeguard against the sale of it in a drug store, and I do not see why it cannot be sold just as well in a grocery store.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator from Philadelphia, if he would feel that we would be justified in putting in the Act 'Drug Stores' as to the sale of any medicine that contains strychnine?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, there is everything else in the Act, grocery stores, or what not, so why not put that in?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, will the Senator from Philadelphia accede that it is a very dangerous drug?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think it is a dangerous drug.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, would the Senator from Philadelphia consider it safe to put in the Act 'Drug Store'?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is there any regulation in this bill as to what quantities or how to buy these drugs that cannot be sold? The Act merely says that they cannot be sold in grocery stores, that is all, it does not state how they shall be sold.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not like to prolong this debate but—. Do I understand the Act says that any medicine that is sold with a prescription attached to the bottle? The only thing I want to call the attention of the Senate to is the fact that some of us live where there is no drug store handy and I did not know until tonight that Castoria is terribly dangerous. However, it does say on the label of the Castoria bottle how many ounces of fruit juice is in it and certain other ingredients that are in the medicine. I have children in my home and I know the value of Castoria when we need it, especially to cure a little cold. Maybe it is not the right medicine but it works remarkably.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. Presdent, the Senator from Westmoreland just mentioned about getting Castoria for his children; I would like to ask the Senator from Westmoreland whether he knows the danger of magnesia for the children when they get pains in that section of the body. If you go to a pharmacist and you tell the pharmacist that the child has a terrific pain, the druggist will tell you to call the doctor frequently, because magnesia usually is not good for those pains, do you know that?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, no I did not know that. Mr. President, I can easily understand why the druggist is having a doctor sponsor the Act. If from now on my little baby gets stomach-ache and I have to call a druggist, and he has to call a doctor, I cannot see what the Castoria is good for.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, is it not a fact that more people die from the result of taking castor oil, than as a result of taking aspirin?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I would say very definitely, yes.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, then why do we exclude from the provisions of the bill, aspirin, when castor oil is a more dangerous drug?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, the Senator has taken in quite a territory. I think the point he wants to make is that so many people take cathartics for a pain in the abdomen when they really have come inflammed conditions, such as peritonitis, but the same thing might hold true even under the most skillful care. Of course, we want to prevent, as far as possible, the indiscrimative use of narcotics when there is an inflamed condition in the abdomen.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to know what connection this bill has with the following bill, which has a lot to do with cemeteries?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, it is rather a coincidence that they should appear on the same calendar.

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, in all seriousness he spoke of paregoric. I want to correct that statement. When I mentioned that I meant Castoria and I told him differently. This bill, as it is drawn, will not permit even a person to buy a bottle of cough medicine or anything of that kind that has upon that bottle a printed statement of what there is within it, and every bottle of cough medicine will tell that it contains so many drops of this or that. We have men around selling salves, liniments, and so forth, and we have men who will buy these liniments and so on; are we going to bar them from buying anything of that kind in the country? It is ridiculous to think that you could walk into a drug store and if you want some aspirin tablets, or a laxative, or anything of that sort, the soda slinger will go over and give it to you, yet you want to prohibit the grocer from handing it out. So far as poisons, etc., strychnine has been mentioned, we have a law governing the sale of that; that is protected, and we do not need to worry about buying poison and the other products, and so on, that we have mentioned. We have been selling them in the drug stores, that is the common everyday proprietary preparation.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreebly to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

An Act to prevent fraud and deception by defining and regulating cemetery memorial dealers and cemetery memorial salesmen providing for the service of process in certain cases vesting certain powers and duties in the State Board of Examiners of Cemetery Memorial Dealers of the Department of Public Instruction in the Department of Public Instruction and in the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County and providing penalties

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, I feel that we ought to know something more about these bills than we can tell by the reading of them.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy, give the necessary information?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to know what the nature of these bills are; are these health measures?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, yes, they are.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, would the Senator from Luzerne care to state the source from which these bills arose?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, the graveyard.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, does this bill include the cemeteries where they erect monuments for the dead?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, marble monuments?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, is it just for those where they have memorial tablets?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, no, it includes all cemeteries.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, what is meant by Memorial Cemeteries?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, in that characterization I would judge all cemeteries are in a sense memorial.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, is this not a bill that is being advocated by the marble workers and men who build marble monuments in cemeteries, in opposition to those that are memorial cemeteries?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, the real purpose of this bill is to prevent this chiseling in selling monuments, and preying on the sorrow of the family deceased in trying to sell certan things to them which are not up to the standards prescribed.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, does it refer to monuments for lots in cemeteries?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, it refers not only to lots but to memorials and everything else that goes with it.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, we heard the Governor, this evening, speaking a lot about lobbyists; do you know anything about the lobbyists that the marble men have down in Washington, trying to pass the national bill, and it was defeated.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I have not been in Washington for three months.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, that has been longer than three months, it has been going on for three years.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, last week I was referring to Senate Bill No. 815, and I was prompted to say that I did not know what was meant by chiseling. I must admit now that I know what chiseling is; we are dealing with these monuments right now and this gave me a good desription of chiseling.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—12.

DiSilvestro,	Jaspan,	McGinnis,	Rankin,

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 608, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Comonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penaltes for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," by further defining the duties of the secretary of the board of school directors.

be recommitted to the Committee on State Boards.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 668, entitled:

An Act to amend route 15176 of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws five hundred ninety-four) entitled "An act establishing certain township roads as State highways authorizing their construction maintenance and improvement under certain conditions and restrictions limiting the obligation of the Commonwealth in the construction of certain structures located on such highways conferring certain powers upon the Department of Highways and local authorities persons associations and corporations for sharing the cost of the maintenance and construction of such highways and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act" as amended by changing certain routes

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—43

Barthold,	Frey,	Kunkel,	Rice,
Bean,	Gelder,	Law,	Rodgers,
Buckman,	Gilson,	Mallery,	Rupp,

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I wish to call up at this time Senate Bill No. 566, on third reading.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 566, entitled:

An Act relating to and establishing a system in counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes for the collection of taxes in counties boroughs towns townships school and poor districts with certain exceptions through the county treasurers as county tax collectors in cities of the second class A and third class defining the rights powers and duties of such taxing regulating the date of making and certifying tax levies abolishing the office of county borough town township school and poor district tax collectors except county treasurers and certain tax collectors in cities upon the expiration of existing terms and in cases of vacancies imposing certain duties upon the Department of Internal Affairs defining certain criminal offenses imposing penalties and creating liens and repealing existing laws

And said bill having been read at length the third time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator the purpose of these amendments?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, to put the bill back to the form that I left it, when I was called away on Thursday.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I believe that in the present status there are certain provisions of another Act incorporated.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, since that there was a redrafting of this bill and putting the Moomaw-Moran Bill under the name of Mundy, I want to remove that stigma.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I do not object to the Senator's personal objection to the change in the bill; however, I think the bill has been improved by the amendment, and I would object.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Mercer, Mr. Law, object?

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, yes.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Government.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A division being called for, 17 Senators voted in the affirmative and 19 in the negative, whereupon the question was decided in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. RUPP. Mr. President, I am Chairman of the Committee that reported out this bill and it was reported out after a considerable urging from some people who were interested in this bill, and I agreed to report it out with the understanding that it be recommitted to the Committee on County Government after second reading. Now these people who have been adversely affected by this bill, who are interested in not having it passed, have requested me to put it over until they have an opportunity to appear before the committee. In the first place, I gave my word that it would be recommitted if any objection was raised, and objection was raised to the bill. Now I am trying to fulfill my promise.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I ask that the bill go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

An Act to enable the Courts of Quarter Sessions to restore to the possesion and ownership of former owners thereof certain intoxicating liquors seized for violation of law notwithstanding the conviction of the owner of said liquor of an offense in respect thereof

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, there may be a wrong impression, and so there may be no mistake about this bill, it merely gives the Court of Quarter Sessions, and the petition of a former owner of liquor, to restore the liquor to the former owner upon paying the tax. Now the situation that we are trying to cover with this bill is that during prohibition there was no moonshine liquor but lawfully manufactured and lawfully bottled liquor that was apprehended by the revenue men while in transportation, being unlawfully transported. A lot of this liquor is now in the basements of Court Houses and it was never condemned by the Commonwealth and it is lying there and employees of the counties are getting drunk on it and using it. Now this bill merely gives the owner the right to petition the court and the court may—is not compulsory or mandatory.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 778, the bill just read be recommitted to the Committee on Insurance.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SALUS and Mr. BUCKMAN and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14.

Bean,	Ealy,	Mallery,	Salus,
Buckman,	Gelder,	Owlett,	Scarlett,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Pierson,	Wolfenden,
Dietrick,	Homsher,

DiSilvestro,	Jaspan,	Mundy,	Shapiro,
Eroe,	Kahle,	Pytko,	Sipe,
Frey,	Kilgallen,	Rankin,	Stiefel,

So the question was determined in the negative.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and conideration of Senate Bill No. 856, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the eighteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws five hundred forty-nine) entitled "An act to permit the use of voting machines for recording and computing the vote at all elections including primaries in any county city borough or township of the Commonwealth at the option of the electors thereof prescribing regulations with reference to the adoption requirements examinations purchase installation preparation custody and demonstration of use of voting machines providing rules and regulations for the conduct of elections held with voting machines prescribing the qualifications number and duties of election officers in election district in which voting machines may be used placing duties upon county commissioners and the Secretary of the Commonwealth providing for redivision of wards of cities and boroughs into election districts and the consolidation of election districts providing for the payment of expenses incident to the purchase and use of voting machines by the counties in which they are used and providing penalties for violation of the provisions of this act' by adding a new section thereto 11-A providing that in counties of the first class all appointments shall be equally divided between majority and minority commissioners

The first section of the bill was read as follows and agreed to.

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the act approved the eighteenth day of April one thousand inne hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 549) entitled "An act to permit the use of voting machines for recording and computing the vote at all elections including primaries in any county city borough or township of the Commonwealth at the option of the electors thereof prescribing regulations with reference to the adoption requirements examination purchase installation preparation custody and demonstration of use of voting machines providing rules and regulations for the conduct of elections held with voting machines prescribing the qualifications number and duties of election officers in election districts in which voting machines may be used placing duties upon county commissioners and the Secretary of the Commonwealth providing for redivision of wards of cities and boroughs into election districts and the consolidation of election districts providing for the payment of expenses incident to the purchase and use of voting machines by the counties in which they are used and providing penalties for violation of the provisions of this act" is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section 11-A to read as follows

The second (11-A) section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 11-A All appointments made under the provisions of this act by the county commissioners in counties of the first class shall be equally divided between the majority commissioners and the minority commissioner so that the majority commissioners shall name one-half of al lthe appointees and the minority commissioner shall name one-half of al lthe appointees The provisions of this act apply to persons presently employed as well as to persons to be employed in the future and the county commissioners shall comply thereto within thirty days of the passage of this act

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. SALUS. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend Section 11-A, page 3, line 5, by inserting after the word 'first" and before the word "class", the following: "and second".

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, before we go into a roll call on this bill, in order that the Senators may understand what this roll call is about, this is merely placing the City of Pittsburgh in the same position as the City of Philadelphia ,giving the same concession to Pittsburgh as they are giving to Philadelphia.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senate from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is it a good bill or is it a bad bill.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, if it is a good bill for Philadelphia it is a good bill for Pittsburgh, if it is a bad bill for Philadelphia it is a bad bill for Pittsburgh.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understand that what the gentleman wants to do is to include Pittsburgh in this bill because he thinks by adding that, he may cut off Pittsburgh votes against the bill.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, is Senator Rankin here?

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. Preident, I am here.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Pittsburgh, Mr. Rankin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Pittsburgh, Mr. Rankin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I suppose the Senator from Allegheny Mr. Rankin, understands what this bill is.

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, the bill is to give representation to the Republicans in Pittsburgh by the County Commissioners, and at the same time you people are asking for a representation for the Democrats in Philadelphia from the County Commissioners.

MR. RANKIN. Mr. President, does the Senator from Philadelphia mean dividing the patronage.

Mr SALUS. Mr. President, yes, dividing the patronage.

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, I am opposed to the amendment.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, so far as Pittsburgh is concerned?

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, does the Senator from Allegheny think this is a good bill for Philadelphia?

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, no I do not.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, that is what to bring to the attention of the members of this Senate, that the county commissioner of Pittsburgh does not think that this is a good bill for Pittsburgh, nor does he think that it is a good bill for Philadelphia. Under the circumstances, I am going to insist on these amendments, and, of course, if they are defeated, I will then ask the Senator from Pittsburgh to give Philadelphia the same consideration as we from Philadelphia expected to give Pittsburgh. In other words, this as a patronage bill, to be honest. It is an attempt by the Democrats to get from the county commissioners in Philadelphia, who are Republicans, a part of the patronage, because the majority there are Republicans. In Pittsburgh they divide their patronage at the present time exactly according to the rules that are in Philadelphia now. That is the entire situation. If it is bad for Pittsburgh, it is bad for Philadelphia, and if it is good for Philadelphia it is good for Pittsburgh. You gentlemen can have your choice of either a good or bad bill for both cities.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, as a representative of the City of Pittsburgh, especially for the benefit of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, I desire to state that Senator Rankin is not a resident of the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, he is a commissioner, is he not?

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, he is, not of Pittsburgh.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Frey.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Frey, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I want to know from the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Frey, if Pittsburgh is still in Allegheny County?

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, it was when I left there this morning.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, then we are talking about Allegheny County.

The PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendments.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would like to explain to the members of this Senate that there is a difference between the City of Pittsburgh and the City of Philadelphia. The reason for this bill is that the county commissioners of Philadelphia have functions to perform which the county commissioners of Pittsburgh do not have. The County commissioners of Philadelphia are the custodians of the voting machines, and they appoint the officials to have charge of the voting machines. That is not true of Pittsburgh. Under any system of the election laws the minority party ought to have some representation. In Philadelphia we have a minority county commissioner. He does not get a single appointment and has nothing to do in regard to appointments in the whole county commissioner's office, including the election bureau, and that is the reason for this bill, and that is the reason there is a difference between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, this bill has in mind the troubles and perplexities of Philadelphia, and it is in no way for the benefit of the City of Pittsburgh. I certainly hope my senatorial colleagues will vote down this amendment.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, so far as this bill is concerned, and in order to get it passed, my colleague from Philadelphia has been very astute about this bill as he has in all bills referring to the City of Philadelphia, and I think when the end of the session comes, he should be made a drafter of alibis. This is just an alibi, and we quite recently had a bill on the floor in which he had one of those alibis, and when I spoke to him on the side, he said "well I had to offer some kind of an excuse," and this is some kind of an excuse. This is a plan to steal patronage by the Democrats. It is no different from any of the other bills. They have the power and they just confiscate whatever there is left in Philadelphia, and the longer I talk, the stronger I think the vote will be against these amendments. It is just one of a number of proceedings. They have taken now pretty nearly everything except Bill Penn's eyes, and they do not know he has eyes, because if they thought he had, they would go up and take the eyes out.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHAPIRO and Mr. JASPAN and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14

Bean,	Ealy,	Mallery,	Salus,
Buckman,	Gelder,	Owlett,	Scarlett,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Pierson,	Wolfenden,
Dietrick,	Homsher,

NAYS—25

Barthold,	Henney,	McCreesh,	Rodgers,
Cavalcante,	Huffman,	McGinnis,	Rupp,

DiSilvestro,	Kilgallen,	Pytko,	Shapiro,
Eroe,	Kunkel,	Rankin,	Sipe,
Frey,	Law,	Rice,	Stiefel,
Gilson,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I now move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT, This motion cannot be debated. The question is on the motion to recommit.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDENT, The motion is lost.

Mr. SALUS. MR. President, I asked for a roll call and I asked before the question was put.

The PRESIDENT, The Senator from Philadelphia is not trying to tell us how to transact the business.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I am not trying to tell anybody, I am trying to get fair play and I am entitled to it.

The PRESIDENT. You are getting all the fair play you are entitled to.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, no, nor are we getting legislation I asked for this roll call before any announcement was made, and I do not propose to be steam-rollered by anybody whether it be the President of the Senate or the Governor of Pennsylvania. These things ought to be on the level, and according to law, and according to the rules laid down by this Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia had better take his seat.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, if I do not take my seat, you can get the Sergeant-at-Arms to put me down, but I'm going to have fair play on anything I undertake, and there will not be any steam roller on any matter such as this. Common decency demands that it should not be.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Philadelphia still want the roll call.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, yes, I want a roll call, because I am entitled to it. I know we will not make any headway, but I am entitled to it, it is a question of legislation.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SALUS and Mr. BUCKMAN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14.

Bean,	Ealy,	Mallery,	Salus,
Buckman,	Gelder,	Owlett,	Scarlett,

Eroe,	Kahle,	Pytko,	Sipe,
Frey,	Kilgallen,	Rankin,	Stiefel,

So the question was determined in the negative.

The title of the bill was read as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the eighteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 549) entitled 'An act to permit the use of voting machines for recording and computing the vote at all elections including primaries in any county city borough or township of the Commonwealth at the option of the electors thereof prescribing regulations with reference to the adoption requirements examination purchase installation preparation custody and demonstration of use of voting machines providing rules and regulations for the conduct of elections held with voting machines prescribing the qualifications number and duties of election officers in election districts in which voting machines may be used placing duties upon county commissioners and the Secretary of the Commonwealth providing for redivision of wards of cities and boroughs into election districts and the consolidation of election districts providing for the payment of expenses incident to the purchase and use of voting machines by the counties in which they are used and providing penalties for violation of the provisions of this act" by adding a new section thereto 11-A providing that in counties of the first class all appointments shall be equally divided between majority and minority commissioners

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend Title page 2, line 4, by inserting after the word "first" and before the word "class", the following: "and second."

Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1159, as follows:

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1266, as follows:

An Act concerning the ascertaintment of principal and income and the apportionment of receipts and expenses among tenants and remaindermen and to make uniform the law with reference thereto

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same that

Section 1 Definition of Terms "Principal" as used in this act means any realty or personalty which has been so set aside or limited by the owner thereof or a person thereto legally empowered that it and any substitutions for it are eventually to be conveyed delivered or paid to a person while the return therefrom or use thereof or any part of such return or use is in the meantime to be taken or received by or held for accumulation for the same or another person

"Income" as used in this act means the return derived from principal

"Tenant" as used in this act means the person to whom income is presently or currently payable or for whom it is accumulated or who is entitled to the beneficial use of the principal presently and for a time prior to its distribution

"Remainderman" as used in this act means the person ultimately entitled to the principal whether named or designated by the terms of the transaction by which the principal was established or determined by operation of law

"Trustee" as used in this act includes the original trustee of any trust to which the principal may be subject and also any succeeding or added trustee

Section 2 Application of the act Powers of Settler This act shall govern the ascertainment of income and principal and the apportionment of receipts and expenses between tenants and remaindermen in all cases where a principal has been established with or unless otherwise stated hereinafter without the interposition of a trust except that in the establishment of the principal provision may be made touching all matters covered by this act and the person establishing the principal may himself direct the manner of ascertainment of income and principal and the apportionment of receipts and expenses or grant discretion to the trustee or other person to do so and such provision and direction where not otherwise contrary to law shall control notwithstanding this act

Section 3 Income and Principal Disposition (1) All receipts of money or other property paid or delivered as rent of realty or hire of personalty or dividends on corporate shares payable other than in shares of the corporation itself or interest on money loaned or interest on or the rental or use value of property wrongfully withheld or tortiously damaged or otherwise in return for the use of principal shall be deemed income unless otherwise expressly provided in this act

(2) All receipts of money or other property paid or delivered as the consideration for the sale or other transfer not a leasing or letting of property forming a part of the principal or as a repayment of loans or in liquidation of the assets of a corporation or as the proceeds of property taken on eminent domain proceedings where separate awards to tenant and remainderman are not made or as proceeds of insurance upon property forming a part of the principal except where such insurance has been issued for the benefit of either tenant or remainderman alone or otherwise as a refund or replacement or change in form of principal shall be deemed principal unless otherwise expressly provided in this act Any profit or loss resulting upon any change in form of principal shall enure to or fall upon principal

(3) All income after payment of expenses properly chargeable to it shall be paid and delivered to the tenant or retained by him if already in his possession or held for accumulation where legally so directed by the terms of the transaction by which the principal was established while the principal shall be held for ultimate distribution as determined by the terms of the transaction by which it was established or by law

Section 4 Apportionment of Income Whenever a tenant shall have the right to income from periodic payments which shall include rent interest on loans and annuities but shall not include dividends on corporate shares and such right shall cease and determine by death or in any other manner at a time other than the date when such periodic payments should be paid he or his personal representative shall be entitled to that portion of any such income next payable which amounts to the same percentage thereof as the time elapsed from the last due date of such periodic payments to and including the day of the determination of his right is of the total period during which such income would normally accrue The retitled to income by the terms of the transaction by maining income shall be paid to the person next enwhich the principal was established But no action shall be brought by the trustee or tenant to recover such apportioned income or any portion thereof until after the day on which it would have become due to the tenant but for the determination of the right of the tenant entitled thereto The provisions of this section shall apply whether an ultimate remainderman is specifically named or not Likewise when the right of the first tenant accrues at a time other than the payment dates of such periodic payments he shall only receive that portion of such income which amounts to the same percentage thereof as the time during which he has been so entilted is of the total period during which such income would normally accrue the balance shall be a part of the principal

Section 5 Corporate Dividends and Share Rights (1) All dividends on shares of a corporation forming a part of the principal which are payable in the shares of the corporation shall be deemed principal Subject to the provisions of this section all dividends payable otherwise than in the shares of the corporation itself including ordinary and extraordinary dividends and dividends payable in shares or other securities or obligations of corporations other than the declaring corporation shall be deemed income Where the trustee shall have the option of receiving a dividend either in cash or in the shares of the declaring corporation it shall be considered as a cash dividend and deemed income irrespective of the choice made by the trustee

(2) All rights to subscribe to the shares or other securities or obligations of a corporation accruing on account of the ownership of shares or other securities in such corporation and the proceeds of any sale of such rights shall be deemed principal All rights to subscribe to the shares or other securities or obligations of a corporation accruing on account of the ownership of shares or other securities in another corporation and the proceeds of any sale of such rights shall be deemed income

(3) Where the assets of corporation are liquidated amounts paid upon corporate shares as cash dividends declared before such liquidation occurred or as arrears of preferred or guaranteed dividends shall be deemed income all other amounts paid upon corporate shares on disbursement of the corporate assets to the stockholders shall be deemed principal All disbursements of corporate assets to the stockholders whenever made which are designated by the corporation as a return of capital or division of corporate property shall be deemed principal

(4) Where a corporation succeeds another by merger consolidation or reorganization or othewise acquires its assets and the corporate shares of the succeeding corporation are issued to the shareholders of the original corporation in like proportion to or in substitution for their shares of the original corporation the two corporations shall be considered a single corporation in applying the provisions of this section But two corporations shall not be considered a single corporation under this section merely because one owns corporate shares of or otherwise controls or directs the other

(5) In applying this section the date when a dividend accrues to the person who is entitled to it shall be held to be the date specified by the corporation as the one on which the stockholders entitled thereto are determined or in default thereof the date of declaration of the dividend

Section 6 Premium and Discount Bonds Where any part of the principal consists of bonds or other obligations for the payment of money they shall be deemed principal at their inventory value or in default thereof at their market value at the time the principal was established or at their cost where purchased later regardless of their par or maturity value and upon their respective maturities or upon their sale any loss or gain realized thereon shall fall upon or enure to the principal

Section 7 Principal Used in Business (1) Whenever a trustee or a tenant is authorized by the terms of the transaction by which the principal was established or by law to use any part of the principal in the continuance of a business which the original owner of the property comprising the principal had been carrying on the net profits of such business attributable to such principal shall be deemed income

(2) Where such business consists of buying and selling property the net profits for any period shall be ascertained by deducting from the gross returns during and the inventory value of the property at the end of such period the expenses during and the inventory value of the property at the beginning of such period

(3) Where such business does not consist of buying and selling property the net income shall be computed in accordance with the customary practice of such business but not in such way as to decrease the principal

(4) Any increase in the value of the principal used in such business shall be deemed principal and all losses in any one calendar year after the income from such business for that year has been exhausted shall fall upon principal

Section 8 Principal Comprising Animals Where any part of the principal consists of animals employed in business the provisions of section seven shall apply and in other cases where the animals are held as a part of the principal partly or wholly because of the offspring or increase shall be deemed principal to the extent necessary to maintain the original number of such animals and the remainder shall be deemed income and in all other cases such offspring or increase shall be deemed income

Section 9 Disposition of Natural Resources Where any part of the principal consists of property in lands from which may be taken timber minerals oils gas or other natural resources and the trustee or tenant is authorized by law or by the terms of the transaction by which the principal was established to sell lease or otherwise develop such natural resources and no provision is made for the disposition of the net proceeds thereof after the payment of expenses and carrying charges on such property such proceeds if received as rent on a lease shall be deemed income but if received as consideration whether as royalties or otherwise for the permanent severance of such natural resources from the lands shall be deemed principal to be invested to produce income Nothing in this section shall be construed to abrogate or extend any right which may otherwise have accrued by law to a tenant to develop or work such natural resources for his own benefit

Section 10 Principal Subject to Depletion Where any part of the principal consists of property subject to depletion such as leaseholds patents copyrights and royalty rights and the trustee or tenant in possession is not under a duty to change the form of the investment of the principal the full amount of rents royalties or return from the property shall be income to the tenant but where the trustee or tenant is under a duty arising either by law or by the terms of the transaction by which the principal was established to change the form of the investment either at once or as soon as it may be done without loss then the return from such property not in excess of five per centum per annum of its fair inventory value or in default thereof its market value at the time the principal was established or at its cost where purchased later shall be deemed income and the remainder principal

Section 11 Unproductive Estate (1) Where any part of a principal in the possession of a trustee consists of realty or personalty which for more than a year and until disposed of as hereinafter stated has not produced an average net income of at least one per centum per annum of its fair inventory value or in default thereof its market value at the time the principal was established or of its cost where purchased later and the trustee is under a duty to change the form of the investment as soon as it may be done without sacrifice of value and such change is delayed but is made before the principal is finally distributed then the tenant or in case of his death his personal representative shall be entitled to share in the net proceeds received from the property as delayed income to the extent hereinafter stated

(2) Such income shall be the difference between the net proceeds received from the property and the amount which had it been placed at simple interest at the rate of five per centum per annum for the period during which the change was delayed would have produced the net proceeds at the time of change but in no event shall such income be more than the amount by which the net proceeds exceed the fair inventory value of the property or in default thereof its market value at the time the principal was established or its cost where purchased later The net proceeds shall consist of the gross proceeds received from the property less any expenses incurred in disposing of it and less all carrying charges which have been paid out of principal during the period while it has been unproductive

(3) The change shall be taken to have been delayed from the time when the duty to make it first arose which shall be presumed in the absence of evidence to the contrary to be one year after the trustee first recived the property if then unproductive otherwise one year after it became unproductive

(4) If the tenant has received any income from the property or has had any beneficial use thereof during the period while the change has been delayed his share of the delayed income shall be reduced by the amount of such income received or the value of the use had

(5) In the case of successive tenants the delayed income shall be divided among them or their representatives according to the length of the period for which each was entitled to income

Section 12 Expenses Trust Estates (1) All ordinary expenses incurred in connection with the trust estate or with its administration and management including regularly recurring taxes assessed against any portion of the principal water rates premiums or insurance taken upon the estates of both tenant and remainderman interest on mortgages on the principal ordinary repairs trustees' compensation except commissions computed on principal compensation of assistants and Court costs and attorneqs' and other fees on regular accountings shall be paid out of income But such expenses where incurred in disposing of or as carrying charges on unproductive estate as defined in section eleven shall be paid out of principal subject to the provisions of subsection two of section eleven

(2) All other expenses including trustee's commissions computed upon principal cost of investing or reinvesting principal attorneys' fees and other costs incurred in maintaining or defending any action to protect the trust or the property or assure the title thereof unless due to the fault or cause of the tenant and cost of or assessments for improvements to property forming part of the principal shall be paid out of principal Any tax levied by any authority federal state or foreign upon profit or gain defined as principal under the terms of subsection two of section three shall be paid out of principal notwithstanding said tax may be denominated a tax upon income by the taxing authority

(3) Expenses paid out of income according to subsection one which represent regularly recurring charges shall be considered to have accrued from day to day and shall be apportioned on that basis whenever the right of the tenant begins or ends at some date other than the payment date of the expenses Where the expenses to be paid out of income are of unsual amount the trustee may distribute them throughout an entire year or part thereof or throughout a series of years After such distribution where the right of the tenant ends during the period the expenses shall be apportioned between tenant and remainderman on the basis of such distribution

(4) Where the costs of or special taxes or assessments for an improvement representing an addition of value to property held by the trustee as part of principal are paid out of principal as provided in subsection two the trustee shall reserve out of income and add to the principal each year a sum equal to the cost of the improvement divided by the number of years of the reasonably expected duration of the improvement

Section 13 Expenses Non-Trust Estates (1) The provision of section twelve so far as applicable and excepting those dealing with costs of or special taxes or assessments for improvements to property shall govern the apportionment of expenses between tenants and remaindermen where no trust has been created subject however to any legal agreement of the parties or any specific direction of the taxing or other statutes but where either tenant or remainderman has incurred an expense for the benefit of his own estate and without the consent or agreement of the other he shall pay such expense in full

(2) Subject to the exceptions stated in subsection one the cost of or special taxes or assessments for an improvement representing an addition of value to property forming part of the principal shall be paid by the tenant where such improvement cannot reasonably be expected to outlast the estate of the tenant In all other cases a portion thereof only shall be paid by the tenant while the remainder shall be paid by the remainderman Such portion shall be ascertained by taking that percentage of the total which is found by dividing the present value of the tenant's estate by the present value of an estate of the same form as that of the tenant except that it is limited for a period corresponding to the reasonably expected duration of the improvement The computation of present values of the estates shall be made on the expectancy basis set forth in the American Experience Tables of Mortality and no other evidence of duration or expectancy shall be considered

Section 14 Uniformity of Interpretation This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it

Section 15 Short Title This act may be cited as the Uniform Principal and Income Act

Section 16 Repeal All acts or parts of acts which are inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

Section 17 Time of Taking Effect This act shall take effect and shall apply to all estates of tenants or remaindermen which become legally effective after the date of final enactment of this act

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1322, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seventy-five) entitled "An act to provide for the appointment of county and city inspectors of weights and measures providing for their compensation and expenses prescribing their duties prohibiting vendors from giving false or insufficient weights and fixing the penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof" by eliminating certain conditions of removal of inspectors and providing for their appointment in counties of the first class.

The first of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws 275) entitled "An act to provide for the appointment of county and city inspectors of weights and measures providing for their compensation and expenses prescribing their duties prohibiting vendors from giving false or insufficient weights and fixing the penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof" as last amended by the act approved the nineteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (Pamphlet Laws 1102) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the mayors of cities of the second and third class and the several boards of county commissioners shall respectively appoint one or more competent persons as inspectors of weights and measures in the respective county or city whose salary shall not be less than one thousand dollars per annum to be paid out of the respective revenues of such county or city Provided however That the payment of a minimum salary shall not apply to counties having a population of fifteen thousand or less In addition to the salary provided by law the said county and city inspectors shall be entitled to receive the actual expenses incurred by them personally in performing the duties of their office such as transportation hotel livery telephone telegraph and postal charges to be paid by the boards of county commissioners of their respective counties and by the proper officers of their respective cities in such proportion as may be agreed upon by said boards of county commissioners and proper officers of cities on bills itemized and properly sworn to Provided however That nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent two or more counties or any county and city from combining the whole or any part of their districts as may be agreed upon by the board of county commissioners and mayors of cities with one set of standards and one inspector upon the written consent of the chief of the bureau of standards Provided further In cities of the first class the inspectors shall be appointed by the county commissioners of the county in which the said city may be located Any inspector appointed in pursuance of an agreement for such combination shall subject to the terms of his appointment have the same authority and duties as if he had been appointed by each of the authorities who are parties to the agreement The county and city inspectors of weights and measures as appointed by the respective counties and cities shall hold their office during good behavior [and shall not be removed discharged or reduced in pay or position except for inefficiency incapacity conduct unbecoming employes or other just cause and until the said officials shall have been furnished with written statements of the reason for such removal discharge or reduction and shall have been given reasonable time to make written answer thereto Nor shall such removal discharge or reduction be made until the charge or charges shall have been examined into and found true in fact by the appointed power of such county or city at a hearing upon reasonable notice to the person charged at which time he may be represented by counsel and offer testimony or witnesses in his own] [behalf] It shall be unlawful for any sealer or inspector of weights and measures or any of his deputies to perform clerical or other services for the county or city of their respective districts.

All the appointments made under the provisions of this act by the county commissioners in counties of the first class shall be equally divided between the majority commissioners and the minority commissioners so that the majority commissioners shall name one-half of all appointees and the minority commissioners shall name one-half of all the appointees The provisions of this act apply to persons presently employed as well as to persons to be employed in the future and the county commissioners shall comply therewith within thirty days of the passage of this act.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I move to amend section 1, page 3, line 17, by striking out after the word "behavior" and before the word "and" the bracket.

Amend Section 1, page 3, line 29, by striking out after the word "own" the bracket.

Amend Section 1, page 4, line 6, by inserting after the word "first" the following:

and second.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this also includes Pittsburgh?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, yes. I refer to the maintenance department, the weights and measures and the county commissioners. I think the City of Pittsburgh has a similiar situation as the Philadelphia County Commissioners, and the same proposition applies to this bill as to the one that was recently voted down. I would not want any of the Democratic Senators to make a mistake.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Salus and Mr. Buckman and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—12

Bean,	Dietrick,	Homsher,	Salus,
Buckman,	Ealy,	Mallery,	Scarlett,
Chapman,	Gelder,	Owlett,	Wolfenden,

NAYS—23

Barthold,	Henney,	McGinnis,	Rupp,
Cavalcante	Jaspan,	Mundy,	Ruth,
Dent,	Kahle,	Pytko,	Shapiro,
Eroe,	Kilgallen,	Rankin,	Sipe,
Frey,	Kunkel,	Rice,	Stiefel,
Gilson,	McCreesh,	Rodgers,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The title of the bill was read as follows and agreed to:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 275) entitled "An act to provide for the appointment of county and city inspectors of weights and measures providing for their compensation and expenses prescribing their duties prohibiting vendors from giving false or insufficient weights and fixing the penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof" by eliminating certain conditions of removal of inspectors and providing for their appointment in counties of the first class.

JOINT SESSION

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR THOMAS KENNEDY IN THE CHAIR

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS OF THE SENATE. Mr. President, I have the honor to present to you the Committee appointed to escort His Excellency, the Governor to the Hall of the House.

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. President, I have the honor to present His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth.

The PRESIDENT. Members of the General Assembly it is my privilege and pleasure at this time to present His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, George H. Earle.

ADDRESS OF THE GOVERNOR

GOVERNOR EARLE. Ladies and gentlemen of the General Assembly:

First of all, I want to thank all of you for your kind expressions of sympathy upon the recent death of my sister. I am deeply grateful to the individual Senators for their kindness, and to the full membership of the House for the resolution I have just received.

As I speak to you tonight we approach the end of a history-making Session of the Pennsylvania Legislature. In all likelihood this is my last appearance before your honorable body, unless some emergency arises in the future.

For the first time within the memory of living man, the liberal Democratic forces of our Commonwealth today have control of both Executive and Legislative branches of our State Government.

When we came into office in 1935 we were crippled by a reactionary Republican majority in the State Senate.

In our campaign platform of 1934 we had gone from one end of the State to the other, making specific pledges to the people. Our overwhelming victory was a direct and unmistakable mandate from the people to carry out the reforms we had promised.

That mandate was binding upon the Democratic Party. It was no less binding upon the Republican Party, because they too had made pledges paralleling our own. They also had promised liberal government and reform.

We all know what happened.

An army of lobbyists marched on Harrisburg. They reached Republican legislators. In more than one case those legislators were themselves lobbyists for certain vested interests. Those lobbyists, while in themselves only unscrupulous mercenaries, unworthy of consideration by any self-respecting legislator, represented wealth —and power. The Republican leadership in the General Assembly listened to them, and the people's mandate was forgotten. The program died.

These legislators forgot the people. But the people did not forget them. I am proud to say that we made sure the people would not forget them. We brought their voting records home to their constituents, and compared that record with their campaign promises.

When the people knew, and understood, the people acted—and those legislators were left at home, dishonorably dischargd from public service.

We entered upon this historic Session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly victorious, but sobered by the realization that we had been given a gigantic task. The people had instructed us—yes, commanded us—to destroy those evils which had become rooted in our Government through two generations of exploitation, indifference and neglect.

Your members in both Houses introduced measures which in the aggregate represented the greatest program of liberal reform ever to be placed before a Pennsylvania General Assembly.

When that program was presented, the people realized that we meant business. And when it began to move forward to enactment the special interests also woke up to the fact that we meant business.

Always, those interests had maintained well-paid lobbyists at Harrisburg. But they had depended more—far more—on their unofficial lobbyists in the Republican caucuses, and on the Republican high command.

This Session, for the first time in history, found them with few inside men. So they put an army of paid

"fixers" on their payrolls, gave them expense accounts, and sent them to Harrisburg.

You remember, at the beginning of this Session, how these professional fixers overran the lobbies of the Harrisburg hotels—but dared not show their faces on Capitol Hill.

Through the weeks of the Session the program moved forward steadily, without interruption. As those weeks wore on the lobbyist army saw its hope fade. In sheer desperation it began to move up the walk to the Capitol. Lobbyists who had not shown themselves outside of hotel rooms for months began to appear on the legislature floor.

Within the last few days, with measure after measure of the program passing through the legislative mill and into the statute books, these fixers have become panicky. They have thrown caution to the four winds. They have abandoned back from conferences. They have come out of their hotel parlors even to the very floor of the Legislature, fighting in sheer desperation to save their jobs and their fees.

In the past few days they have infested both Houses. Legislators have had to fight their way through them to get to their seats. These lobbyists have swarmed into both Houses like a plague of locusts. Even as I speak tonight, if you will look about you will see that they have overflowed the seats and the aisles, pushed and elbowed the general public out of the chamber and up into the galleries.

I want to tell you, ladies and gentlemen of the General Assembly, that they are paying you the greatest compliment you are ever likely to receive. Their very presence here is a testimonial to your singleness of purpose, your determination to fulfill your pledges to the people of your districts and the State. If they had been able to reach you otherwise, they would not be here tonight.

Let me say to all of you that I have not been unmindful of their activity. I know they have taken you to the mountain top, many of you, and have shown you visions. I know they have attempted to abuse your sense of fairness by warning of dire consequences to our people if the Administration program becomes law. I know they have pleaded, and cajoled, and threatened. I know they have tried to reach you through your friends, your associates, your neighbors, offering legal fees or other favors of many kinds. I know there are very few of you who could not better your station in life by listening to these fixers. You are substantial citizens, but you are not rich, and you have responsibilities that must be met. I know what temptations many of you have been subjected to, and I know there are many ways in which you could take advantage of those temptations legitimately, if not ethically, through fees for services or patronage for whatever private business you may have.

The record of this Session up to this moment is conclusive proof that you have had the courage, and the honesty, to place public interest above private advantage.

I am proud of you, ladies and gentlemen. I am proud to belong to a political party that has such representatives in positions of public trust. Under the most trying circumstances, under every kind of pressure known to the lobby gentry, you have kept your record clean.

You have abolished the sweatshop in Pennsylvania. You have curbed the pawnbrokers and the loan sharks. You have provided for flood control. You have established the machinery for restoration and reconstruction of our overcrowded State institutions. You have given the farmer the first permanent milk control law in the United States. You have provided for better housing. You have written legislation to end election frauds, to control public utilities, to protect the farmer and the worker. You have had the courage, and the honesty, to provide taxes sufficient to meet the needs of the Commonwealth in these difficult times. You have faced all problems squarely, enacting such legislation as any progressive and liberal State would be proud to have on its books.

You have done your work thoroughly and well. Not one major measure has gone through your hands without long and careful study. You approach the end of this Session with a record of achievement that is outstanding, and with fulfillment of the entire program imminent.

That is why, ladies and gentlemen, I have requested your permission to appear before you tonight. Because of their great importance to the Commonwealth, there are a number of major measures which have required prolonged study, and as a result these measures still await final action.

You have under consideration the liberalizing of workmen's compensation benefits, so that Pennsylvania may be lifted from 33d among the States to its proper position among those States which protect industrial victims. You have the full crew bill to protect the lives of the public and those men who operate our great transportation system. You have the labor relations bill, to guarantee the right of unionization and collective bargaining. You have the chain store tax bill, which provides funds for our miserably underpaid teachers in small school districts. In this conection may I say that I consider this tax of major importance because it protects the little fellow, and if our system of democracy is to continue we must have a great many small capitalists —not just a few big ones. You have the relief bills, to abolish the poor-house and rationalize our system of public assistance.

Pending, too, are the major utilities bill to provide the newly installed public utility commission with adequate law to force high priced utilities to lower their rates, the rural electrification bill by which cooperatives may be organized to serve four-fifths of the State so far denied service by existing utilities and complementary utility measures to solve railways and other difficulties.

You have the bills which provide a maximum 44 hours a week for the State by which employment may be spread and the health of our working people protected; the police merger; and a number of measures to relieve taxpayers on real estate by consolidation of antiquated government units; the bills to strengthen liquor law enforcement.

These and other bills of equal importance await your action in these closing days. And that is why the lobbyists are here tonight in full force, and will be here until the gavel falls on the 1937 Regular Session of the General Assembly.

I have no fear of a direct frontal attack by these mercenaries of privileged interests. I know you too well for that. I know you have been through the fire in this Session. I know you have met and withstood every form of pressure, political, financial, and social. In the battle of the people against the lobbyists, I know where you stand.

However, I consider it my duty to sound one warning. In these last days the lobbyists will move heaven and earth to defeat your program through trickery, deceit and fraud. They will stop at nothing. Every possible attempt will be made to delay important bills, so that they will be lost in the last-minute rush. Every conceivable method will be used to insert crippling and destructive amendments. Beware of delays—they are fatal. Beware of amendments, innocent as they may seem, until you have absolutely assured yourself that they are good amendments.

In this one week the white light of public attention is focused upon you. Now, more than ever before in history, the liberal Democratic forces in Pennsylvania face their greatest and most glorious opportunity. Up to now our steps have not faltered, our vision has not dimmed. Our strength is the strength of our ideals. Let us uphold them in this crucial hour. Let us keep faith with the people by keeping faith with ourselves, our principles, our platform. Through the long years the leaders of Democracy have dreamed of this great fulfillment. Now our time has come. Through these weeks and months we have prepared the way for our final advance.

You all know where I stand. In the next few days you will show where you stand. I am confident the people can depend upon you.

The PRESIDENT. Speaking for the General Assembly I extend to the Governor its thanks and appreciation for the remarkable address delivered to us this evening. I think I can say to the Governor, you having done your job, the General Assembly will complete its job and adopt the entire liberal program before we leave this week. Thank you.

The business for which the Joint Session of the General Assembly was convened having been transacted the Joint Session is adjourned, and the Senators will please assemble immediately in the Senate Chamber.

The SPEAKER, (Roy E. Furman), in the Chair.

SPECIAL ORDER ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE (HOUSE BILL No. 1690)

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business on third reading and final passage fixed for this hour, House Bill No. 1690, Printer's No. 1067, on page 1 of today's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1690, entitled:

An Act regulating the mining of bituminous coal prescribing duties for county commissioners and imposing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I request every member of this House to take the bill as it has been amended and place it before him upon his desk and follow the brief remarks that I shall make in opposition to it. I desire to call attention to the fact that the calendar does not give any notice or information to this House that the bill has been amended and now relates only to bituminous mines. I want to tell you what the real intent of the act is. It is an act "regulating the mining of bituminous coal prescribing duties for county commissioners and imposing penalties."

In order that this measure may be intelligently discussed at this time it becomes necessary to read the provisions that come in after the enacting clause. I call your attention to these words: "That it shall be unlawful for any owner operator director or general manager superintendent or other person in charge of or having supervision over any bituminous coal mine or mining operation so to mine bituminous coal or so to conduct the operation of mining bituminous coal as to cause the caving in collapse or subsidence of", and then following this five different kinds of property are mentioned. I will not go into detail to tell you what these properties are but you can see it cover almost everything. They do not make any regulation nor do they call attention to the fact that this may or may not infringe upon constitutional rights. They say, "any public building or any structure customarily used by the public as a place of resort assemblage or amusement including but not being limited to churches schools hospitals theatres hotels and railroad stations."

"Any street road bridge or other public passageway dedicated to public use or habitually used by the public."

"Any track roadbed right of way pipe conduit wire or other facility used in the service of the public by any municipal corporation or public service company as defined by the Public Service Company Law."

"Any dwelling or other structure used as a human habitation or any factory store or other industrial or mercantile establishment in which human labor is employed.

"Any cemetery or public burial ground."

I call your attention to the fact that there is no saving clause, that it does not include such words as negligent and wilfull in violation of the instructions of the State mine inspectors.

This act carries with it punishment and any person who is convicted may be sentenced to not more than one year imprisonment and a fine of not over five thousand dollars, either one or both.

Now then, I desire to find out if possible why this act was amended, and I ask permission, Mr. Speaker, to interrogate the sponsors of this bill, either of the gentlemen from Allegheny County, who have put their names on the bill, Mr. McArdle or Mr. Piole. I would like to ask either of those gentlemen a few questions.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McArdle, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McARDLE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Allegheny why the amendment was made limiting the provisions of this bill to bituminous coal.

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question of the gentleman from Jefferson, I will say the bill was amended in my absence and I cannot answer that question.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for so informing me. I desire to ask the gentleman does he feel that this bill should be directed at the bituminous mining industry and that the anthracite industry should be exempt from the provisions thereof?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Jefferson, I will state that I represent the bituminous region and am interested only in the bituminous region and the mining problems that are confronting that region at the present time.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, in this bill it says: "This act is intended as remedial legislation designed to cure existing evils and abuses and each and every provision thereof is intended to receive a liberal construction." Am I to understand that there are existing evils and abuses which should be corrected?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Jefferson kindly repeat the question?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I say that this act provides in Section 9 that it "is intended as remedial legislation designed to cure existing evils and abuses and each and every provisions thereof is intended to receive a liveral construction." Do I understand that there are existing evils and abuses that should be corrected, which the gentleman could mention?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, this bill is intended to cure conditions existing in the bituminous coal region, where property is being jeopardized and the public is being jeopardized.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, in order to expedite these questions, and I might state that I have prepared forty questions, but I am not going to intrude upon the time of this House to submit them, but I do wish the sponsor of this bill to tell me where these evils and abuses exist, in what county?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, Allegheny and Fayette Counties and various other soft-coal regions in the Commonwealth.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, do the sponsors of this bill have any personal information that any of these evils or abuses exist in the following counties: Armstrong, Cambria, Clarion, Clearfield, Elk, Indiana, Jefferson, Huntingdon, Somerset or Tioga.

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, if they have bituminous coal, there is danger of it existing, I should say, in the other counties. In further answer to the question of the gentleman from Jefferson, I might say that I have been informed that you cannot legislate for specific counties, and in this bills, therefore, we had to take in the whole bituminous district.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman believe that it is proper and right for Allegheny and Fayette counties to come in here and force every other county which mines bituminous coal to accept the provisions of this bill in order to cure the evils and abuses existing in Fayette and Allegheny counties?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question of the gentleman from Jefferson, if the evil does not exist in any of the counties he named, there is not any penalty inflicted on any of the counties. This bill does not inflict any penalty on the county, it inflicts the penalty on the operator.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the sponsor of this bill if Section 2 of this bill does not require the following: "Every owner operator lessor lessee or general contractor engaged in the mining of bituminous coal within this Commonwealth shall make or cause to be made a true and accurate map or plan of the workings or excavation of such bituminous coal mine or colliery which shall be drawn to a scale of such size as to show conveniently and legibly all markings and numbers required to be placed thereon by the terms of this act Such maps or plans shall also show in detail and in markings of a distinctive color all contemplated workings which are intended to be undertaken or developed within the succeeding six months Such maps or plans shall be filed as often as once in six months with the county commissioners of the proper county Such maps or plans shall be considered public records and shall be open to the inspection of the public and copies or tracings may be made therefrom No mining shall be done which is not shown on the map or filed at least ten days previously." I desire to ask the gentlemen who sponsored this bill are not all the operators in all the counties that I have mentioned, whether any such evils or abuses exist or not, required to make these maps and file them with the county commissioners, as required by Section 2?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is correct.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that Section 3 of the act provides as follows: "Every owner operator lessor lessee or general contractor engaged in the mining of bituminous coal or any president director general manager superintendent or other person in charge of or having supervision over any bituminous coal mine or mining operation in this Commonwealth shall be and is hereby required (a) To designate within a period of six months from the passage of this act and to keep designated by number each and every pillar of coal beneath the surface still remaining in place at the time this act goes into effect and all pillars thereafter created the number of each pillar to place in a conspicuous position with white paint or some other equally durable and visible substance and (b) to designate or cause to be designated by numerals of convenient and legible size upon all maps or plans mentioned in section two of this act with the space on each map or plan designating any pillar of coal the number of such pillar."

I ask the gentleman does not Section 3 compel every owner to do these things in all of the counties I have mentioned, irrespective of whether or not evils and abuses exist in those counties?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, every bituminous operator, that it correct.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that Section 4 provides that: "The county commissioners and such engineers and other agents as they may employ shall at all reasonable times be given access to any portion of any bituminous coal mines or mining operations which it may be necessary or proper to inspect for the purpose of determining whether the provisions of this act are being complied with and all reasonable facilities shall be extended by the owner or operator of such mine or mining operation for ingress egress and inspection." Why is it necessary to file these maps and endeavor to mark all the pillars and so on, if it is not necessary to punish somebody or take action against somebody?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question of the gentleman from Jefferson, I will say that this act is intended to protect the surface rights, and it plainly says so in the act. It is an act that does not create any hardship on any operator who is satisfied to operate his mine in the interest of safety and protect the surface rights of the people who have property in the county or municipality.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the sponsor of this bill whether the act is constitutional or not.

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, not being a lawyer, I cannot answer that question. Further I do not think it is within the province of the Legislature to decide whether or not it is constitutional.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO LAY BILL ON TABLE

Mr. ELPERN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be laid on the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, I ask the members to vote "no" on this motion.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McARDLE and Mr. PIOLE and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the sponsors of this bill whether they have communicated in any manner with any of the commissioners of the several bituminous counties of this State with reference to the cost of carrying out the provisions of this bill which would have to be borne by the county.

Mr. McARDLE. No sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether he has made any investigation to find out how much room it would take in the county commissioner's office in any of these bituminous counties to file these maps and how much extra labor it would take to keep track of them.

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, I have always found plenty of room in any of the court houses which I have ever visited in my travels throughout the State and I do not think that any extra room would be required under this bill.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman not know that some of the large coal companies require rooms as large as thirty or forty feet with ceilings from eight to ten feet high to take care of their maps, which extend perhaps over a third of the county?

Mr. McARDLE. That may be true, Mr. Speaker. In answer to the question of the gentleman from Jefferson, I might state that this bill is intended to protect the surface rights of the home owners and the taxpayers who pay for the building of the road. It is a whole lot cheaper to store records than it is to build roads and homes.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman to turn to Section 5, in which it says that: "The county commissioners shall have the power to prevent the mining of bituminous coal beneath the surface in any mine or mining operation in which the pillars of coal shall not have been numbered and the numbers thereof designated by maps or tracings as provided by this act and where mining operations are being conducted in violation of this act they shall have the power to prevent any miner or laborer other than those necessary for the protection of life and property from entering the mine or mining operation until such time as the provisions of this act have been complied with."

Now, I ask the sponsor of this bill who is to determine whether the act shall have been violated?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, the courts under Section 8 of this bill.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, it says, "The Courts of Common Pleas shall have power to award injuctions to restrain violations of this act," but who has the power to determine if it has been violated or not?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, that will arise in the injunction proceedings.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, isn't that provided for in Section 4 which says that "The County commissioners and such engineers and other agents as they may employ shall at all reasonable times be given access to any portion of any bituminous coal mines." Doesn't that put the duty squarely on to the county commissioners and such engineers as they may employe?

Mr. McARDLE. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker; that is the purpose of the bill. We want to protect the surface rights of the people who build the roads and homes.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, why does not the act say that they must do so? Why does it leave it to the discretion of the county commissioners?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, I feel that that right and duty should be vested in the county commissioners, who constitute the administrative offices of the counties of the Commonwealth.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, how can we ask the county commissioners in these bituminous counties to assume a responsibility under this act without having consulted with any one of them as to the advisability of thereof?

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, I did not say that. I said that I did not consult with all of them. I did consult with our county commissioners and they are very much in favor of the bill.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Frank P. Hamilton, Decker, Whalen, Flannery, Flanagan, Bierly, Ruffennach, Bradley, Yourishin, Hontz, Spengler, Dickinson, Fitch, Wagner, Gorski, McCullough, Dubbs, Lewis, Shugarts, Pearson and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Jefferson will state his question of parlimentary inquiry.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the question whether the previous question does not mean that the bill shall pass finally, and following that a roll call without any further remarks to be made upon the question of the final passage of this bill?

The SPEAKER. If the House votes in favor of the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, it shuts off all debate upon the bill, and an immediate roll call will be taken.

On the question recurring,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

STATEMENT BY MR. TROUT

Mr. TROUT asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House I wish to present at this time, the Third Preliminary Report of the Tax Study Commission, authorized by joint resolution of the Senate and the House.

It may be recalled that in the preamble of the resolution under which this commission was appointed, it was stated that there was uncertainty in the minds of the Legislature as to the accuracy of arguments against certain of our State taxes, which arguments were to the effect that those taxes were driving many industries out of Pennsylvania.

The first preliminary report of this committee was made to the Senate on April 19, 1937 by Senator Dent, Chairman. It dealt with the bituminous coal industry in Pennsylvania and is now a part of the legislative journal.

The second preliminary report was likewise made to the Senate on May 17, 1937 by Senator Dent, Chairman, and death with the anthracite coal industry of this State. That report also is a part of the legislative journal.

This third preliminary report of the committee will deal with certain branches of the manufacturing industry in certain sections of our State. In presenting to the Legislature the importance and the significance of facts here submitted, the committee wishes to emphasize that it has been functioning but a very short time. What we set forth in this report, therefore, is little more than a scattered scratching of the surface of this very serious situation. We do desire, however, to give to the Legislature some convincing evidence that its committee is industriously pursuing its task. And even at this early date we are in a position to say that the migration of industries from Pennsylvania has reached a point where all thoughtful citizens, and especially those entrusted with the making of our laws, well may pause to give serious consideration to the causes of these removals and the painful consequences of this continued exodus of production, employment and payrolls from our State.

As a part of this present statement, we give the names, former addresses, number of workers that were employed and the approximate payrolls of twenty-four concerns in a single branch of manufacture that have moved out of Pennsylvania from a single city in this Commonwealth within the last two years. We concede that this list is not complete even for this single branch of enterprise in only one city, for the period of only two years, but we do contend that it is deeply signficant of a tragic trend which we of Pennsylvania cannot longer ignore or accept without some drastic efforts to remove the causes and stop these losses which are draining employment and purchasing power away from our State.

The twenty-four plants which we are listing in this report furnished regular employment to about 6,720 workers, at an annual payroll of $9,828,000. That is yearly amount of actual wages that has been lost by labor in that one city, through the removal of those concerns to other states. It is the sum, therefore, that has been taken from the purchasing power of that community and this State, and which consequently has been lost to a great variety of other entreprises, because those businesses found it to their advantage to leave this Commonwealth and locate elsewhere.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I will not take up your time to read a list of the industries that we have recorded here, but a copy of this report will be placed on each desk and you will have an opportunity of reading those when you so desire.

All that has been set forth here cannot be regarded as more than a cursory glance at the Pennsylvania situation; yet these specific migrations, liquidations, transfers and closings account for a total annual payroll, lost or displaced, amounting to more than $16,000,000 a year.

As an illustration of the manner in which Pennsylvania taxes upon business are now operating. in comparison with nearby industrial states, we submit the following letter of the Armstrong Cork Company, Lancaster, Pa., in response to an inquiry by a member of this committee.

The essence of the whole problem is in that line of figures which is captioned "Taxes per $1,000 of Investments."

The letter sets forth the facts of the financial set-ups of the company's plants in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts. In New Jersey the total of its state taxes amounts to 71 cents per one thousand dollars of investments. In Massachusetts it is $3.48; in New York it is $5.95. But in Pennsylvania it amounts to $18.12. In other words, on the investments based, that company's taxes in Pennsylvania are three times the rate prevailing in New York; five times the rate in Massachusetts; and twenty-five and one half times the rate in New Jersey. The figures are all for the year 1936.

We also present here a statement prepared by the Comptroller of The Raybestos-Manhattan, Inc., of Passaic, N. J., showing the Pennsylvania State taxes upon the U. S. Asbestos Division, located at Manheim, Pa., for the years 1932 to 1936, inclusive.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the two cases already cited give added significance to the startling disparity between the Pennsylvania State taxes upon the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia, for 1936 as compared with the total of State taxes which that company, with the same financial set-up would have paid for the same year in either of three adjoining states, New Jersey, Delaware or Ohio.

Disregarding the Social Security taxes, which would be the same in any state, the Curtis Publishing Company prepared for this committee an estimate of its 1936 tax bill to the State, which shows that the total taxes paid to the State of Pennsylvania was $716,000. But as between the time that estimate was prepared and its being forwarded to the committee, the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue made an audit which indicates that those figures will have increased by $35,000, so that the total for 1936 will be $751,000.

That figure is almost precisely one hundred times the total state taxes that would have been imposed upon the Curtis Publishing Company by New Jersey, to which State the company now is making ready to move.

In Delaware the total would have been slightly less than New Jersey, or a trifle more, depending upon whether or not the concern would be subject to the Manufacturers License Tax of that state. Then follows an estimate of the taxes in the State of Delaware.

Another concern that has been driven to serious preparations for leaving this State, and which is in a position to do so without any great difficulty, is the Dixie-Vortex Company, of Easton manufacturers of sanitary drinking cups.

This company was prevailed upon to move into Pennsylvania from New York about fifteen years ago, because of conditions more favorable to industry in this State. It put up a plant which, added to from time to time, has cost about $1,000,000. It started with two hundred employes, and now averages seven hundred fifty the year around, with an annual payroll of approximately $1,000,000. And the important thing about this concern, from a community viewpoint, is that it generates between ten percent and twenty percent of the entire purchasing power created in the Easton industrial area. Also, it was the the only concern in that section which was able to maintain virtually full-time employment throughout the entire period of depression. I have further figures given to us by the President of the concern.

We want to say in conclusion, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that we have felt that these specific cases, produced within the short period that your committee has been at work, should be presented to the Legislature at once, although they cannot be considered to comprise anything like a complete report. I ask that this report be placed in the Legislative Journal.

The SPEAKER. The Third Preliminary Report of the Tax Study Commission will be noted in the Journals and printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will state his question of information.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, is the next order of business the first reading of bills on the calendar?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker. I will not make my motion for a special order of business on certain bills appearing on the second reading and third reading calendars until after the House finishes the first reading calendar.

STATEMENT BY MR. BAINE

Mr. BAINE asked and received unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I listened with a great deal of interest to the report submitted by the Tax Study Commission appointed by the House and Senate to investigate and ascertain reasons for the migration of Pennsylvania industries to other states. I just want to point out at this time that perhaps it might be a good idea for the Tax Commission and the committee investigating this matter to write to Mr. Irvin, President of the United States Steel Corporation, and Mr. Fairles, President of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, who are contemplating at the present time building a new fifteen million dollar mill on the outskirts of Pittsburgh. I might ask the members of the House if industry is driven out of the State of Pennsylvania by excessive taxation why such a big firm as the United States Steel Corporation would contemplate building a mill of such magnitude in Pennsylvania.

STATEMENT BY MR. HARKINS

Mr. HARKINS asked and received unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I merely would like to correct the figure of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Baine, inasmuch as this new mill which is contemplated being built and for which ground has been broken, is in the legislative district represented by my colleague Mr. Boies and myself. The figure given by Mr. Baine was fifteen million dollars, but in the newspaper reports the estimated value ranges from fifty million to sixty million dollars. I would like to have the record carry a closer and more accurate estimate of the value of that mill. I feel that the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Baine, were very timely with the regard to the so-called flight of industry from Pennsylvania.

BILL AND MESSAGE TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. LaRUE. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 158, Printer's No. 770, together with the message from the Senate which were laid upon the table be taken from the table.

The motion was agreed to.

The message was read by the Clerk as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1839 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. MARINO. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1839, Printer's No. 717, entitled:

An Act to define the power of the Supreme and Superior Courts in declaring laws enacted by the General Assembly to be unconstitutional on page 45 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed be made a special order of business at 11:15 p. m. today.

The motion was agreed to.

SPECIAL ORDER ON FINAL PASSAGE (HOUSE BILL No. 1839)

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order on final passage fixed for this time, House Bill No. 1839, Printer's No. 717, on page 45 of today's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. MARINO.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1839, entitled:

An Act to define the power of the Supreme and Superior Courts in declaring laws enacted by the General Assembly to be unconstitutional

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. this is a bill which was defeated in this House and which provided that constitutional questions must be decided by a six to one vote in the Supreme Court before that court can declare them unconstitutional. I think every member of this House will recall the very eloquent statement and the very logical statement of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, upon this measure when it was before the House before, and I therefore do not believe that it is necessary for me to enter into any extended argument on the merits of the bill.

I think, however, I might summarize it to some extent by repeating that I think the bill is unconstitutional as invading the prerogative and the field of the legislative branch of government. I think in the second place that it is absolutely wrong because on questions involving constitutionality we might just as well provide that those questions shall be decided by a full court of seven as to provide that they shall be decided by a vote of six to one. After all we ought to understand something about the background and history of our Constitution in this country. We must understand that the Constitution is a written set of rules for the government of our people, and that our Constitution delegates to the State only such authority that the people care to give them under the Constitution. It is the great genius of our American system of government, not only in our State, but in the United States as a whole, that provided a separate judicial department quite different from the government which was known to our forefathers in Europe, in which the judiciary did not have its separate and distinct function as it does in this country. Such powers as are given are delegated by the people to the government, but they are limited, and the State government can have only those powers and can only extend them as far as the written rules governing our State policies and our political scheme permits. In such a situation we decide that question as we decide questions here in the House. We decide the questions here in the House by a constitutional majority, which is a majority of the members elected to this body. Therefore, it would seem to me there is no more reason why we should provide that in the Supreme Court constitutional questions should be decided by a six to one vote than we might decide that here in the House the passage of bills must be by a two-thirds vote or by one hundred and eighty votes or something of that kind. We decide our questions here, our constitutional questions, by a constitutional majority, which is a majority of the members elected to this House.

I think, however, there is an additional significance in the bill and that is in the fact that there was a motion that we reconsider the vote by which it passed second reading. There has been abroad in the land in the last few months too much of the spirit of interference with our courts. There has been abroad in the land too much misunderstanding of the functions of our courts. There has been abroad in the land a spirit to tear down the old institutions that have been the bulwark of the liberty of our people.

Those people who call themselves liberal and who pretend to arise in defense of the rights of the ordinary man, those same persons should be the first to defend the cause of the courts because the Supreme Court of the United States has been the last line of defense of the liberties of the people. Many of our people anxious for reforms or such things as they believe to be reforms, seem to be of the opinion that they should tear aside the institution that they believe stands in their way. But I say to you it is far more important to the people of Pennsylvania and to the people of the United States to protect the liberty of our people than it is to have any of the other questions that you believe will be for the benefit of them as a whole decided in their favor. Legislation should come after consideration and debate on all sides, and in that way I believe in the end we generally arrive at the best conclusions. Perhaps we are sometimes laggard in our realization of that which is for the best interest of the people, and we get rid of many bad pieces of legislation and we do away with legislation that in the end would be to the detriment of the people and not to the benefit of the people. So, the other day I was amazed that immediately after the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania had made a decision to the ripping out of a certain board in the City of Philadelphia, there was immediately a movement and a motion made by one of the members of the House from the floor of the House that the vote by which this bill was defeated be reconsidered, and I have been wondering, as undoubtedly some of the other members of the House have been wondering, whether there was a significant coincidence in the fact that immediately after the Pennsylvania Supreme Court made its decision that a motion was made on the floor of this House that the vote be reconsidered. Is this a threat? Is this a hold-up over the heads of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to secure the passage of legislation, and is this a threat on the part of members of this House that if the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania does not do its bidding that we will write into the legislative statutes of Pennsylvania some legislation that shall curtail its activities, that will curtail its functions? If that be true then it behooves every member of the House to stand firm tonight and vote down this bill. It behooves everyone to think hard and to think logically and sensibly at this time upon a measure that will undoubtedly have a great affect upon the future of the people of Pennsylvania, and I trust that under these circumstances this House will do, as it has done in the past, vote "no" upon this bill.

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just want to make a short statement to the effect that the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor has endorsed this bill, and I ask the friends of labor to vote "aye" on this measure.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his question of information.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the motion of the gentleman from York carries with it that these bills shall be a special order of business first on the second reading calendar, then without completing the second reading calendar, that there shall be a special order of business on the third reading calendar?

The SPEAKER. In answer to the question of the gentleman from Delawar, the second reading bills will be considered first, then bills on final passage recalled from the Governor, bills on final passage, and last third reading bills.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the motion of the gentleman from York he did not state any time for the third reading bills or for the appropriation bills.

The SPEAKER. He made them a special order of business in their order on their respective calendars on the adoption of the motion.

Mr. TURNER. In other words, Mr. Speaker, when we have passed all of the second reading bills then we immediately go on special order on third reading.

The SPEAKER. On final passage recalled from the Governor, final passage bills and third reading bills.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.
